ENGLAND TORN BY STRUGGLE TO HALT DECLINE

Pushes Trade War to Dominate Europe.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 4.—England today is in the throes of momentous political change. The cross currents of interest and policy are so numerous and so complicated that it is becoming more and more difficult for those responsible for the country's destinies, now being rapidly shaped, to stagger through the shambles.

Opinions vary as to whether England is at the beginning or already in the middle of a historical process which will end in the extinction of this country's privileged position due to the fact that it is an island. There are many who believe that England's plight already is critical, due to the economic erosion of the past thirty years. These believe the island may become part of Europe like Sweden with a population of around 12 millions supporting itself on its own soil.

Other Views Told.

There are others who believe that the island may yet emerge as the leader of a group of states which will be able to restore a balance of power between the separate and independent states of Europe and rehabilitate tottering British finances and the British trading and loan system.

Looking at it from another perspective, keen observers in Europe's diplomatic chancelleries consider that the essential fact in the present political chaos of Europe is the struggle between the German purpose to amalgamate continental Europe—not necessarily to rule it politically, but to condition it so as to get a lion's share of economic privilege there—and the British purpose which is the opposite.

The British purpose is to keep Europe unamalgamated and therefore better conditioned for trade exploitation along the lines of the British system.

Trade War Is On.

In either event, what is going on here in Europe in the present historical phase is a trade war. Ultimately it is a struggle as to who shall dominate Europe. Both the British and the Germans have in the last few months announced that they must export more or die. The probable theater of collision is export markets.

No one yet ventures to predict the outcome. But an unbiased survey of all the economic and political factors lead many to believe that the scales are heavier on the side of Germany for the moment.

The Germans have pulled out of the slough of the world war. British economics are admittedly in decline and balance of payments of this country last year showed a £55,000,000 [about $275,000,000] deficit as against the £100,000,000 [about $500,000,000] credit shown before the world war.

Both Called Gangsters.

This leads some, then, to describe the phenomena of present day change in Europe not as an affair of German aggression, but rather as an effort of a privileged firm trying to restore the ravages which a new but powerful competitor has made in his business. Or, as it was put somewhat differently in a periodical here recently, the English gangster is trying to keep the German gangster from muscling in on his racket.

This view is tenable only on a strictly neutral basis and looking on the spectacle here from a distance and as a pure historical process. It, of course, enrages those who accept the usual popular interpretation put out by the propaganda of the so-called democracies of Europe.

In any case, it reverses the generally held belief and raises the question as to whether it is from the aggressiveness of the axis powers to get some more swag or from the so-called democracies, gorged with spoils of the last war, and determined to keep them, that war—a preventive war it would be—might come.

Dean Inge's View.

This view is not held alone by Premier Mussolini of Italy. Dean W R. Inge, writing in the last number of the Church of England Newspaper, says:

"The danger of war comes not from Germany or Italy, but from ourselves. Our reds are furious because the world revolution has been stopped by the bourgeoisie, who have burrowed and improved on the tech-

BRITAIN, FRANCE FORGE NEW WAR, HITLER CHARGES

Warns He Will Fight Encirclement.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KASSEL, Germany, June 4.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today openly attacked England and France. He charged them with having the same aims as were directed against Germany in the world war. He spoke at a rally of 300,000 world war veterans. Delegates from Italy, Japan and Spain were among the guests of honor.

The meeting was opened and closed by the leader of the Kyffhaeuser bund, an association of war veterans and members of Germany's new army.

"May the Fuehrer succeed, together with his ally Italy, in changing the axis which unites the two countries into the axis of the world," the leader said, amid cheers.

Attacks Imperial Rule.

Hitler, a corporal in the war, greeted the veterans as their leader and wartime comrades. With pride, he declared: "I wiped away the old lie of Germany's war guilt." He spoke with contempt of the government of pre-war Germany and its failure to train all its man power and to arm more extensively than other nations.

He alleged that imperial Germany had no war objectives and had failed to outline precise aims until the end of the conflict. This statement conflicts with those made by persons such as Gen. Erich Ludendorff, who have defined the German high command's aims which it compelled Kaiser Wilhelm II. to support frequently against his own wishes.

Hitler alleged that the Versailles treaty revealed that the real aims of "British and French encirclement politicians" of pre-war days were: to obtain German colonies; destroy German trade; destroy all foundations of German life, and suppress German political prestige and power.

Same Aims, He Declares.

"In other words, they are the same objectives for which British and French politicians are striving today," he said.

Hitler accused the German imperial government of "criminal neglect of German armaments which made it easy for the other powers to propagate the idea of the destruction of Germany and in the end to enforce it."

The Fuehrer paid tribute to the old German army, "which was frequently outnumbered by the others, but was never equaled in its value."

"I cannot tolerate for a second that anybody in the ranks of our western opponents should deem himself better than a German," he said. "Therefore, I do not suffer from inferiority complexes."

Points to German Defenses.

After declaring his government is "not as criminally neglectful of the country's interest as the pre-war government was," Hitler said:

"If the British policy of encirclement has remained the same as that before the war, German defenses have changed. Germany has changed through the fact that no longer a civilian disguised as a major is in charge of the government, but a soldier who may some time wear civilian garb. We have no Bethmann-Hollwegs in our government now.

[Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg was chancellor of Germany from 1909 to 1917.]

"I have seen to it that everybody who has to do with the government is 100 per cent man and soldier. If I notice that the attitude of any person cannot withstand a critical survey I shall remove this man from his post, whoever he may be."

Refers to Firing of Officers.

The statement was interpreted as a reference to the dismissal of army officers who voiced disapproval of risks taken in Spain, Austria and Czecho-Slovakia as well as warning to those who now are voicing misgivings. The veterans, many of whom sided openly with the more conservative leaders among the officers two years ago, are the loudest supporters of Hitler today.

Addressing old generals and high officers with the same fierceness that he addresses Nazi leaders, Hitler said: "I expect my policy to be supported with Nazi zeal by the old soldiers. It must not be our aim merely to masquerade civilians as soldiers for a year or two, but to teach the whole nation to adopt a military attitude."

SKETCHES OF THE NEWS

Buggy a Dime, Organ a Dollar at Squire's Sale

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Durand, Ill., June 4.—[Special.]—Squire Albert Whitfield Baker spent the last forty years of his life buying a hodge podge of articles ranging from parlor organs to red plush barber chairs and old muskets. He stored them in his fifty-three room house where he lived alone.

Squire Baker, a bachelor, died several weeks ago and yesterday his possessions were sold at auction for $1,500.

More than a thousand persons from the countryside attended the sale, some of them to buy, but more of them to see the old rambling structure into which few visitors were admitted during the nearly half century the squire lived there. It was built 90 years ago as a hotel and when nobody else wanted it the squire bought it.

Barber Chair Brings Dollar.

Typical of the old articles found stored in the building was a parlor organ. It brought a dollar at the auction. Several buggies sold for a dime apiece.

A once resplendent red plush barber chair with fancy mirror sold for a dollar, while a high backed bed brought five cents. A bedroom suite of another era, bed dresser and commode commanded a price of $1.50, and three Jenny Lind spindle beds sold for $7 and $8 each.

One of the highest bids of the sale was $10 for six goblets more than 100 years old, but the best offer the auctioneer could get for seven books ranging in age from 75 to 100 years old, was 10 cents for the lot. A Chicagoan was the buyer.

A Beloit, Wis., banker paid $6 for an ox yoke. A collector was glad to pick up two old cap and ball muskets for $5.50.

Antique Plates and Tureen.

Five old plates, a soup tureen and some butter dishes with strawberry decorations were sold in a lot for $7.50 and an eager collector of old china immediately bought the tureen from the original purchaser for $1.50.

Squire Baker's hand and garden tools were bought by neighbors. They paid from ten cents to a dollar for each item. They likewise bought several old army overcoats and some army blankets for from 35 cents to $1.

Other items included in the sale and typical of Squire Baker's penchant for acquiring strange and useless articles included unused butter cartons, candy wrappers, a quantity of curtain rings, fifty billiard balls, four billiard tables, a couple of bowling alleys, twenty-one double blankets, thirty-two new suits of men's clothes, and four new hats.

Buys Blankets in Summer.

Tom Bucher, who has operated a general store in Durand for 26 years recalled yesterday how the squire acquired the twenty-one blankets. Bucher said he was preparing to store the blankets for the summer some years ago when Squire Baker dropped into his place. They discussed the blanket storage for a time and finally Squire Baker said he guessed he would take them along because they might come in handy some time.

Bucher said Baker bought the four hats from him years ago with the explanation that he might use them some time and that he gave the same reason when he bought the 32 suits from a Beloit dealer.

The building in which Squire Baker lived will be torn down and the usable lumber will be sold, proceeds like those from the auction going to his two sisters, Mrs. Omer Andrews and Mrs. Iantha Weaver, both of Durand. The squire also owned a 600 acre farm, operated by tenants, from which he enjoyed a good income for many years.

22 KILLED, 12 INJURED; FIRE SWEEPS MOVIE THEATER IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 4.—(AP)—The fire department at Zacatepec, Morelos state, reported today that twenty-two persons were killed in a theater fire there last night. Twelve seriously injured persons were brought to hospitals here.

Mexico City agencies sent doctors, nurses, ambulances, and other aid to the little village ninety miles south of here. The town is not far from Cuernavaca, where many wealthy Mexicans have their homes.

José Guadalupe Gomez, at the hospital here, said the theater was filled with gleeful children thrilled at a Mexican "western" film, when "suddenly a white light appeared on the screen. A great flame shot from the projection room and immediately the wooden building was afire."

"Children, women, and men fell in a screaming mass as the crowd fled panic stricken and the aisles were blocked," he said, in describing the scene. "Some shouted 'Try the other doors!' but all the other exits were blocked, too."

Friend's Alibi in Spinster's Slaying Jolted

Mystifying elements developed at midnight in the radio cord murder of Miss Rose Neary.

Soon after Miss Neary was found strangled and bludgeoned to death last Friday in her apartment at 3248 Franklin boulevard, police arrested Edward Donovan, 38 years old, of 4522 North Wolcott avenue. Donovan is a married man whom she called her sweetheart. He admitted that she had lent him $2,000—$500 of it last Monday.

Donovan, a street car conductor, established that he worked from 2:30 to 5:55 p. m. the day of the murder, returning to work at 6:26 and continuing until 11 p. m. This left the thirty-one minutes from 5:55 to 6:26 unaccounted for. It was about this time that police believe the murder was committed.

Alibi Is Established.

Donovan said he spent the time in question at dinner with his motorman, Roy Woods, of 6447 Sinclair avenue, Berwyn. Woods could not be found to confirm this, as he had a day off and had left town. But Marie Taylor, a checker in a restaurant adjoining the Senate theater at Madison street and Kedzie avenue, told police she saw the men eating together.

Last night Woods learned he was wanted for questioning and went to the Austin station. Sergt. Patrick Tuohy said Woods told him that he had not eaten with Donovan on Friday. Tuohy said Woods told him he took some sandwiches to the car barn that evening and ate them there.

Open Safety Box Today.

Tuohy made no comment on the significance of this statement. Whether or not police thought it shattered Donovan's alibi could not be learned.

Tuohy said he intends to open Miss Neary's safety deposit box in the Harris Trust and Savings bank today. She kept it in the name of Rose Donovan. He is particularly interested in learning the beneficiary of her insurance.

After Woods departed Tuohy conferred briefly with Lieut. William Bergen. The sergeant then talked a few minutes with Donovan and left for the night.

Miss Neary was a moderately wealthy spinster 50 years old. She lived alone with her two dogs. Friends said she never suspected that Donovan was married. Police planned to question all her woman friends. They were aided in their investigation by Mrs. Leola Monahan of 57 North Waller avenue, who was bequeathed $500 in Miss Neary's will.

Reveals How 7 Heroes Tried to Rescue Thetis

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 4.—The heroes of the Thetis submarine disaster were revealed today to have been seven men who volunteered to let their bodies serve as buoys to guide rescuers to the sunken British submarine. Three of the seven died in the attempt, four came through alive.

The story was told to THE TRIBUNE correspondent by F. F. Shaw, one of the survivors, who said the greatest praise should go to Capt. H. P. K. Oram, another survivor.

Capt. Oram, he said, was first to volunteer to try to get through the escape chamber, though the submarine was titled at such an angle it was believed a man would be drowned before he could get clear of the hull.

First Man Gets Through.

There was a chance, however, that he might get the outer hatch open before he drowned, in which case his body, floating to the surface with the exact position of the Thetis in watertight containers strapped to his wrist, would guide rescue ships.

Oram, commander of the Fifth submarine flotilla, insisted on going first. He got through. The next three men who tried were drowned before they could get the outside hatch raised and were pulled back into the submarine. Then Shaw, a civilian technician, went through successfully, and was followed by Lieut. F. C. Wood and W. C. Arnold.

All had strapped on them the containers giving directions to rescuers.

Shaw, belittling his own heroic part in the drama, gave the first eye witness story of the grim scene aboard the Thetis when she sank off the Welsh coast with 103 men aboard.

Sudden Warning Bell.

"The first we knew that anything was wrong was the sudden warning bell," Shaw said. "Then the Thetis gave a terrible shudder and all the men were thrown down and tumbled into a struggling heap at the forward end of the section.

"We lay jumbled together like that, unable to stand up, for hours, it seemed. All the time the air was getting worse. Then Commander Bolus, commander of the ship, decided that if some one could leave through the escape chamber he could carry a message that would be found even if he were drowned. He explained the chances of getting through alive were slight because of the position of the boat and called for volunteers.

"Capt. Oram was first to call out, 'I'll go.'

"Commander Bolus said six more men were necessary. I decided I might as well risk it.

Trouble With Escape Lung.

"Watertight containers holding messages giving the position of the Thetis were strapped on the wrists of each of us. Captain Oram insisted on going first. He got through all right. But the next three men died miserably in the chamber, and I watched while their bodies were released one after the other. Then it was my turn. Pals shook my hand and I climbed in.

"I got through the chamber all right but I had trouble with my Davis lung. I could not regulate it properly. By the time I reached the surface I could scarcely breathe. We did not know ships were there and I was astonished when I felt myself seized and pulled on board a boat."

While Shaw and the other three survivors were recovering in hospitals, angry demands were being made by the press today for a full inquiry into the disaster and prayers were offered in all churches for the 99 men who perished.

Demand Explanation.

Every London newspaper demanded an explanation of the tragedy and when parliament reconvenes tomorrow the admiralty and the government will be in for an embarrassing time.

Off the coast of North Wales, salvage tugs of Cammel, Laird, Ltd., builder of Thetis, worked to raise the steel tomb or to drag it along the bottom to shallow water near the shore, fourteen miles away.

150 TWINS MEET IN CASSVILLE AT ANNUAL PICNIC

Cassville, Wis., June 4.—(AP)—Nearly everybody was seeing double in this old Mississippi river village today, and it wasn't from the heat or anything like that. It was the twins—not just two, but a hundred and fifty. It is estimated there were 4,000 visitors in town.

The twins were having their eleventh annual picnic, and they came from neighboring towns and farms in Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois.

PRECINCTS — Chicago, 3,643; suburbs, 728; Cook county, 4,376.

REGISTRATION—Chicago, 1,649,571; suburbs, 315,437; Cook county, 1,965,008.

WEATHER—Fair and warmer.

(Recommendations on pages 2 and 3.)

Political leaders and election officials agreed yesterday in one forecast concerning the Cook county judicial election today. They were unanimously of the opinion that it will be one of the quietest elections ever seen in Chicago and its immediate suburbs.

They also were in accord as to the cause and the effect of that condition. They said that although twenty-six Circuit and Superior court judges are to be chosen—or nearly half the number of jurists on the two courts—there has been no issue that has aroused great popular interest.

Unorganized Vote Apathetic.

Probably less than half of the qualified voters will go to the polls, they agreed. The powerful Democratic organization is expected to record its deliverable vote, but as an organization the Republican county central committee has not even attempted to function as a unit in the campaign. And the unorganized vote, the leaders say, has not been stirred.

The Democrats closed their campaign with a routine organization meeting in the Forty-second ward yesterday afternoon. The Republicans, lacking organized power, made a final appeal over the radio. That call for support of Republican principles and candidates was made by Dwight H. Green, nominee for mayor last April.

"Having held a virtual monopoly in government in recent years," said Green, "the Democratic leaders have become overzealous in their display of power and arrogance. They have taken the attitude that the people—and do not forget that this government belongs to the people—are not capable of choosing judges or other officials.

Says People Can Do Better.

"It is my belief that the American people not only are capable of making honest decisions in regard to their judges but that they can do a better job of it than the politicians with their dictatorial methods.

"Our greatest hope for safety and for a confidence which will be the basis of a new prosperity lies in preserving a government that is for and by the people. No one can deny that under the Democratic administration our form of government has been threatened. They have leaned more and more toward dictatorship by an individual, by a group and by a party.

"We of the Republican party feel that the time has come when individual interests and positions must be disregarded and fundamental issues brought to the front."

The final word on behalf of the Democratic ticket, which includes ten Republicans, came from P. A. Nash, chairman of the Democratic county committee.

Predicts Democratic Sweep.

"The Democratic candidates," he said, "have made a splendid campaign on their records, and the margin of their victory will be determined by the size of the total vote. The larger the vote, the greater will be their lead over the opposition.

"They will win by virtue of a straight Democratic vote, and this will come from Republicans, Democrats, and independents voting to keep the courts out of politics. The difference between the top and the low man on the ticket will not be very great because of the straight voting."

Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Republican county committee, also has been active in the campaign personally although not all of his ward committeemen followed his example, repeated his plea for independent support.

"Recent elections," he said, "have proved that a great portion of the people of Cook county disagree with the political policies and principles of the Democratic party. We are Republicans and believe that the policies of the Republican party are best designed to protect the rights of the people and to promote their prosperity and well being. We are confident the people will make a crushing answer to the attempt of Democratic dictatorship to seize the courts."

ELECT 51 IN STATE

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The contest in the 12th circuit, where the record of Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Joliet in issuing injunctions which protected slot machines and law-breaking saloons has been the chief issue, is the most prominent contest in today's downstate judicial elections.

An entire Circuit bench of fifty-one judges is to be elected in the seventeen districts outside Cook county. One Supreme court justice is to be elected in the 4th Supreme district—Rock Island and Quincy.

Although judges are elected in June to keep the bench polls free from party politics in general elections, politicians are watching today's results as a barometer of 1940. In general the election has been played up as a prelude to 1940.

1933 Landslide Felt.

Six years ago Democrats elected thirty-six and Republicans fifteen downstate Circuit judges. In that election Illinois voted four to one for repeal of national prohibition and elected delegates to a state convention to ratify the twenty-first amendment to the national constituion repealing a dry America. The landslide was felt in the judicial election.

Today G. O. P. managers expect the Republican swing to be in evidence and believe they will gain twelve or fifteen judges.

Eleven candidates on four tickets—each ticket having a party circle—make the 12th district contest a complex one. Judge Wilson, a Democrat, has been the center of attack in the campaign. Representative Joseph Sam Perry [Dem., Wheaton] instituted impeachment proceedings against Wilson two years ago in the state legislature. By a margin of two votes, however, the house voted not to concern itself with impeachment.

Perry's charges were based on injunctions issued by Judge Wilson enjoining Will county and Joliet officials from interfering with slot machines. Joliet is where the 12th district judicial battle rages hottest.

Vote Splitting Likely.

Five candidates on two minor tickets, some of them good vote getters in other elections, have made the contest intricate. Much vote splitting is looked for and split votes, by dividing the opposition, may help Wilson if the race is close.

Indications in Will, Kankakee, and Iroquois counties—which constitute the 12th district—are that the Republican ticket is the one most likely to win. Voters are being urged to vote the straight ticket, for James V. Bartley, Joliet; Luther B. Bratton, Kankakee, and Roscoe C. South, Watseka, as the best chance to defeat the slot machine injunction judge.

On the minor tickets Judge Claude N. Saum of Watseka, a Democrat, is running as a nonpartisan. He refused to go on the Wilson ticket. If the regular party tickets are upset Saum is considered to be the candidate most likely to do the upsetting. Many politicians believe that Saum will run in fourth place, top man among the losers. Others have an idea Wilson may be the fourth man. The three candidates with the highest votes will be the winners regardless of tickets.

Home Support Expected.

Harry S. Streeter of Kankakee and R. C. Schoenstedt of Joliet, Saum's running mates, are expected to get votes in their home counties, but not much outside. On the People's ticket are William R. McCabe of Joliet, a former state's attorney of Will county, who was one of the first critics of Judge Wilson's penchant for slot machine injunctions, and Elmer A. Taylor of Watseka, state's attorney.

Selection of a Democratic ticket ran into difficulty when Saum declined to run with Wilson. So did Samuel Shapiro, Kankakee state's attorney, and W. S. Kay of Watseka. William J. Parish of Momence finally was put on the ticket, and Herman W. Danforth of Danforth was shanghaied and his name was placed on the ballot over his protests. Danforth's campaigning has consisted of telling voters he does not want them to vote for him.

17th District Battle.

One other important battle is in the 17th circuit. This is composed of Lake, McHenry, Boone, and Winnebago counties, which normally are strongly Republican. There are four candidates for the three judgeships. Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan and Judge William L. Pierce of Belvidere are running for reëlection on the Republican ticket. With them is Thomas E. Gill of Rockford.

The Democratic office holders and the C. I. O. labor organizations are making strong efforts to elect B. Jay Knight of Rockford, the only nominee on the Democratic ticket.

C. I. O. opposition has been trained on Judge Dady, who took a firm stand for law enforcement during the sit strikes called in Lake county by John L. Lewis' labor organization.

Four candidates are running for three places in the 16th district, which is composed of Kane, Du Page, and Kendall counties. Running for reëlection are Judges William J. Fulton, Sycamore, and Frank W. Shepherd, Elgin. On the Republican ticket with them is William G. Knoch, Naperville. The one Democratic nominee is Elmer C. Tobin, Elgin.

The only Supreme court election is in the 4th district. There the candidates are City Judge Albert M. Crampton, Republican, of Moline, and Circuit Judge Loren E. Murphy, Democrat, of Monmouth. Justice Warren H. Orr of Rock Island, a Democrat, is retiring. Politicians regard this as a close race. Fourteen counties are in the district.

Vote on Bond Proposals Today

Cook county voters will consider two bond issue propositions today. Below are the ballots marked according to the recommendation of the Civic Federation and the Bureau of Public Efficiency.

SLASH OF 8 MILLION CURTAILS SERVICES IN NEW YORK SCHOOLS

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—A recast budget providing for the dismissal of 984 teachers, the abolition of all kindergarten classes, evening schools, community centers, and citizenship, classes, and the curtailment of day high school activities to meet the situation created by cuts by the state and city in public school funds was made public today by the board of education. The board stated the new budget would be adopted at its next meeting, June 14, and forwarded to the board of estimate.

The board of education placed upon the legislature responsibility for the cuts in educational services. The board held that it was its duty to meet the "predicament" of the school system created by the $5,300,000 cut in state aid and a deduction of $3,000,000 by the board of estimate.

Theft of Gems Reported by Daughter of Walgreen

The theft of jewelry valued at several thousand dollars from the apartment of Mrs. Ruth Walgreen Dart at 200 East Superior street was reported yesterday to police. Mrs. Dart, the daughter of Charles Walgreen, owner of the Walgreen drug store system, discovered the theft early yesterday after her return from the country.

U. S. TO IMPANEL JURY TODAY FOR ANNENBERG QUIZ

Income and Race News Ties of Publisher Eyed.

The long heralded investigation by the government of the income of M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher and owner of a race track news service, is scheduled to begin today.

William J. Campbell, United States district attorney, said he is ready to proceed. The June grand jury, which will hear the evidence, will be impaneled this morning by Federal District Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The government's major purpose is said to be the collection of an alleged income tax deficiency. Annenberg is said to owe more than $500,000 on unreported income. Attorney General Frank Murphy said the grand jurors would determine if there was any intent by Annenberg to defraud the government. If intent is established, he said, indictments will follow.

Probe Monopoly Charge.

Another reported purpose of the inquiry concerns allegations that Annenberg has a monopoly on the dissemination of racing information.

Annenberg's income was put at $5,000,000 a year in several lawsuits in which he figured. On the basis of the present tax scale the government demands $3,791,000 tax on an income of five million dollars. Annenberg has made several offers to settle with the government, but Attorney General Murphy ruled a month ago that a grand jury would pass on the matter.

Annenberg owns the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Daily Racing Form, the Nationwide News, and many other racing publications. He has contracts with all race tracks in the country, with one or two exceptions, giving him the exclusive right to disseminate race results by telegraph, telephone, or radio.

Shroud Inquiry in Secrecy.

On Murphy's order Campbell said he is taking unusual precautions for secrecy. The government wants to keep its witnesses anonymous, as far as the public is concerned. Those called will pass through the prosecutor's office and may not be seen going into the grand jury room.

Campbell will be aided by Samuel Klaus of the treasury department's tax staff; Earl C. Crouter of the department of justice tax division; E. Riley Campbell, general counsel for the treasury department, and Austin Hall, chief of the district attorney's tax division.

DIAMOND STAR GIVEN TO MAYOR OF FOREST PARK

Last week Mayor Thomas Collis Jr. was conducting Forest Park's official business from his milk truck. This week he will be back in his elegant office wearing a gold star set with a diamond. The star was presented by 2,500 citizens last night as a token of confidence in his administration.

Soon after his election in April a feud developed between Collis and Theodore Dannenberg, his commissioner of public works. Because the commissioner has charge of the town hall, he chased the mayor out of the mayor's office and Collis, owner of a milk company and one of its drivers, put his mayoral seal in his truck. He and Dannenberg have buried the hatchet. Even Dannenberg thinks the diamond studded star's a beauty.

Slovakia Accuses Paper of Sabotage; Seizes Control

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, June 4.—The Slovak government, in the person of its propaganda chief, today accused the official newspaper Slovak with sabotaging its policy. Accordingly, the propaganda ministry has taken over direct control of the paper. In a press statement the minister declared it was "unbearable that Slovakia should be controled by a small clique of political gamblers." This is taken to be a reference to Karl Sidor and his followers, who control 60 per cent of the newspaper's capital.

TWO-WAY POLICE RADIO OPERATION CALLED SUCCESS

Chief Sullivan Tells How Arrests Are Speeded.

Two way radio communication between Chicago police headquarters and cruising squad cars was pronounced a complete success last night by Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan. The plan went into effect last February.

"It has made the arrest of criminals swifter and more certain," he said. "It has increased police efficiency and is the greatest help to police since radio itself was added to the department's operations. There is no limit to its use."

Fifteen squad cars working out of the detective bureau are now equipped with two way radio sets. The park district police have fourteen. The two departments work independently. Chicago police officials hope in time to equip all of their 225 cars—most of them squad cars—with the two way communication system. The cost will be about $72,000.

Value in Chase Cited.

One of the chief values of the two way communication system is that detectives can give running accounts of their progress in working on a crime. Chief Sullivan cited a typical case. A squad pursuing a gang of suspects temporarily lost them in the chase. The squad leader promptly called headquarters. He explained where he was and where he thought the suspects were heading. Within four minutes six other squads were converging on the zone mentioned and within two more minutes the suspects were seized.

Two wave lengths are required for the operation of the two way radio. One is of 1712 kilocycles. This is used by radio headquarters at 11th and State streets to broadcast messages to all cars, whether equipped with one or two way sets. The other wave length is of 33.1 megacycles. [A megacycle is an engineering term for 1,000,000 cycles a second, or 1,000 kilocycles]. The megacycle frequency is used by the roving squad cars to reach headquarters.

The broadcasts from squad cars are picked up by a special receiving apparatus atop the Field building, La Salle and Adams streets, and transmitted via loud speaker into police radio headquarters.

Joint Conversations Possible.

Instantaneous, or joint conversation is thus possible. The police operator hears the words of a squad leader through the loud speaker on one wave length and can talk to him at the same time through his microphone on the other wave length. No idle conversations are permitted. Squads must not use two way radio except for necessary and important reasons.

Police have found the system highly helpful in avoiding wasted effort and time on false alarms. The first squad reports and all other squads which might have been ordered to the scene are then called off.

"I expect in time," said Chief Sullivan, "that all district commanders and officials will have radio sets on their desks. These will enable them to keep in constant touch with police at scenes of crimes."

1,000 Danish Americans Observe Constitution Day

More than a thousand Danish-Americans gathered yesterday at a picnic in Harms' park, Berteau and Western avenues, for the annual celebration of Grundlovs dag, the Danish constitution day. The program was arranged by the Danish National committee, representing Danish organizations in the Chicago area.

Judicial Election Recommendations

This tabulation is in the form of the ballot to be used in the Cook county judicial election today. The crossed squares show how to vote for the sitting judges, and in contests in which there are no sitting judges, for those candidates who have the indorsement of the Chicago Bar association. The "S" before the square indicates that the candidate is a sitting judge. The "B" marks those candidates who have been indorsed by the bar association.

What Symbols Mean

While this tabulation follows the form of the ballot, it is not a reproduction of the ballot. The initials "S" and "B" do not appear on the official ballot and the voter should not write them on his ballot. Such a marking would invalidate his ballot.

The bar primary referred to by the initial "B" was participated in by 2,083 members of the Chicago Bar association, who voted secretly. The high man of the fifty-two candidates was former Municipal Judge John F. Haas. He received 1,883 votes or more than any sitting judge. He and John A. Sbarbaro are the Republicans running for Superior court vacancies on the Democratic ticket.

The sitting Republican Circuit judges running for reëlection on the Democratic ticket are Kickham Scanlan, Stanley H. Klarkowski, David F. Matchett, George Fred Rush, Hugo M. Friend, William V. Brothers, Daniel P. Trude, and Michael Feinberg.

LAKE GIVES UP STRANGER'S BODY.

The body of a poorly dressed man, about 50 years old, was taken yesterday from the lake off Montrose avenue. The initial "G" was on a belt buckle and the initial "P" on a watch chain clip.

RELIEF MERGER FOES MASS FOR ASSEMBLY FIGHT

Legislature Reconvenes Tomorrow.

Bills providing for a revised relief setup and a constitutional convention head the list of several hundred proposals in line for action before the general assembly which reconvenes tomorrow.

Reports yesterday said that local officials in the 1,455 townships of the state are rallying to fight the proposed merger of all forms of public assistance in a new state department. Bills to accomplish this were passed by the senate last week and later received the approval of house Democrats in a party caucus.

Republicans in the lower chamber will aid the cause of local officials. Relief administration would be snatched from hundreds of Republican township supervisors in downstate Illinois if the bills became law. Control would be vested in county commissions appointed by a state commission of five, named by the governor.

"We fear this is purely a political move," Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago] said yeserday. "Not more than three of the five members of each county commission are to be members of the same party. To us that means three Democrats and two Republicans in every county."

CIGARET IGNITES OIL WELL; TWO WORKERS BURNED

Evansville, Ind., June 4.—[Special.]—Two oil workers were seriously burned today when an oil well they were drilling on the Seiffert farm a mile north of Caborns in Posey county caught fire. The drill was only down 383 feet and, unaware that gas had been struck and was escaping, one of the men struck a match to light a cigaret. The well exploded.

The well still is burning tonight. The injured workers are H. C. Bennett and J. H. Hossmeister.

HIGHWAY POLICE RAIDERS SEIZE SLOT MACHINES

Taverns in La Salle County Object of Drive.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy yesterday accelerated the departure of the slot machine industry from Illinois by a well placed kick administered in La Salle county.

Arrows point to Peru and Oglesby; numbers indicate slot machine seizures.

Thirty state highway policemen raided taverns and roadhouses throughout the county Saturday night. Thirteen of the one armed bandits were seized in Peru and ten were confiscated in Oglesby.

Operators spread the alarm a few minutes after the first patrolmen appeared in the county, and in the other towns the slot machines were whisked out of sight by the syndicate. As a consequence no machines were found in the larger cities of Ottawa, La Salle, and Streator.

Seek License Revocations.

Cassidy said yesterday that he will ask Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the Illinois liquor commission, to revoke the licenses of all places in which slot machines were seized. No arrests were made during the raids. Police attached stickers to the machines, bearing notations of the time and place of the seizure. These will be used as evidence in seeking revocations of liquor licenses.

The La Salle county invasion was under the command of Chief Walter Williams of the Illinois state highway police. Williams and Smith attended Cassidy's conference in Chicago Friday when notice was given that slot machines must go.

La Salle county officials apparently did not take the warning seriously, Cassidy and T. P. Sullivan, chief of the state bureau of criminal investigation, said yesterday. Sullivan said that La Salle county still tolerated the machines.

Police Meet in Joliet.

So Saturday night the state police, led by Capts. H. W. Nofs, Philip Renkosiac, and M. C. Baughman, met in Joliet. They were under sealed orders from Cassidy, who had the approval of Gov. Horner in his program, and were commanded by Chief Williams.

Local officials resented the appearance of the state troopers. In Oglesby the raiders were threatened with arrest on charges of obstructing traffic with a big truck which they used to haul away the machines. Sheriffs and state's attorneys have opposed use of state police for work other than traffic regulation on state highways.

An agent of the slot machine syndicate, however, made a futile effort to dissuade troopers from making the raids. He promised that the syndicate would move out of La Salle county willingly—and quickly—if only its machines were not confiscated.

Serves as State Warning.

"Our action in La Salle county should serve as a warning to the rest of the state," said Cassidy yesterday.

Cassidy said he believed slot machines in the Cook county area outside Chicago had been driven to cover in the last few days.

"I don't know how many machines were operating in Cook county last week, but I have been told there were more than 2,000," he said. "I don't know how much money they took in, either. Last winter I obtained some figures showing that the gross revenue from slot machines in Illinois was more than $200,000 a week, and I have been told that my figures were conservative. Of course, at that time there were from 1,300 to 1,500 machines operating in St. Clair county and 1,000 in Peoria.

Year's Toll Put at 12 Million.

"I believe the revenue in Illinois from these illegal devices has amounted to $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 a year. The machines average $5 or $8 a day profit. In one downstate city where they were licensed the syndicate paid $2,000 into the city treasury every week. I don't suppose they were paying more than 10 per cent of their profits, so they must have had a net income of $20,000 a week in that one city."

Asked what information he had regarding the persons who placed the slot machines in Cook county taverns, Cassidy said:

"The storekeeper usually says he doesn't know, and I believe that to be true. Some person unknown to him puts the machines in his place and he is given a telephone number to call if the machines get out of order. The person who answers the telephone is usually some one named Joe."

Expert Evidence from Inquiry.

It is believed likely that evidence on this question will be uncovered when a federal grand jury in Chicago begins an inquiry today into the income tax payments of William R. Skidmore. Skidmore is the reputed head of the Chicago gambling syndicate.

Reports to Cassidy and Sullivan were that Skidmore still is the payoff man for all rackets in Cook county—vice, policy, handbooks, and slot machines. He is reported to be a partner of William Johnson, so-called gambling king, but officials say they believe this is untrue. They say that Skidmore and Johnson are friends and allies and may have some common interests, but that Skidmore is not a partner in Johnson's gambling houses nor is Johnson a partner of Skidmore.

Liens Put on Property.

The government has had fifteen or twenty investigators here for a month preparing for the grand jury inquiry into Skidmore's income. In February the government levied a jeopardy assessment of $220,000 against Skidmore and placed liens against his bank accounts, safety deposit vaults, and real estate.

Skidmore, who has seven farms in McHenry county stocked with blooded horses and cattle, also operates a junk yard at 2840 South Kedzie avenue.

For the last thirty years of his prominence he has been called a "standup guy." A few years ago he faced a coroner's jury of prominent citizens and calmly stated he had not been interested in gambling for twenty years.

At that time he was asked whether he paid money to police officials. He said he did not. In 1917 he was indicted as a collector of graft for police and he was tried and acquitted, along with Charles C. Healy, who was chief of police.

Syndicate Rule Told.

State officials said that slot machines could be operated in Cook county only through a syndicate. The old Capone syndicate, now headed by Frank Nitti, is said by officials to allow no outsiders to cut in on their easy money from slot machines.

George Vogel, an old time public enemy who killed a policeman and was acquitted of a charge of murder, is known as a slot machine operator, but he in reality is only an agent of the Capone syndicate, according to officials.

Chief Sullivan said it is necessary for slot machine operators to pay off constables, justices of the peace, and village marshals as well as higher-ups. He said newly elected county officials frequently tolerate slot machines until they find that in permitting one form of law violation they may be compelled to condone other crimes.

In every county where such practices have been found, Sullivan said, there is one man who handles the boodle.

Landing Wheels of Plane Stick; 4 Unhurt in Crash

A pilot and three passengers, one a small girl, escaped injury yesterday when the five passenger plane in which they were riding crashed while landing at Chicago airport. Pilot Pierce O'Carroll of 3254 Marquette road, a commercial flyer, blamed failure of the plane's retractible landing gear. He said he was unable to lower the wheels into landing position, and was forced to land the plane on its fuselage. The names of his passengers were not learned.

WISCONSIN DOCTOR DIES WHILE IN ACT OF DELIVERING BABY

Appleton, Wis., June 4.—[Special.]—Dr. C. E. Ryan, 69 years old, well known Appleton physician, died last evening of a heart attack while delivering a baby in St. Elizabeth's hospital here. Born in Dubuque, Ia., Oct. 8, 1870, he came to this city thirty-seven years ago and had been actively engaged in the practice of medicine here since. He is survived by his widow and a brother, James Ryan, of Dubuque.

Steal 1,860 Bottles of Wine and Cognac at N. Y. Fair

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Some unidentified connoisseur among thieves was charged today with the first major crime in the world of tomorrow, the New York World's Fair. The thief, or thieves, took 1,860 bottles of fine wines and cognac from a temporary warehouse in the Pan-American building. So far, only 31 persons have been arrested among the approximate 6,000,000 who have visited the fair, and none was charged with anything more serious than picking a few pockets, fighting or climbing the sky ride without a ticket.

SHIP BEARING 907 JEWS PAUSES IN FLORIDA WATERS

Refugees Hopeful They Can Enter Cuba.

Miami, Fla., June 5 [Monday].—(AP)—A large steamship, possibly the German liner St. Louis with 907 Jewish refugees from Nazi Germany aboard, dropped anchor off Miami Beach about 1 a. m. Chicago time today.

The St. Louis had anchored at the same spot fourteen hours earlier, but after remaining motionless for two hours had moved off in a southeasterly direction.

A reliable source said the liner was "quite near" Miami at 1 a. m. He spoke in a nautical sense, however, in which 100 or more miles is considered close. The ship apparently was cruising aimlessly as negotiators sought to gain permission for the refugees to enter Cuba.

A coast guard patrol boat, sent out when immigration authorities made a routine inquiry as to the vessel's position, first sighted the craft. It was moving slowly past Fort Lauderdale, bound southward.

Reports to Shore Stations.

The patrol boat fell in behind the liner and by radio reported its position to shore stations. When the St. Louis dropped anchor off the Miami light two coast guard planes were dispatched from the Miami base to Immigration Inspector Walter B. Thomas said the craft, with no clearance papers from Havana to an American port, could not put into Miami or Key West unless in distress, keep it under surveillance.

The St. Louis left Hamburg on May 15 for Havana and was forced to sail from the Cuban capital Friday by orders of President Federico Laredo Bru.

The captain of the St. Louis said before leaving Havana he feared mass suicides or a passenger mutiny if his vessel started back across the Atlantic for Germany.

Confers with Cuban President.

HAVANA, Cuba, June 4.—(AP)—Lawrence Berenson, New York attorney, conferred today with President Federico Laredo Bru and other government officials in an effort to gain entry for 907 German Jewish refugees aboard the German liner St. Louis.

Berenson declined to say whether he had met with any success. The attorney met last night with two representatives of President Laredo Bru to discuss a plan which was said to have contemplated landing the refugees on the Isle of Pines.

Antonio Sanchez de Bustamente, Havana attorney and author of a plan for settling the Isle of Pines with Jewish refugees, met with Berenson and the presidential representatives today before they talked with Laredo Bru at his country estate outside Havana.

Ship Turns Back with Jews.

HAMBURG, Germany, June 4.—(AP)—After turning back to Cuxhaven and landing approximately 200 Jews who had started to emigrate to Cuba, the Hamburg-Amerika liner Orinoco tonight again was en route to Havana.

Officials of the line called the steamer back from Antwerp yesterday after hearing that Cuban authorities would not permit Jewish passengers to disembark at Havana.

The Jews who were landed were dejected and what would happen to them was uncertain. Most were without friends at Cuxhaven. Some were arranging to return to their old homes in Germany.

Costa Rica to Oust Jews.

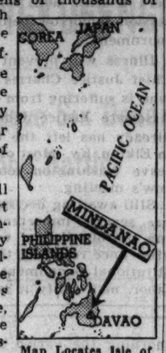
[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, June 4.—The government has ordered the departure of a large number of Jewish refugees whose 90 day permits to remain in the country have expired.

An exception was made for Gertrude Hirsh, who just gave birth to a boy. The father attempted to register the child as a Costa Rican. Although any one born here is a citizen, the government holds the rule does not apply to persons living here illegally.

U. S. IS CONSIDERING HAVEN FOR JEWS IN PHILIPPINE ISLAND

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—Settlement of tens of thousands of German Jewish refugees in the Philippines to offset the influence of Japanese there is a possibility being turned over in the minds of officials here.



Map Locates Isle of Mindanao and Town of Davao.

A decision will await the report of a special committee recently sent to the Philippines to make a survey. This committee, appointed by the President's advisory committee on refugees, New York City, is due back in the United States shortly.

The tentative plan, in which the Philippine commonwealth is reliably reported to have joined, is to settle some 30,000 German political exiles in the island of Mindanao, where the Japanese in the Philippines are principally concentrated.

Both the Philippine government and the United States authorities in touch with the Philippines are preoccupied with the growing Japanese colony at Davao, in Mindanao, second largest of the Philippine group.

There are now 20,000 Japanese there.

GANDHI ADVISES CHANGED TACTICS TO SPEED ACTION

BOMBAY, June 4.—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi today enunciated a new and more conciliatory technique for the All-India Congress party, which wants self-government, in dealing with the Indian states ruled by the princes.

In an announcement on the state of Travancore the little leader of India's millions said suspension of mass civil disobedience should be continued indefinitly, but added:

"First—State congress leaders should seek to open honorable negotiations with authorities.

"Second—Immediate demands should be reduced to quicken progress toward the final goal.

"Heretofore in the state the congress people have talked at the authorities and the latter at them. They must abandon such tactics and approach the authorities directly and negotiate reforms."

GREAT CAPITAL CROWD TO GREET KING AND QUEEN

Police Prepare for Parade to White House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—The Washington police force and the army are preparing for an unprecedented crowd to witness the arrival of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain Thursday forenoon. President and Mrs. Roosevelt will escort the visitors down Pennsylvania avenue to the White House.

In the afternoon the garden party at the British embassy to meet the king and queen will be attended by 1,500 persons. Originally the invitations had been limited to 1,350, but through the efforts of Mrs. John N. Garner and the Vice President the guest list was extended to include all ninety-six of the senators and their wives. Only forty senators and their wives were on the original list.

Nothing can convince politically minded Washington that this extension of the royal guest list was not dictated by considerations of high state—for example, the pending modification of the American neutrality act to permit sale of arms to belligerents, which would enable Britain to draw on America's vast industrial resources for weapons if she should become involved in war.

Implication Is There.

You doubtless get the implication: That a senate with 56 of its 96 members enraged, on the distaff side at least, by failure to be invited to meet the king and queen, would be unlikely to let the bars down on arms for Britain.

That Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, might have been impressed by such considerations would not be surprising. One of his distinguished predecessors earned undying fame in his country by "floating a treaty through the senate on a sea of champagne," as he picturesquely described it. That was Lord Ashburton, the British ambassador who in 1842 wangled a treaty settling the Maine boundary on a line giving the United States 5,000 less square miles than it was entitled to. Even greater would be the exploit of a British ambassador able to wangle a favorable neutrality law for fifty-six invitations to a garden party.

British Top Notch in Society.

It would be a mistake, however, to regard the current social supremacy of the British as unusual. The British embassy has been top notch socially time out of mind. Top notch in Washington not only because of the prestige of the embassy of the greatest empire in the diplomatic corps, but because of the influence of the British government in most administrations of the American government.

With the possible exception of the Coolidge régime this situation has obtained for decades, having been most pronounced during the world war when the Wilson administration was intensely pro-British and barely less noticeable during the Hoover administration and the present Roosevelt régime. Top notch in New York society also, chiefly by reason of social importance of the British embassy in the summer residence colony of Newport.

Imaginations are busy with the larger implications of the royal expedition to the western hemisphere. It is recognized that only considerations of the most vital import to the British empire impelled this unprecedented journey of the reigning monarchs overseas.

The principal consideration is well known to have been the weakening bonds of Canada and the empire, signalized by Prime Minister Mackenzie King's pronouncement in parliament that Canada might remain neutral if Britain were to go to war. Nature abhors a vacuum no more than the British government abhors such an anomaly as George, king of Canada, neutral, and George, king of England, belligerent. Something had to be done about it and George was deputed to do it.

They Impress Canadians.

From all accounts emanating from Our Lady of the Snows, George and Elizabeth have done their task uncommonly well. They have impressed the Canadians as a simple, unaffected, democratic pair, working hard at their job of maintaining the symbol of the unity of the British empire. They have inspired a new sense of devotion to the empire and elicited no end of spontaneous individual expressions of a will to fight for England if war should come.

In America their objective is much the same. There is the embargo on export of arms to belligerents which the British would have us repeal. There is the 4 billion dollar war debt which they would have us forget. There is the Johnson act forbidding loans to war debt defaulters which they would have us rescind. And there is our disinclination to become involved in European quarrels which the British regard so provincial. It's a big job for George and Elizabeth, but they might do it. Lord Ashburton did.

QUIET SUNDAY IS PRELUDE TO BIG WEEK FOR KING

Halts in a Small Town for Church Service.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON BOARD ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, Canada, June 4.—This was a quiet Sunday for the British royal party, a prelude to the big events of the next few days when, for the first time in history, the reigning monarchs of that empire will face the people of the United States who threw off the rule of George III. 163 years ago. They will have three days of strenuous campaigning in industrial Ontario before reaching the international bridge and the American welcoming party on next Wednesday evening.

Today's first stop was for church service at Portage La Prairie, a farming community in the middle of the great plain region. Here the sixth George and his queen attended the United church in a private service conducted by the Rev. E. J. Abernathy. The town was crowded with farmers and other citizens of this rough country and troops held the lines for the royal party to pass into the little church.

Church of Three Groups.

The United church is made up of old Presbyterian, Methodist, and Congregational groups who could not support separate churches. As defender of the faith in Great Britain, King George is head of the state church, but as there is no state church here he broke no precedent by this action.

At Winnipeg the king and queen stopped at noon to appear before 100 disabled soldiers from the Deer lodge hospital. They had missed them on their previous visit and this meeting was specially arranged. The soldiers, a dozen or more in wheel chairs, with orderlies in white behind them and the nurses of the hospital in white uniforms and veils stood or sat in a circle in the rotunda of the station.

In the ears of the king and queen and all the royal entourage this morning the varied sounds of a remarkable prairie uprising were still ringing. They were amazed and deeply touched by the demonstration at Melville last evening.

Here the prairie country really showed its feelings. A few thousand had been expected but when the royal train rolled slowly and ponderously into the station there were at least 40,000 people spread out in the station yards and on an adjoining hillside. The town of 2,800 population had grown as if by a miracle during the day. The nearby towns of Yorkton and Canora had become ghost towns.

A platform and floodlights had been erected and a red carpet laid for the royal feet to walk from the train. This town was hard hit by drouth and depression and was taken over by a provincial administrator some time ago.

Many Persons on Relief.

Nearly one-third of the population are on relief. The hard working, dust stained farmers and their families came in from all directions. Fifty per cent of them are of foreign extraction, mostly Germans and Ukrainians.

The German farmers appear to have the same sentiments as the other people of Canada toward the royal family. At Saskatoon a large group of them asked permission to mass along the parade line and they were the hardest cheerers in the line. Women of peasant type, with black shawls over their heads, Doukhobors, a religious sect who have caused much trouble by insisting on going naked, were among this crowd at Melville.

Although the king and queen descended from the platform and walked directly into the crowd, chatting for ten minutes, their figures indistinguishable from the mass, there was no hostile or unpleasant incident.

Veterans Raise a Chant.

"We want the king—we want the king," came in a steady chant from a group of hard looking ex-soldiers who stood within a few feet of the platform. The soldiers got their king, for after a few formal presentations on the platform, Brig. Gen. "Turkey" Ross, former head of the Canadian Legion, led them down into the mob.

Above the roar of the soldiers the shrill chant of the children sounded. 3,000 or more of them in a mass calling "We want the king."

The king and queen hesitated long before retiring to the seclusion of the royal coach. It had been intended to park the trains here for the night, but the waiting and pressing crowd made this impossible and so they were moved two miles down the track to await dawn.

U. S. SUPREME COURT WILL ADJOURN FOR THE SUMMER TODAY

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—The Supreme court, with two members absent, will conduct its final session tomorrow before summer adjournment.

Illness will prevent attendance of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes who is suffering from duodenal ulcer. Associate Justice James McReynolds already has left the capital to visit in Elkton, Ky. Most of the others will leave Washington soon after tomorrow's meeting.

Still awaiting decision by the court are several important cases including the question of whether a state, after once rejecting the pending constitutional amendment to abolish child labor, may ratify it later.

"We got back every piece the next day"

"We lost our silver when we moved, but with a Tribune want ad we recovered it quickly."

WHENEVER you lose anything of value be sure to telephone a Lost and Found want ad to the Chicago Tribune. Thousands of dollars' worth of property is restored each year to owners who advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Tribune.

Regardless of what you may have lost, or where in Chicago or suburbs you may have lost it, there is a good chance that a Tribune reader will find it.

Every day of the week, the Tribune is read by more than 725,000 families right in metropolitan Chicago. This is practically as many as read any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

Further, the Tribune is Chicago's big want ad marketplace, carrying far more want advertising and, as a result, attracting far more want ad readers than any other Chicago newspaper.

Call SUPERIOR 0100—Want Ad-vice and ask Miss Miller if you have lost something recently. Miss Miller will help you word your want ad. If your name is in the phone book, you may charge your Tribune want ad.

As an extra service to Tribune Lost and Found advertisers, all such ads are kept for three months after publication in a special register, open to the public at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn St. and in Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan Ave.

PHONE INDUSTRY HAS NEW HEROES; CUT WIRES' SIZE

Help Relieve Congestion in Crowded Areas.

The telephone industry has a new set of scientific heroes. They are the men who found out how to shave a hair's breadth off the diameter of the telephone wire.

To the uninitiated it may seem unimportant whether a phone wire and its insulation measures 34 one-thousands of an inch or 31 one-thousandths. But not to a telephone executive. He knows how acute wire congestion may become in crowded business sections.

As an example, one corner in downtown New York is crossed by 282 underground cables, carrying 560,000 wires. There is no more room for cables. The solution—and about the only one possible—is to increase the number of wires that can run through a cable.

Gain 606 Cables.

That is what the engineers of the Bell system worked toward for years. Their latest successful exploit resulted in the placing of 4,242 insulated wires, each of the 31 one-thousandths of an inch size, in a single cable 2¾ inches in diameter—about as big as a salami sausage.

The previous maximum for such a cable was 3,636 wires. The increase for each cable was 606 wires, gained by cutting down on insulation thickness. And the new cable, being manufactured now by the Western Electric works at Hawthorne, is said to have just as great efficiency in transmission as the old one.

As early as the 1890s engineers found that they had reached the saturation point for overhead wires. It is not difficult to illustrate this. If the 560,000 wires at the New York corner were on poles, sixty wires to a pole, it would require more than 9,000 strings of poles to hold them! One of the latest type cables would carry as many as seventy rows of poles.

The earliest cables were a help. Still the 1892 variety carried only 202 wires. There was a gradual cutting down of the wire size through the years, and consequently an increased carrying capacity of the standard size cable. By 1901 it was possible to crowd in 808 wires; by 1912, a total of 1,818.

Paper Pulp for Insulation.

The present threadlike wire, of less than 1-60th of an inch in diameter, was introduced in 1928 and brought the 3,636 wire cable. The 1939 development was based on new methods of insulation. In earlier model cables each wire was protected from its fellows by paper ribbon wound spirally about it. Now the insulation is put on in the form of paper pulp—just as good but thinner.

The outer covering of the cable is lead, making the wires safe from moisture.

Telephone officials have pointed out that technical improvements have greatly reduced the cost of installation. In 1888 the cost of carrying two wires a mile was $150. The cost for two wires today is only $10 a mile.

Now a Baby Can Get His Pants; Bomb Squad's Gone

Mrs. Ruth Shrock, 2010 Foster avenue, was frightened early yesterday as she saw something round and black on her back porch. She telephoned the Summerdale police and told them it "looked like it might be a bomb." Two detectives found the object was a black alligator zipper bag containing: [1] Four baby diapers, [2] a pair of rubber panties, [3] four milk bottles, two of which were filled.

JAPS REPORT NEW CLASH WITH REDS AT CHANGKUFENG

Russians Leave Six Dead After Long Battle.

TOKIO, June 4.—(AP)—The newspaper Nichi-Nichi, in a dispatch from Seoul, capital of Corea, reported today Russians and Japanese had clashed near Changkufeng, scene of last summer's vest-pocket war.

Arrow locates scene of clash.

The Corean government alleged Russians entered Chientao province of Manchukuo yesterday and immediately were confronted by Japanese troops.

Follows Other Outbreaks.

A battle began shortly after noon, the dispatch said, and continued until sundown, when the Russians withdrew, leaving six bodies and carrying numerous others. It asserted the only Japanese casualties were five wounded.

[Changkufeng, where a conflict raged from July 11 to Aug. 11, 1938, is near a point where the Siberian, Manchukuan, and Corean frontiers come together.]

The reported clash followed outbreaks in the last two weeks along two widely separated sections of the Manchukuo frontier.

Japanese advices have described infantry skirmishes and aerial encounters along the western border of Manchukuo involving forces of soviet supported Outer Mongolia. A Japanese communique last Tuesday charged Russian gunboats on the Ussuri river had attacked Manchukuan craft near Tunganchen, Manchukuo.

Battle Near Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, June 4.—(AP)—Heavy fighting between Japanese troops and Chinese guerrillas on the banks of the Yangtze river within 25 miles of Shanghai was reported tonight by passengers of the British owned river steamer Liwo.

The steamer passed the battle scene when Japanese artillery was shelling the guerrillas, who replied with machine gun fire, they said, but the Liwo escaped being struck.

Singer Injured

CONCETTA RIBAUDO.

Concetta Ribaudo, 12 years old, a Chicago operatic prodigy, was recovering yesterday from serious injuries remobile accident near Wheaton. She is under the care of Dr. William Kroger in her home at 333 Howard street. Evanston.

Concetta, her mother, Mrs. Giannina Ribaudo, and her brother, Jack Jr., 9, were returning by automobile from Hollywood, where on April 6 Concetta was chosen the "ideal American girl." This honor was conferred because she resembled a composite picture of Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin, Bonita Granville, and Edith Fellows.

Mrs. Ribaudo's car was struck in the rear by a cattle truck on highway 34. Concetta, who was alone in the back seat, suffered a brain concussion and a possible skull fracture. Her father is an orchestra leader. He and Mrs. Ribaudo formerly sang with the Chicago Civic Opera company.

Hurled from Coal Car, Mill Man Dies of Broken Neck

Eau Claire, Wis., June 4.—[Special.]—Joseph P. Bohacek, 67 years old, a Sterling Pulp and Paper company mill worker, died in a hospital last night of a broken neck incurred Thursday when he was thrown from a coal car. A spinning brake wheel threw him off the car when he released the catch. He is survived by his widow.

Albanian Port Is Renamed to Honor Duce's Daughter

TIRANA, Albania, June 4.—(AP)—The Albanian cabinet today changed the name of Santi Quaranta, the port where Italian troops landed on April 7 for the occupation of this country, to Porto Edda. The new name honors the daughter of Premier Mussolini and the wife of the Italian foreign minister, Count Ciano.

WOUNDED BY STRAY BULLET.

Henry Wells, 39 years old, colored, 2045 Maypole avenue, was wounded in the right leg near his home by a stray bullet early today, he reported to police.

As soft as gloves and so knowingly designed that they abbreviate your feet. The walled construction model with its generous toe room and the gored model too, are both excellent shoes for busy summer feet. In white Kidskin. $10.75

PEEKS AND VALETS

By CALEB

EVENTS are "eventful" only when associated with people. History, biography, drama, poetry, sociology, philosophy, travel, criticism, memoirs and news: so long as readers exist, these will be read first, because they are either by or about human beings.

"Read, too, with an interest directly proportional to the importance of the person by or about whom written," commented a friend who had been glancing over our shoulder. "Do you remember," he added, "the furor, a few years back, that greeted publication announcement of a newly-discovered manuscript, which had long lain buried in a partially destroyed French chateau? It was General de Caulaincourt's own remarkable account, With Napoleon in Russia —manyfold more intriguing than orthodox biography, because its author had personally served the Little Corsican, and wrote of him accordingly.

"Yes," we replied, "it was for exactly that reason that we read it with a Napoleon-sized interest. Few books have proved more thrilling. One found himself personally 'identifying' with the Duke of Vincenza, as he valeted the victor of Austerlitz to, through, and from, his most egregious mistake: the winter invasion of Moscow. The reader could peek into the strictest privacy of his palace room, his coach on the march, his tent in camp, his conferences with marshals at the supper table. When I laid that book down, I felt as if I had actually known Napoleon." . . .

The "inside" of greatness never ceases to fascinate. Is it, perhaps, because we recover our own importance, when we find that George Washington had a violent temper—that Coleridge and De-Quincy imbibed opium and guzzled tea —that Samuel Johnson enjoyed snuff and dressed untidily—that Wagner borrowed outrageously and was irresponsible — that Dickens was a foppish dresser, and Steinmetz worked standing, while he incessantly smoked cigars?

"No man," said Marshal Catinat, "is a hero to his valet." And in the greatest celebrity in whatever field, the bystander perceives foibles and faults that render the Famous One less really a man than himself or his friends. But what the world—including ourselves—will wisely forget, in appraising its personages, is the private "foot of clay" . . . and wisely remember the genius of heart and head that, in spite of it, may have built empires, founded institutions, established causes, or liberated peoples—thereby giving Progress "a local habitation and a name."

BRAZIL EXPOSES 2 DIRECTORS OF NAZI ACTIVITIES

Letters Telling of Agents' Propaganda Seized.

BY ANTHONY PATRIC.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, June 4.—German propaganda in Brazil has reached such proportions that officials of the state of Parana have requested the deportation of two Nazi leaders accused of carrying on the campaign.

Arrow indicates site of Nazi activities.

Through an anonymous letter, police of Curityba, in Parana, were informed of Nazi activities in Santa Catharina, an agricultural community in South Brazil owned by German colonists. They seized Leopold Benesch, who had arrived in Curityba with a number of letters and documents to be smuggled out of the country in violation of the postal censorship law.

Linked with Farm Chief.

From the letters and documents, the police said, they were able to link the anti-Brazilian activities of German citizens with Erick Friedmann, managing director of the Sociedade Paranaense Colonizadora Limitada, a German agricultural enterprise in Parana.

Further investigation, the police said, indicated that Benesch, who is a reserve captain in the German army, planned to smuggle other documents and correspondence from Curitiba apparently with the complicity of the German consul there. It was said both Benesch and Friedmann had been furnished with a consulate stamp to avoid the censorship.

These documents, they said, confirmed the fact that Friedmann had been engaged in propaganda work against the Brazilian government for a long time and had written numerous letters openly insulting Brazil and its people.

Seize Copies of Letters.

The offices of the German colonization company were raided and copies of letters already sent to Germany were seized. One of these, the police said, had been written by Friedmann and contained the information that without the financial support of Germany the first German colony, Colonia Treze Carvalhos, in Santa Catharina, would have fallen into Brazilian hands.

The police also said they had discovered that another German, named Wawretzka, former secretary of the German consulate in Curitiba, had acknowledged in a letter to friends in Germany that Friedmann was the official Nazi representative in South Brazil.

Also seized, police said, was a copy of a circular letter sent by Friedmann to all German colonists in the southern states. It contained, they said, instructions concerning the development of Nazi propaganda and a warning to the colonists to be thankful for Adolf Hitler and to obey his orders. The letter bore the imprint of the rubber stamp used by the German foreign colonization department of Berlin.

Anti-Nazi Feeling Grows.

Another letter written by Friedmann, the police said, informed his chiefs in Germany that Brazilians had developed strong anti-German feelings and told how he had taken charge of the Austrian colonization company following the annexation of Austria by Germany.

G. A. RANNEY ELECTED COMMUNITY FUND PRESIDENT FOR 1939

George A. Ranney.

George A. Ranney, chairman of the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company, was elected president of the Community Fund of Chicago yesterday at a meeting of directors. Mr. Ranney succeeds Edward L. Ryerson Jr.

During its 1938 drive the fund achieved 93 per cent of its quota, officials reported. Similar drives in 388 other cities in the United States had an average of 91 per cent. Chicago's goal was $3,550,000; of this, $3,277,000 was raised, with 403,842 contributors.

Vice presidents of the fund elected yesterday are Clifford W. Barnes, Edward A. Cudahy Jr., James H. Douglas Jr., Albert D. Lasker, Victor A. Olander, and Gen. R. E. Wood. Laurence B. Robbins was reelected treasurer.

FRENCH PREMIER AGAIN CRIES 'NO' TO AGGRESSION

Predicts Success in Move to Curb Dictators.

PARIS, June 4.—(AP)—Premier Daladier predicted today a "prompt and successful conclusion" to efforts to extend the British-French front and again proclaimed France's "no" to aggression.

Premier Daladier.

The premier, who has virtual dictatorial power to rule France by decree until next November, delivered an account of his leadership of French domestic and foreign policy to the executive committee of his Radical Socialist party.

The committee unanimously adopted a resolution approving Daladier's policies.

"We say no to aggression," Daladier asserted. "We say no to autarchic tyranny, we say no to ideologic fanaticism, we say no to claims of pretended vital space, we say no to all violence and brutality.

"Our refusal is that of all nations attached to peace, that of all free men. It has no other goal than to permit peace to be saved in the honor and independence of all nations."

Daladier said the French government had "exerted all its efforts and still exerts them to permit Europe to live happily in free collaboration," but, he added:

"I want to give an assurance to the world that France is in the front rank of powers which will prevent Europe from being drawn into catastrophe by undertakings of domination."

Refers to Deal with Russia.

The premier said he was unable to give a detailed account of latest negotiations abroad since some still were in progress, but asserted "everything permits us to hope for a prompt and successful conclusion."

Daladier referred here to Britain's efforts, backed by France, to bring soviet Russia into a three power mutual assistance accord and to France's efforts to draw up a mutual assistance pact with Turkey paralleling a British-Turkish agreement already concluded.

Moscow's latest note in the protracted negotiations with London—which accepted the principle of mutual assistance, but asked guarantees also for Russia's northern neighbors—was expected to be studied tomorrow by the French cabinet.

Insisting that French policy did not constitute encirclement, Daladier said "Europe has the choice between collaboration and domination" and "we are for collaboration which is the opposite of encirclement."

He declared that "each time we have taken a step in the path of collaboration we have been answered by an action of force."

"Those who gave us their refusal," he charged, "pretended at the same time to forbid us to collaborate with others. This collaboration which they refused is what they call encirclement. What more striking proof could they give of their desire for hegemony?

"If they mean to menace the equilibrium and peace of Europe," he continued, "we are justified in resolutely opposing such adventures."

MOSCOW'S PACT DEMANDS FAIL TO DISTURB BRITAIN

Sees 'Little Trouble' Over Soviet Terms.

LONDON, June 4.—(AP)—A reliable source today said soviet Russia's latest terms for a mutual assistance pact among her, Great Britain, and France were not likely to cause much trouble.

This source said the soviet note of last Friday, replying to French supported British proposals for an agreement, suggested the three powers should pledge themselves to lend mutual assistance in event of any direct or indirect threat to the independence of any of the signatories.

The use of the words direct or indirect would make the pact much stronger than the terms proposed by the British and French, it was said, and was intended to allay fears in Russia that she might be threatened through an attack on Baltic states without being sure of British-French support.

The British proposals were designed to cover any act of aggression against any of the signatories in Europe [thus exempting any Japanese-Russian conflict]. However, they were understood to have suggested that the three powers merely agree to cooperate if one of them went to war to protect a state not holding guarantees of aid.

The Russian reply, which is being studied by the foreign office, was said to have condemned the vagueness of this part of the proposals and to have pointed out that no such terms were used in the wording of the British-Polish agreement.

Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to mention the negotiations with Russia when parliament reconvenes tomorrow after the Whitsun vacation.

Miss Aviation

KATHERINE WILSON.

Birmingham, Ala., June 4.—(AP)—An Alabama girl representing Transcontinental-Western airlines tonight was named Miss American Aviation in the annual beauty contest of the national air carnival. Katherine Wilson, a statuesque blonde from San Francisco and formerly of Demopolis, Ala., won the title over a nation-wide field of contestants.

She shared attention at the air carnival with a 1910 plane which was piloted by A. J. Hartman of Burlington, Ia. The venerable craft made a successful demonstration flight, but hit a soft spot in the field while landing, and nosed over. Hartman was not hurt.

Minton Out Early with Bid for Another Term

New Albany, Ind., June 4.—(AP)—United States Senator Sherman Minton, Democratic whip of the senate, announced here today he would be a candidate for renomination and reelection to the upper house of congress next year. His announcement put an end to reports that he might voluntarily relinquish his post and seek a federal judgeship.

NAZIS EXPECTED TO APPOINT NEW CZECH OVERSEER

PRAGUE, June 4.—(AP)—Prague reparts today said Karl Frank, Konrad Henlein's first lieutenant in winning the Sudetenland for Germany, may succeed Baron Konstantin von Neurath as Germany's protector of Bohemia and Moravia.

Frank, who had the reputation of being a leftwing Nazi under Henlein, now acts as Von Neurath's secretary of state. Von Neurath was in Berlin to confer with Hitler on means of overcoming reported Czech reluctance to coöperate with German authorities. At a Nazi rally in Budweis tonight Frank called on the Czechs to coöperate in a "friendly attitude" toward Germany and warned:

"We know our internal enemies and warn them. A second 1918 will not come again, even if Czech legions are formed, an underground organization begins to work, or secret propaganda poster and chain letters are used to incite the Czech people."

Drive to Stamp Out Opium Production Begins in China

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

CHUNGKING, China, June 4.—Beginning this year the Chinese government, seeking to stamp out opium production, will not tolerate "the growth of a single poppy." If a poppy crop is discovered the cultivator and "protector" will be shot. Eradication squads will search the countryside to destroy poppy fields and attempts to resist will be suppressed by force. Mayor Ho Kou-kwang has ordered the closing of all opium shops in Chungking by June 15.

RADIO STATIONS ORDERED TO AID U. S. FRIENDSHIP

Licenses Depend Upon Good Will Broadcasts.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—This country's international broadcast stations must "promote international good will, understanding, and coöperation" with their programs beginning Nov. 1.

A spokesman for the federal communications commission announced today the effective date of revised rules governing international broadcasters. These stations must obtain new one year licenses by that date.

Annually thereafter they must come back to the FCC for renewal and if called upon to do so they must be in a position to show their programs have reflected the "culture of this country" and promoted "international good will, understanding, and coöperation."

Renewal to Be Routine.

Unless a station's programs have been criticized, officials said, renewal of license will be only a routine matter.

Institution of the rule already has had repercussions in congress. Representative Clarence J. McLeod [R., Mich.] told the house last week that President Roosevelt should ask for the resignations of the communication commissioners. He said the rule destroys freedom of religion, speech and the press and was in effect a censorship.

The FCC spokesman replied that the policy was promulgated only after careful review by the state department.

"There is no intention to even suggest the scrutiny of programs prior to their release by the broadcast stations," he said.

Fourteen Stations Concerned.

The rules apply only to international broadcast stations—stations which send out programs intended for the general public in other countries. They do not apply to telegraph or point to point stations such as are used for transmitting news matter or personal messages from one country to another.

Most of this country's fourteen international stations direct their programs chiefly to Latin America.

MRS. BERGDOLL SAYS MATE TO OPEN BREWERY

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll disclosed in a tearful reunion with his wife and three of their five children today in the Castle William military prison that he plans to utilize his wealth to relieve unemployment in the country for which he steadfastly refused to fight. Bergdoll met his daughter Vega, 3 years old, for the first time.

Under five-year military sentence on Governor's Island as a world war draft dodger, Bergdoll hopes to reopen his Philadelphia brewery and other properties, his pretty German-born wife said in a formal statement.

She also told of a plan by Bergdoll to start a building project on the 24½ acre Philadelphia farm he used as a private flying field in his harum-scarum youth and of his efforts to recover more than $500,000 the government seized when he fled the United States for a nineteen year exile in Europe.

Normandie Answers Call for Aid; Sailor's Life Saved

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 4.—A radio message to the liner Normandie today saved the life of a sailor who was bleeding to death aboard the small Greek steamer Calliop a few miles off the British coast. The Normandie's captain turned off his course and sent the ship's doctor aboard the steamer. The stricken sailor was transferred to the Normandie, where he was operated on successfully. He will be landed at Southampton tomorrow.

11 PERSONS INJURED AS EXCURSION TRAIN RAMS INTO FREIGHT

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., June 4.—(AP)—Eleven persons were injured and 400 homeward bound world's fair visitors milled in panic in the eerie light of blazing cars today as a Lackawanna railroad excursion train crashed into the rear of a ninety-six car freight train near here shortly after midnight.

Three cars of the excursion train bound for Scranton, Pa., carried Girl Scouts and there were also ninety boys aboard. Seven Girl Scouts, two of the freight train crew, and two men passengers were injured.

The passenger engine left the track and was wrecked as it derailed the caboose and three cars ahead of it in the freight train. The stove inside set fire to the caboose and the flames spread quickly to the other three derailed freight cars, adding to the terror of the passengers.

Brakeman Killed; Two Injured.

Bloomington, Ind., June 4.—(AP)—An Illinois Central brakeman was killed and two enginemen were hurt today as twenty-seven cars of an Indianapolis bound freight train were derailed at Unionville, ten miles east of here. Brakeman Oscar McCully, 49 years old, of Palestine, Ill., died in a hospital of injuries suffered when he was caught under the locomotive cab. The injured are Engineer Charles Stewart and Fireman Herbert Merriman, both of Palestine.

Nab Joliet Thieves as They Change Stolen Car Plates

Two young men from Joliet, who stole the automobile of Mrs. Patrick F. McFarland of Joliet, widow of the former member of the state athletic commission, were captured yesterday by the state police at 161st street and Cicero avenue, west of Markham. They were changing the license plates when seized. A companion escaped. The two identified themselves as Paul Stonich, 201 South Eastern avenue, and Eugene McKeon, 492 Raynor street, each 19 years old. Stonich said he had served fifteen months at the Vandalia state farm for the burglary of a jewelry store.

ENGLAND IS TORN BY STRUGGLE TO HALT ITS DECLINE

Locked in a Trade War to Dominate Europe.

nique of communism, routing the reds with their own weapons.

"Though they opposed armament they are ready to pick a quarrel with Germany, Italy, Japan, and Spain all at once. They are supported by the Jews, who are using their not inconsiderable influence in the press and in parliament to embroil us with Germany. Is there the slightest reason to believe that these dictators wish to dominate the world by force? Is it likely that Germany wishes to attack either France or England? So far all Hitler has done is try to piece together some of the fragments of the two German empires which were vindictively cut up by the allies in 1919."

An Extreme View.

This, perhaps, represents an extreme view of the group Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain heads, which believes that appeasement is the best policy.

In any case, three features seem to stand out in the present aspects of political change as they affect England.

FIRST—The English have gone back to the continent whence they were driven 500 years ago and which expulsion at the hands of the French led them to explore the then unknown quarters of the globe and found an empire. For the English, with their guarantees to Greece, Rumania, and Poland and their alliances with France and Turkey, have now abandoned isolation from the continent and have accepted the position of being something less than primus inter pares [first among equals] which they allocated to themselves before. These commitments, coupled with conscription, are bound to retegrate the island of England into the continental circles more and more, many observers believe.

SECOND—The root of the loss of prestige and power of this country in world affairs is economic decline. In no other way can be explained, many observers believe, the frantic efforts to check that decline through the various trade missions—Sir Frederick Leith-Ross's mission to China three or four years ago; his present missions in the Balkans; R. H. Hudson's tours of Scandinavia and Russia and the United States. Statistics of trade shrinkage tell the story even more vividly.

THIRD—Totalitarianism is developing fast in this country. Conscription has been accepted by the public after popular opinion had been carefully conditioned on the alarming condition of events and the need of defending this country against Hitler, by radio, by the handing out of gas masks, and the digging of trenches.

What will be the way out in the present scramble to organize power blocs? Prof. Benes recently expressed the belief that out of its present chaos Europe would arrive at some form of confederation. But at the moment the problem is restricted to an effort to prevent an accident or a mistake from developing into a collision between the two power blocs.

In the recent discussion in the London Times a writer designated the possibilities as three: discussion, deadlock, or war.

Deadlock there is now. The alternatives appear to be discussion or war. Again there may be both.

Broadly, the essence of the contemporary position of England, as many people are coming to see it, is England's dependence on the rest of the world.

For Great Britain self-sufficiency, the goal which the axis powers are setting for themselves, or any substantial decrease of dependence on the rest of the world simply cannot be contemplated. It would mean ruin, starvation, or complete reconstruction of the entire way of living and a population cut down by at least half.

Every one in England knows this. It affects the entire British people's view of life. It explains the hold of imperialism on the minds of the ordinary average Briton. It explains the Labor party's difficulty in formulating a socialist policy toward the empire. In power the party would be reduced to acceptance of that contradiction in terms, socialist imperialism.

Many American diplomatic observers abroad are taking the viewpoint that American public opinion is not taking account of this aspect of the situation as it affects Britain or giving due attention to whether it would in any case be possible to continue to maintain the artificial and precarious position of England today.

[Another article on England will appear in The Tribune soon.]

GERMAN FARM CHIEF BOASTS NATION WILL WIN ECONOMIC WAR

LEIPZIG, Germany, June 4.—(AP)—Walter Darre, Nazi agriculture minister, declared in an address opening an annual farm exposition today that Germany faces "an economic encirclement which has to be regarded just as seriously as political encirclement."

He added, however, that the German people need not fear these efforts against Germany because of the favorable development of trade relations with southeastern Europe, the four year plan, and increased farm production since 1934.

Without last year's increased farm production over that for the five year period, 1928-'32, Darre said, approximately $800,000,000 additional would have had to be expended by Germany for food imports in 1938. He said there was a shortage of between 700,000 and 800,000 farm hands, and complained that the birth rate was too low for "the maintenance of the German people."

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

Seeing is Believing!

HERE is today's big news for smokers who want the most for their money in smoking pleasure at its best. Read the convincing comparisons made between cigarettes by a group of prominent scientists. In a leading laboratory, 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were tested impartially with these results:

1 Camels were found to contain MORE TOBACCO BY WEIGHT than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.

2 CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED 25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

3 In the same tests, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER than the average time for all the other brands.

Right now is an ideal time to switch to Camels—AT THE START OF THE SUMMER SEASON, when you're apt to be smoking more. Camel certainly is the cigarette for steady smoking. You'll appreciate its COOLNESS, its COSTLIER TOBACCOS that cost so little per smoke! See how much longer you can enjoy a slow-burning Camel. Note the striking difference in Camel's milder, more delicate taste and fragrance. Try Camels now—America's luxury smoke that every smoker can afford!

SPAIN RELEASES MORE MEN FROM MILITARY SERVICE

400,000 Now Mustered Out of Army of Million.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BURGOS, Spain, June 4.—A new demobilization order today released the 1932 class of conscripts from further army duty. They will be mustered out of the service between June 9 and 16.

The new order brings to about 400,000 the number of men demobilized and leaves roughly 700,000 men under arms.

The navy also took steps to demobilize its excess man power, issuing an order freeing the classes of 1926 to 1930, inclusive. These are the first groups to be freed from naval service.

Further demobilization of the army is expected to continue until the force reaches a strength of 300,000 or 400,000 men.

Set Up Plans for Future.

The framework of the peace time army will allow for rapid and efficient remobilization, it is understood. The proportion of officers and noncommissioned officers will be considerably higher than is actually necessary so there will be a thoroughly seasoned framework for the army if it becomes necessary to put it into the field again.

A simple but efficient system of indexing all the men available will be kept. Full data on each discharged soldier will be kept, so that he may be easily contacted when needed.

Live Up to Promise.

Strenuous efforts are being made to insure absorption of the war veterans into the normal peacetime setup without sudden unemployment problems. Since demobilization began on May 8, the former soldiers have been turned back to civil life at an average of about 10,000 a day.

Former employers are giving the men their old jobs and in all vacancies the fighting men must have preference.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's "labor charter," promulgated in February, 1938, contains the promise that the state will find employment for the men.

Every effort is being made to carry out that promise. Wherever men cannot return to their old jobs they probably will be incorporated, as far as possible, into repairing war damage.

Thousands of former republican [Loyalist] soldiers also are being used in such work, but are paid small salaries. Their families get an additional allowance.

Reorganization of the army when it reaches peacetime strength also is under consideration. A scheme now is being drafted, it is understood, which will provide, roughly, for eight corps composed of three divisions each; a corps for Morocco with one extra division of native troops; two divisions for the Balearic and Canary Islands, and one division for Ifni and Spanish Guinea, African colonies.

COMES THE THIRD TERM.

The grand maneuvers of Mr. Roosevelt and the key men of his revolution, along with the field operations, become plainer to perceive and understand every day. The temporary national economics committee is used for the exposition of ideas. Socialist minded men recently appointed to economic positions in the government publicly examine the financial structure and prospects. They agree that private capital investment has failed, and that there is no hope of its recovery. They agree that the day of free enterprise has passed away. They say that the capitalistic system privately managed cannot make the grade.

This belief was attributed to William O. Douglas when he was SEC chairman. He is now a justice of the Supreme court. It is held by Jerome Frank, the new chairman of the SEC; by A. A. Berle Jr., new assistant secretary of state, experting in finance; by Harry Hopkins, now the secretary of commerce and Mr. Roosevelt's No. 1 man; by Ernest G. Draper of the federal reserve board, and among others by Marriner Eccles, chairman of the board.

Mr. Roosevelt has chosen his staff for their belief in government control of finance and industry and he pays no attention to the ideas or counsel of any one else. His appointments to what he regards as the most important administrative places, as well as his appointments to the Supreme court, reveal the preparations made to carry out a program which has all the needed architectural drawings.

The first steps are indicated in the bills Mr. Roosevelt and his revolutionary staff support and in the practices which the government applies in its regulations of private enterprise. The big private enterprises are to be taxed out of profits and earnings. Some of the big fellows were brought before the national economy committee to admit that they are financially independent. Mr. Frank says that some of them probably must be pulverized. Until a financially independent enterprise is broken up it cannot be brought into the government's financial concentration camp.

With the pretense that small business cannot get money from privately controled capital the administration is pressing for bills which as a preliminary would insure loans and give credit in the reserve banks. Mr. Berle has looked forward to a government business of four billion a year with the expectation that the enterprises getting money would be taken over by the government. Although Mr. Amlie was kept off the staff his views prevail that 75 per cent of the country's enterprise ought to be governmentally managed.

Mr. Morgenthau of the treasury department is a lost child in this whirl of ideas and events. Occasionally he breaks down and says it is all wrong. His chief derides him and double crosses him. Mr. Morgenthau's position is becoming not only uncomfortable but untenable. When he resigns, as he soon must, the job should go to Earl Browder.

Washington already is as collectivist as Moscow. The slogan is: Capitalism and free industry have failed. Socialism and the third term.

CHINA AFTER THE WAR.

A Japanese army estimate of losses in the Chinese war, which still officially retains the lighter character of an incident, acknowledges nearly 60,000 Japanese deaths, without mention of wounded, and puts the Chinese casualties at 2,300,000, accounting for nearly a million dead found on battlefields. This even if ineffective is stout fighting. There is spirit in it. The price the Chinese have paid for resistance to the superior equipment of the Japanese is comparable with the toll which broke the morale of the Russian army in 1917.

Losses alone did not make the Russian ranks insubordinate and unwilling to fight. There was supply deficiency, incompetence in command, and a terrible state of affairs at home. However, it is true that the Chinese in all these respects have suffered still more. Their territory is more deeply penetrated than Russia's even after the treaty of Brest. Their cities and their civilians have known more terror and panic. Whatever may have been the material assistance they received from Russia, of quality and quantity unknown abroad, it has been nothing like the volume of supply sent into Russia by the allies and later by America.

Furthermore disparity in weapons can be much greater now than it was in the world war and Japan has all the advantages. Still the Chinese are fighting on deep in the interior and Japan, although counting its gains, has not won the kind of a peace it wants. China has not wilted. Nor has Japan cracked financially. A fighting nation seldom does. But it is feeling the pinch. The emperor is using a charcoal burning automobile as an example. So the probable end of the incident is remote and the outcome in most respects still speculative. In one respect it may already be definitive.

A nation which can put up such a fight against odds in all but man power cannot be expected, if it should regain sovereignty over its territory, to be as submissive to occidental possessiveness as it has been. If Japan had not interfered the other powers which have exercised overlord rights in Chinese territory would have had their quo warranto questioned. The European was a foreign devil before the Japanese came in. Russia, Germany, Great Britain and France were about to divide the empire just before our Spanish war. If Japan should achieve a peace of Chinese exhaustion the occidentals must expect to have their prerogatives diminished. If China should achieve a peace of Japanese exhaustion the consequences will not be different. If they should have a peace of agreement it will be Asiatic and the occidental will not escape.

Events have so formulated moralities for certain European powers that their position in China has become more than equivocal. It is untenable. Even if they could assert the right by force to maintain a position inconsistent with nonaggression how could the United States without an equally great and less profitable hypocrisy support them? And why should the United States support them? Why should we withdraw from the Philippines and help keep the British in Hongkong, support the international settlement in Shanghai or the French in Tongking?

The melodramatic transit of the fleet prematurely from the Atlantic to its base in the Pacific was received with corresponding melodrama in western Europe. America was given a cheap accolade as the defender of democracy in the Pacific. What has democracy to do with occidental occupation of Chinese territory?

BLOCK BOOKING.

The senate committee on interstate commerce has finally voted on the bill to outlaw the block booking and blind selling of films by the motion picture producers. The vote was favorable. It came only after Senator Neely of West Virginia had delivered a slashing attack upon Senator Barkley, whom he accused of "naked, unblushing and uncomplimentary acts" intended to chloroform the bill. Mr. Barkley, Mr. Roosevelt's "Dear Alben," it was intimated, had been the guest of a movie industry lobbyist at the Kentucky Derby last year and had received a campaign contribution from the movie people in his fight for renomination a few months later. The fact that James Roosevelt, the President's son, has left the insurance business to find a place on Mr. Samuel Goldwyn's pay roll is of record.

Now that the bill has been reported, perhaps a vote will be had upon it at this session, though time is running short. The subject is highly controversial, and, as usually happens in such circumstances, a great many more or less irrelevant claims have been made for and against it.

Where block booking is in vogue a theater owner contracts for a group of films rather than for an individual picture which he may desire to show. This is of advantage to the producers because it provides a market for their less successful productions. To get the popular ones, the theater operators must take the others, too. Blind booking is the kindred practice by which the theater manager contracts for films he hasn't seen and which, in numerous instances, have not even been released for exhibition when the contract is made.

The objection to both block booking and blind booking is that they prevent a theater owner from giving his audience the selection of pictures which he thinks his audience would prefer. Some theater men say that if they were free to select only the films they want to show they would make a lot more money and the public would be far better satisfied. Each community would then get the kind of pictures it preferred. Further than that, independent producing companies would be encouraged to enter the field with fresh ideas in the knowledge that the market was wide open to all comers.

The defense of block booking is the assertion that it gives the public better films. The fly-by-night producer with no great stake in the continuance of his business, is discouraged from attempting to make a killing with an off color picture. On the other hand, the established producer who cannot afford to risk offending any considerable section of the public is secure in the knowledge that even his less popular productions will have a market and can take chances with new themes and faces which might otherwise be rejected as too risky a speculation. Without block booking, it is said, many good films would never have been made and many others would have been cheaply and poorly mounted.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Barkley's and Jimmy Roosevelt's names and activities have confused the question. The problem of block booking has important economic, moral, and esthetic implications which deserve to be examined on their own merits.

FELONS ALL.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Here they are, with the amounts each contributed to the first instalment of the Pendergast-O'Malley slush fund:

Scottish Union & National company	$ 4,000
Hartford Fire Insurance company	10,000
Royal Insurance company	10,000
Continental Insurance company	15,000
Home Insurance company	15,000
Aetna Insurance company	5,000
Great American Insurance company	10,000
National Fire Insurance company	5,000
Phoenix Insurance company	6,500
Commercial Union Assurance company	7,500
Crum & Foster Insurance company	5,000
Travelers Insurance company	2,000
Automobile Insurance company	3,500
Caledonian Insurance company	2,000

Those companies sent this money to their agent, Charles R. Street, to settle the rate war with the state of Missouri.

They may or may not have known whom Street was going to fix, but they knew he had to fix somebody. They provided the "fixin's."

In every one of those companies some executive with the authority to approve this filthy deal sent out the check, or ordered it sent.

That man, whoever he is, is a briber.

They are all bribers.

They are all as guilty as Pendergast and O'Malley, and the morally bankrupt go-between, McCormack.

These insurance executives belong in Leavenworth, cheek by jowl with Pendergast and O'Malley.

That is where they'll go, if Justice does her duty.

These bribers furnished $100,500 of the $440,000 handed over to Pendergast, who passed on a slice of it to O'Malley and McCormack.

Who furnished the remainder?

Whoever they are, they also belong in Leavenworth.

Let the law prove that its arm is long, its courage high, its purpose firm.

Get those bribers.

Felons all, let each and every one of them wear his felon's number.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

AN ACTOR'S PEDIGREE.

With John Barrymore much in our mind, we spent a few minutes of the week-end upon the lore of his family. He is a pedigreed actor with an ancestry that runs back, on his mother's side, to the Georgian period in England. On the Barrymore [Blythe] side, his father was the first actor in the line; but on the Drew side, his theatrical genealogy runs back to Thomas Frederick Lane, English actor, who was born in the late years of the eighteenth century, and Eliza Trenter, English actress.

These were his great-grandparents. Their daughter was Louisa Lane, actress who married three actors and became famous in the annals of the American stage as Mrs. John Drew. Her third husband, John Drew, an Irish comedian, was regarded by the critics of his period as the best in his field since Tyrone Power [grandfather of the current Tyrone Power of the movies.] This clan of Drews has been completely theatrical for four generations.

* * *

Charles Lamb mentions a Barrymore in his essay, "On Some of the Old Actors," but this was William, and no relative of the Herbert Blythe who assumed the Barrymore name. Referring to a Drury Lane program for "Twelfth Night," Lamb wrote: "Orsino, Mr. Barrymore. What a full Shakespearean sound it carries! How fresh to memory arise the image and the manner of the gentle actor!"

There is another Barrymore in the annals of the stage from whom Herbert Blythe may have taken his name. He was only an amateur, but he was also a nobleman. Early in the reign of George III. the earl of Barrymore was famous as a dramatic dilettante.

NYMPH IN SILVER SHOES.

Silver shoes the morning wears,
Silver shoes by wet grass kissed;
Through the gate and down the meadow
Silver shoes trail with the mist.

Willow trees arched green above her,
Stepping stones below;
Silver shoes can never ford it,
Never, never, no!

Morning dallies by the fording
Where the minnows flick and hide;
If she leaves her shoes behind her
Who is there to chide?

Through the willows, newly catkined,
Some one steals and gives no warning—
Finding's keeping, so I'll keep them,
Keep and wear the shoes of morning.

S'Amuser.

Indictment of Tree Murderers.

For three years Chicago and several suburban towns have employed WPA to ruthlessly slaughter the cottonwoods and willows in the parkways between the sidewalk and curb. Thousands of noble specimens have disappeared, leaving the streets curiously naked and forlorn.

Expostulation was met by curt statement that these species were dirty, brittle, and that their extensive root systems often clogged the sewers in their indefatigable search for food and water. This is true. It is also true that the catalpa, ash, silver maple and locust have their faults as city shade trees. But these are quick-growing species, tolerant of adverse conditions.

We who are prairie-bred have a soft spot in our hearts for them. We remember the rustle of the cottonwood announcing a vagrant breeze, and its flying seeds drifting like summer snow; the catalpa "cigars" of boyhood days; the willow whips for slinging mud-balls and playing "horse"; the locust thorns used to pin up the galluses of our overalls. I have a pigheaded aversion for an ash, but I wouldn't cut one down.

The dread Dutch elm disease, and the new elm wilt that is taking such fearful toll in Ohio, may cause the cities and park districts to rue their monotonous plantings of American elm. That stately tree may join the chestnut in the limbo of departed glories. 'Twould be better to cherish our lusty cottonwoods, catalpa, willow, and ash.

WHAT IS SO RARE?

Steep in redundant steaming June,
In green and stirring mystery;
The sun's hot fingers down your back
Crushed berry stains upon one knee.
In sandals splashed with wet cut grass
Stand mute before a morning shrine
Where straws escape the wren's round door
And swirled buds horn the moon-flower vine.
Earth-broken nails for June's true slaves,
Palms burned from hoe and saw and spade—
Profund and dreamless gulfs of sleep
For dévotés of field and glade.

Manna from Heaven in Bath County, Ky.

In our search for American myths we have come across a honey, unheard of outside of Bath county, Ky. On March 31, 1877, a shower of meat and sulphur fell all over Old Man Allen Crouch's farm, on Little Salt Creek, near Olympian Springs. [See the Bath County, Ky., News-Outlook, May 25, 1939, for particulars.]

When the old inhabitants say "a shower of meat" they mean some kind of fleshy matter, unidentified. Showers of fish and frogs, due to local whirlwinds that have caught up water from lakes and pools, are common enough in rural life, but a downfall of meat and sulphur flabbergasts us.

Bath county, Ky., still calls it "The Shower of Meat."

A QUARRY IN THE GALL BLADDER.

SINCE "time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary" gallstones have been known. Discovered in Egyptian mummies, evidence of their occurrence has been forthcoming with every succeeding generation. Cattle and pigs are ready victims, but horses are seldom afflicted since Old Dobbin does not have a gall bladder. If calculi form they will be located in the bile ducts within the liver itself.

Most of us are interested in why these concretions develop. In order that we may have a clear idea of the process it may be well to review the factors involved. Ordinarily, the gall sac in man will hold a little less than two ounces. Its chief job is to concentrate bile from the liver and to dispatch this substance into the intestine as it is needed for digestion. Within twenty-four hours this structure can "condition" about one and one-third pints.

The ideal setting for the formation of these pebbles is provided whenever infection finds its way into the pouch. Bacteria may travel via the blood or the bile, or creep upward along the conduits from the bowel. Curiously enough the inner lining of the receptacle itself seems to extend a kindly invitation to germs. Regardless of the type, organisms flourish in this environment. Thus we find that streptococci, staphylococci, pneumococci, and colon or typhoid bacilli may constitute the nucleus around which solid material may gather. Growing microbes bring on inflammation which interferes with the function of the organ. Hence solids may drop out of solution—a tiny crystal increasing in size as more mineral elements are deposited.

Next in importance is excessive drying. If the reservoir fails to discharge periodically, with the influx of fresh secretion the absorption of water may be so great that salts will be precipitated. This may take place during the course of a high fever or should the patient neglect to drink enough fluid. Physical activity stimulates the emptying of the storage tank while indolence decreases it. Overweight individuals who walk but little, who take no systematic exercise, are likely to possess a sluggish gall bladder—one that is more prone to harbor these lodgers. In addition, if the blood contains a generous amount of a chemical called cholesterol, symptoms may be more pronounced, as a "rock" as large as a hen's egg is frequently made up of this compound.

Many will go through life without discomfort. Some, however, will become aware of this affliction upon the appearance of an acute colic. The reason is that a stone crowds into the neck of the gall bladder and blocks the outlet. The pain—often located in the stomach area—may make its debut after one has gone to bed. At times it may be exceedingly severe. Fortunately, it is likely to cease suddenly, but unless something is done a second seizure will come on sooner or later.

Now, foreign bodies are abhorrent to nature and—wherever they are—an attempt will be made to wall them off or get rid of them. Thus we explain the distress as an effort on the part of the muscle which endeavors to drive the obstruction forward and outward. Contractions may succeed one another and—while small particles may be extruded—those too large to push through the channel will be responsible for succeeding attacks.

Our first consideration, then, is not to create them. To this end it is essential to avoid all unnecessary infections. Furthermore, we can abstain from an excess of foods such as egg yolk, fat meat, and oils. Next is some regular form of calisthenics which will encourage the body to function at par. This means that with the ebb and flow of bile there will be no opportunity for stagnation.

If a quarry is discovered on X-ray examination, but is giving no trouble, it may well be left alone. However, the operative procedure incident to removing the offender is seldom dangerous in skilled hands. If the structure is extirpated certain spaces within the liver will enlarge sufficiently to provide for a reasonable amount of storage. Some of these days we may discover a drug which can be introduced into the circulation to dissolve these dense masses. At the moment our best remedy lies in expert surgery.

WASHING THE HAIR.

G. A. writes: Is washing the hair harmful? Mine becomes brittle and dull after a shampoo. How often should it be done?

REPLY.

The procedure is essential to the health of the scalp. The chances are that you are using irritating materials. Try surgical green soap made from linseed oil or any fatty variety. It may be that your oil glands are inactive. If so, a small quantity of olive oil may be applied following the drying process. Once a week is the average. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on the hair.

MASSAGE TECHNIQUE.

B. G. writes: Where massage is indicated in arthritis, what type of movements should be used?

REPLY.

If possible, this should be done by a skilled operator. Where such assistance is not available, some one in the home may carry out the treatment. In general, stroking and kneading movements are employed. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for details.

AUTOINTOXICATION.

C. V. writes:

1. What is autointoxication?
2. What diet is advised?
3. Are colonic irrigations helpful?

REPLY.

1. Self-poisoning from supposed absorption of waste products from the colon. Many physicians doubt its occurrence.
2. An anti-constipation diet.
3. In rare cases, yes—although the procedure is not recommended routinely.

EXCESS SALIVA.

F. T. writes: I am troubled with excess saliva. I never noticed this before I became pregnant. Is this a common experience? Can anything be done for relief?

REPLY.

This annoying condition is often present during pregnancy. Practice good mouth hygiene. Avoid irritating foods. Cut down on your liquids. If your physician agrees, a small quantity of belladonna may be helpful.

NOT IF COMPLETELY CURED.

H. J. P. writes: Does syphilis ever return later in life if it has been cured?

REPLY.

There is no return after complete cure. Reinfection, however, is possible.

FROM THE NEGRO PHYSICIANS.

Chicago, May 30.—The executive committee of the Cook County Physicians' association, representing 200 Negro physicians, a number of whom belong to the American Medical association, have had read before them your editorial appearing in the May 18 issue of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, re the American Medical association and the Negro.

We are appreciative of the fine American spirit expressed in this editorial which seeks to promote the fellowship and high standard of all physicians regardless of race or color.

We believe the day is coming when all sections of the country will realize that the united participation of all physicians in the scientific activities of the American Medical association will be necessary to the promotion of the general welfare of our citizenry. A united front was never so essential as now to educate the public to the necessity of voluntary health benefits and freedom of creative scientific effort.

The hand of the Negro medical leadership must be strengthened by the support of their white confrères throughout America if we are to establish a free, highly intelligent and capable professional group for all citizens.

Disease knows no color line and the guardians who stand watch against it in all classes must be equally qualified to protect the body politic. They must have access, therefore, to all scientific benefits available through all established agencies for its prevention.

Social implications have retarded the desire of many fine spirited southern white physicians, but we believe that a close analysis of the question will reveal that this can be so subordinated that the scientific objectives of mutual exchange of ideas will predominate and afford the southern Negro physician opportunities previously denied.

The promotion of post-graduate work in Texas, Virginia, Georgia, and North Carolina, where sincere efforts are being made to raise the standard and opportunities of the Negro professionals, affords encouragement to what we hope will be a sentiment that will grow to such proportions as to render the solution of this problem fair and equitable.

It is just such editorials as yours that go far toward breaking down intolerance and appeal to reason and the sense of fair play.

A BILLION A MONTH.

Gary, Ind., May 31.—According to the Bank for International Settlement's estimate the world is spending on an average of 12 billion dollars a year, or $1,000,000,000 a month, on armaments. And a resumé based on incomplete statistics showed the total cost of war implements during 1938 was six times greater than in 1928.

In launching the present armament race the nations have uncorked a jinni that has got entirely beyond their control. An intensified armament program serves as the principal safety valve for the increasing pressure that unemployment brings to bear on the various governments. Were the armament race to end, or even to slacken, the world labor market would be glutted to such an extent that trouble, spelled with a capital T, would result. The armament race cannot, therefore, be slackened; it must be constantly intensified, with war as the inevitable result. This, then, is what rulers and masters in their great wisdom have brought the world to.

SO WHAT?

Chicago, June 1.—Once upon a time saloons kept open all night; barber shops were open on Sundays and some never closed; you could smoke on the street cars, on the elevated trains; dentists worked on Sunday; drug stores, candy, grocery stores did not sell beer or liquors, women did not smoke; every person had a job; eggs were 9 cents a dozen; butter 12 cents a pound; ten pounds of sugar with a dollar order; a welfare worker was unheard of; children were raised correctly, not out of a book. Maybe they died because of lack of medicine, but not of starvation.

Later they closed the saloons at 1 a. m. and on Sundays; stopped smoking on cars. They closed the red light district and dentists and barbers closed on Sundays; beer and liquors are sold in most every store, and women have become the greater smokers. Twelve million out of work. Forty-six per cent of the people are on relief in some districts.

People roam the streets in all sections of the city trying to spend money after 1 a. m., and Mayor Kelly and the aldermen can't find how to raise money for relief or to pay salaries.

SCRAMBLING FOR THE TAXES.

Chicago, June 2.—In its editorial of today entitled "One Death; Two Taxes," THE TRIBUNE excellently presented the situation as it prevails today of taxes and the property owner. For a great many years I have been interested in taxation as a student and taxpayer. In years long gone by the property owner and the tax collector had a controversy. Recently it has come to pass that the property owner has given up the battle, realizing that he no longer has any rights, and the controversy is now among the tax collectors as to their respective shares. Any one who has attended recent tax conferences and has listened to the proceedings should be fully aware of the revolutionary change that has taken place.

KILLING OF THE LANTZ BILL.

Chicago, June 1.—If ever there was fine artsmanship in murder, the killing of the Lantz bill was a masterpiece indeed. Along with its death died the hopes of thousands of union workers who had hoped that the passing of the bill would relieve them of some of the most underhanded methods a free citizen can be subjected to. The big fellows in the high places know well enough what the union racket actually is. The fact that they sanctioned such tactics makes them unworthy of the respect of all. Try again, Mr. Lantz, and more power to you.

WANTS FARMERS TO WAKE UP.

Libertyville, Ill., June 1.—I indorse William D. Grafton's letter of May 30 giving the farmers some good advice on the AAA bribery. Now if they don't heed this warning it will be their hard luck. Farmers, don't think the government is giving you something for nothing. After the fellows at Washington get you in the trap it's just going to be too bad for you.

If you don't want these white shirt fellows to dictate to you about how your farm should be run you should wake up. Hope it won't be too late.

A FARMER.

ANYBODY BEAT THIS RECORD?

Chicago, June 1.—Referring to K. L. S.'s letter in the Voice of the People in which he states, "With as many as three saloons and liquor stores in certain city blocks," I wish to state that the 3900 block on Sheridan road has no less than nine such saloons and liquor stores.

I wonder if any other block in the city can equal or surpass that "record." And that's not counting a half dozen others in the 4000 block and adjoining streets.

TO CLOSE ESTATE.

Chicago, May 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—No effort is being made to close the estate of my late husband, whose death occurred fifteen months ago. This is in North Dakota.

1. Is there something the widow can do to hurry it? The executor employed a lawyer for the estate, but I have no lawyer and was advised it would [2] not be necessary.

3. I was willed some cash payable at death. The will has been probated and the cash certificate has written on the back, "To be paid to my wife upon my death," but was not signed.

4. However, the handwriting has been identified by the judge as that of the deceased.

5. How can I go about getting this cash before the estate is closed?

6. If the estate is not closed within the year, does it cancel a published legal notice saying "all claims must be presented within six months from date"?

7. The judge told me that the widow's exemptions were paid first and that it would not be necessary for me to file any claims. I have been given none of my exemptions and nothing from the estate.

R. M. D.

1. As a first step we suggest that you try writing to the clerk of the court asking him to bring pressure to bear on the executor to close the estate.
2. Ordinarily it is not necessary for the heirs to be separately represented.
3. Despite such wording it is ordinarily regarded necessary to wait until the time for filing of creditors' claims has expired.
4. This would not be enough.
5. It is not likely that you can get your money before the estate is closed.
6. No.
7. If he is willing to talk with you we see no reason why you do not direct your present questions to him. Since he is in touch with the facts, he is in a better position to advise you than we are.

BILLS TO REMEDY ST. CHARLES EVIL IN FINAL STAGES

Legislative Investigators to Finish Drafts Today.

State Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton] will go to Springfield today to complete the drafting of bills to remedy conditions at the St. Charles Training School for Boys. He is the chairman of a legislative committee that investigated the unwalled institution for four months.

Sen. T. P. Gunning.

The committee will meet tomorrow to approve bills it will introduce in the general assembly this week. Although the legislature plans to adjourn June 20, it is expected the committee program can be whipped through in the short time remaining. Gov. Henry Horner said he would support whatever action the committee takes.

Favor New Walled Institution.

Following are the proposals that are regarded as certain of introduction as separate bills:

1. Construction of a new walled institution to confine young criminals apart from dependent and delinquent boys. This would carry a $250,000 appropriation for purchase of land and a portion of the construction costs. It would provide for a commission of fifteen to select the site.

2. Revision of laws so that all juvenile offenders would be committed to the state department of public welfare, which would be given power to classify and assign them to proper institutions.

3. Provision that both the present and the proposed institutions would be known as the Illinois Training School for Boys.

4. Require that courts secure positive proof of age before committing young criminals. Defendants wise in the ways of crime often falsify their ages in order to be sent to St. Charles, where they are sure of lenient treatment and a good chance to escape.

Minority Bills Also Planned.

All of these bills would follow recommendations in the majority report, signed by eight committee members. Bills will also be drafted in line with recommendations made by two minority members, Senators A. L. Marovitz and Peter P. Kielminski, both Chicago Democrats.

These are:

1. Revise the law's broad term "delinquent" to separate and identify three kinds of delinquents: criminal delinquents who are found guilty of felonies; criminally inclined delinquents who had committed misdemeanors; delinquents who have run away from home or who frequent taverns and gambling places.

[illegible] a commission to carry on the investigation of the problems of juvenile delinquency. Appointments would be made by the governor.

Chairman Gunning said he believed a three-way classification of delinquents, as proposed in the minority report, will find favor with the whole committee. Criminal delinquents would be sent to the proposed new walled school, while less troublesome types would continue to be committed to St. Charles school.

Court Jurisdiction Main Issue.

"Our main difficulty in drafting the bills concerns the question of which courts shall be permitted to sentence juvenile offenders," Senator Gunning said. "The majority report recommended that all such cases be handled in the Juvenile court of Cook county and county courts downstate.

"Dewitt Billman, head of the legislative reference bureau, informs me this would be illegal because, basically, the Juvenile court is a branch of the Circuit court and could not do what the Circuit court is prevented from doing."

Senator Marovitz urged that the Juvenile court of Cook county, which is overrun with social workers, be relieved of its jurisdiction over "criminal delinquents"—those charged with armed robbery, burglary, and murder.

Other recommendations—that inmates be finger printed and photographed and that military training be established to teach discipline—will not be incorporated in the bills. These are matters for administrative action by A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare.

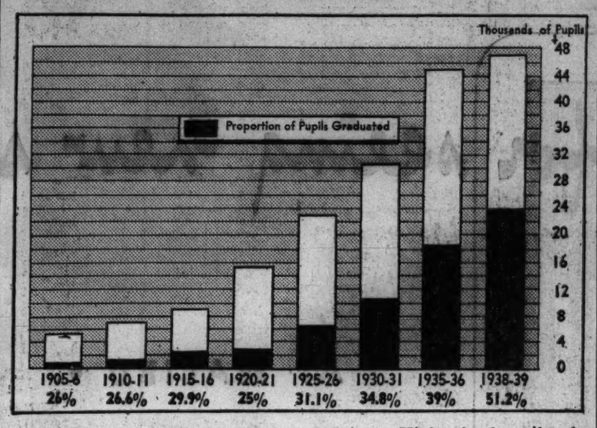
High School Graduations Rise

(Story in adjoining column.)



A steady increase in the number of Chicago High school pupils who remain in school to graduate has been noted. The percentage figures at the base of the diagram refer to the black areas on the bars, which indicate the number out of the total attendance who graduated.

UNINVITED GUEST AT PARTIES GETS A BID FROM COPS

North side residents were warned yesterday to beware the uninvited guest. Lieut. Michael Ahern of the Summerdale station says the uninvited guest, known to police as the party bandit burglar, has stolen purses, coats, and hats from a dozen homes in the last week. He arrives at parties while the guests are having refreshments. Taking advantage of open windows, he crawls into bedrooms where guests have left wraps and purses and takes what he wants. He got $158 and valuable coats and hats from the Sydney W. Hollander apartment at 6320 North Oakley avenue during the week-end and $13, a $75 ring, and $100 worth of furs from the Hugh Channon home at 6140 North Oakley avenue.

SCHOOLS RECORD STEADY INCREASE IN GRADUATIONS

More high school pupils are remaining in school to complete their full four year course than ever before. This is shown by a new compilation of figures by the board of education comparing the record of graduations with the size of freshman classes in the city from 1900 to 1939.

During the week of June 19 Chicago's public high schools will graduate 16,026 pupils. That will bring this year's total of graduates to 24,476, including the February class.

This year's senior class is 51.2 per cent of the freshman class of four years ago. The 1935 graduation class was 39 per cent of its own freshman class. In 1920, 25 per cent of the 1917 freshman class was graduated.

Several Factors Responsible.

The increase in the percentage of pupils graduated from high school is attributed to several things.

One factor is that most employers now require high school diplomas from prospective employés, according to the school board's vocational department. Pupils who want to enter college, or get a job, must have a diploma.

A second reason for the increase is that high school curriculum has changed during the last thirty-nine years. At the start of the century high schools were purely academic. Gradually vocational subjects were brought in until they became a major part of the program.

Fewer Jobs One Reason.

Another reason given for the increase during the last few years is that since the depression there are fewer jobs for young people and they are more inclined to stay in school, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson points out.

In 1909 the compulsory school law required children to stay in school until they were 16 years old. The previous age requirement was 14 years. This increased the senior enrollment.

LAWYER SEIZED IN TAVERN RAID SAYS HE'LL FIGHT

Lieut. John Quinn and a squad from the Chicago avenue station raided a tavern at 69 East Walton street at 2:30 a. m. yesterday. They found twelve customers at the bar and arrested Ernest Lagomarsino, 422 Melrose street, the owner, on a charge of keeping open after hours.

Lieut. Quinn ordered the patrons to leave, but one refused. He was Errett O. Graham, 2626 Stewart avenue, Evanston. He asked to see Lieut. Quinn's warant. Quinn had none. "Then you can't make the arrest," he said.

But the lieutenant did anyhow and he also arrested Graham when the latter insisted on getting into the patrol wagon with Lagomarsino. "I'll carry this to the highest court," threatened Graham. And maybe he will, for six years ago he appealed a $5 fine imposed upon him on a speeding charge by a justice of the peace and won an acquittal. His appeal cost the state courts $250.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Your Rate Is Ours Too

By public declaration of policy the Illinois Central System has established three goals of satisfaction to be reached by the charges which it must collect for its work.

In brief, Illinois Central rates must be low enough, high enough, right: low enough for our patrons, so as to stimulate the flow of commerce; high enough for us, so as to cover the necessary costs of operation; right for both sides, so as to be truly fair and reasonable.

Rates must be viewed in the mass and individually—in the mass for their effect on the railroad, individually for their effect on the patron. To be jointly fair and reasonable they must enable the railroad and the patron alike to continue as going business enterprises.

It is proper in rate-making to consider the factors of bulk, value, mileage, traffic volume and so on, but in the long run the rate that benefits both the buyer and the seller of transportation is a good rate. It is your rate and our rate and therefore a fair and reasonable rate.

13 HURT AS AUTO UPSETS HAYRACK WITH GAY PARTY

Hold Intoxicated Driver in Bridewell Hospital.

Twenty-four young men and women were catapulted to the pavement early yesterday when an automobile crashed into the rear of a gay hayrack party on Cumberland road, between Higgins road and Devon avenue, south of Park Ridge. Four were seriously injured and nine were given first aid.

Reginald Albert, 29 years old, 835 Forest avenue, Oak Park, driver of the car, was taken to the Bridewell hospital. State Highway Policemen Herman Wolff and Daniel Levy charged him with reckless driving. Policeman Wolff said that a Park Ridge physician examined Albert and certified he was intoxicated.

Three Others in Hospitals.

The others remaining in hospitals were Miss Beverly Asher, 20, of 4452 Lexington street, who is at the Illinois Masonic hospital; Miss Hermine Gluck, 22, of 5200 Sheridan road, and Max Diamond, 21, of 3218 Carmen avenue, who are at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital.

The hayrack party, given by the Junior guild of the Lawndale synagogue, was returning from an evening of dancing in a forest preserve pavilion. Leonard Palmer, driver of the hayrack, said his wagon was protected by a fog light illuminating the horses, red lanterns, a man with a flashlight on the rear, and an automobile following behind at 100 feet to guard against unwary motorists.

Witnesses said Albert cut in front of the convoying automobile and smashed headlong into the wagon, overturning it. Albert said he did not see the warning lights.

Girl, 9, Fatally Hurt by Car.

Joseph Harbach, 60 years old, was killed yesterday when his car collided with that of Edward Hardman, 23, of 503 North Laramie avenue. Harbach's wife, Kate, was taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium. Harbach lived at 2518 South 55th court, Cicero. The collision was at 55th court and Willow Springs road, near Western Springs.

Lillian Eddelman, 9 years old, of 1451 School street, died in Ravenswood hospital last night after being hit by an automobile in Lake Zurich, Lake county. The child had just arrived at the resort with her parents. She ran from behind her father's car into the path of a southbound automobile driven by Carrington Clark, 771 Green Bay road, Lake Forest. Her chest was crushed and a leg broken.

Woman, 72, Dies After Crash.

Mrs. Elizabeth Markus, 72, 14647 Turner avenue, Midlothian, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, of injuries received May 27 when an automobile driven by her husband, Herman, 70, collided with that of Kenneth L. Du Bois of Fawnskin, Cal. The accident happened at 159th street and Kedzie avenue, Oak Forest.

Richard Davis, 12, 1146 North Franklin street, died yesterday in Henrotin hospital of injuries received Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile near his home. The driver was Mrs. Rae N. Laurie, 40, 544 South Wells street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 353 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 277 were killed in Chicago, where 8,363 were injured in the same period.

DOCTOR RECOMMENDS SNIFTER OF OXYGEN AS MORNING-AFTER TONIC

Are you ever troubled—after an alcoholic frolic—by a swarm of dwarfs beating the inside of your skull with iron mallets? Dr. Arnold D. Tuttle said yesterday that his studies indicate that pure oxygen and exercise will fix you up.

Dr. Tuttle, head of the United Air Lines medical department and a former army officer, discovered the benefits of oxygen while administering it to plane passengers who suffered discomfort at high altitudes. He said that travelers with hang-overs suffered most.

"The hang-over is characterized by a pronounced want of oxygen," said Dr. Tuttle. "Oxygen mixtures, in which helium was used in some cases, have been tried. Not used to excess, it seems logical that pure oxygen is the antidote for too much alcohol. This opens the way to drug stores establishing oxygen bars for the treatment of hang-overs."

Auction of Unclaimed Mail Parcels Begins Tomorrow

The annual postoffice auction of unclaimed merchandise will be held tomorrow and Wednesday on the ninth floor of the new postoffice building, Canal and Van Buren streets. Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said there are approximately nine hundred lots of merchandise, including dry goods, clothing, groceries, drugs, automobile parts, jewelry, books, and other articles.

10,000 FURNITURE BUYERS HERE FOR FURNISHING SHOW

Ten thousand furniture buyers from all sections of the country began arriving in Chicago yesterday for the semi-annual home furnishings markets which open today in the Merchandise Mart and the American Furniture Mart. Both markets continue through June 17.

In furniture, less bleached wood is being shown than in former years. Instead, a warm cocoa and pinkish casts, called "sunset hues," are being introduced. A new furniture style, known as contemporary French, is being shown in as much profusion as Swedish modern. This has the contours of Louis XV. furniture, but the gilt is lacking; the wood is natural or bleached.

Many compact pieces have been designed for apartment use. A combination bookcase, bed and desk is shown at the Furniture Mart. A full length mirror that slips behind a wardrobe when not in use vies for attention at the Merchandise Mart with a table that opens from a wisp of wood into a full sized dining room table.

FIREBOAT BUSSE THROWS STREAM 450 FEET IN TEST

The fireboat Fred A. Busse was tested in the Chicago river at Madison street yesterday by officials of the fire department and the Chicago board of underwriters while several thousand persons looked on. The boat, which is the most modern of its type, has been in service two years.

Under the handling of Capt. William McMahon the boat threw a stream of water from the Madison street bridge to the Washington street bridge, a distance of about 450 feet. The stream was thrown from a nozzle three inches in diameter at the rate of 3,800 gallons a minute.

The boat can pump 10,000 gallons of water a minute through sixteen streams.

MARTIN UNION VOTES RETURN TO A. F. L. FOLD

Detroit, Mich., June 4.—(AP)—Headquarters of Homer Martin's independent United Automobile Workers union announced today its union membership had voted overwhelmingly to reaffiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

The office said tabulation of a recently completed membership poll showed 70,354 votes cast, 66,768 in favor of reaffiliation with the A. F. of L. and 3,370 opposed.

Martin, president of the independent U. A. W., immediately wired William F. Green, head of the A. F. of L., requesting a conference in Washington Tuesday "for the purpose of confirming our reaffiliation and receiving our charter of affiliation."

The U. A. W. withdrew from the A. F. of L. and joined the Congress of Industrial organization following a U. A. W. convention in South Bend, Ind., in 1936. Last year Martin split with his executive board and set up his faction as an independent union at a convention here last March. His opponents remained with the C. I. O.

Both Martin's independent U. A. W. and the C. I. O.-U. A. W. are currently engaged in a court fight for designation as the "official" United Automobile Workers union.

Bartlesville Boys Crowned Champ BarberShop Quartet

Tulsa, Okla., June 4.—[Special.]—The "Four Bar Flies" from Bartlesville, Okla., now can claim the title of world's champion barbershop quartet. They defeated foursomes from sixteen other cities last night in a tournament sponsored by the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. The Bartlesville boys, who dress as waiters of the Gay Nineties, are George McCaslin, tenor; Harry Hall, lead; Bob Durand, baritone, and Herman Kaiser, bass.

Bright, Breezy Sabbath Lures Thousands Outdoors

Chicago swarmed out of doors yesterday, drawn by a sun that was bright, but not too hot, and gentle breezes. Beaches, parks, and zoos attracted thousands. Motorists on the outer drive insisted they could see the Michigan shore across the waters of Lake Michigan. Today will be generally fair and warmer.

SOMETHING YOU'RE ENTITLED TO KNOW!

YOU ARE ENTITLED to know what other people think of the car you plan to buy—because owners' opinions are the surest, safest source of information. Well—almost half the people who try a LaSalle—buy it immediately! Performance, of course, is largely responsible. LaSalle's Cadillac V-8 engine does everything better. But superb comfort, and handling ease play a part, too. Remember—don't buy any car until you drive a LaSalle.

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS

With separate departments for men and women, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the medical tests which the law requires every couple to have before a marriage license can be obtained. A thorough physical examination, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs $3.00 per person. Those examined before 2 P.M. (at 159 or 169 N. Dearborn St.) can have certificates same day.

BAD LUCK

is sure to follow the neglect of gonorrhea or syphilis. If you know or suspect you are infected, see a doctor or this clinic—at once!

MANY a man who would never think of walking under a ladder, or letting a black cat cross his path, will deliberately neglect a venereal infection. And thus invite such really bad luck as insanity, blindness, paralysis or an early death!

Therefore, don't risk losing your health and job by neglecting a venereal disease or attempting to treat it yourself. Self medication is especially dangerous because it may cause you to think you are cured while germs still abound in your system! Only a physician, with his scientific tests of cure, can determine if you are free from infection.

Unless you are certain of a cure, some very disastrous consequences are likely to occur. Syphilis, for example, may lead to heart disease, blindness, deafness, paralysis or even insanity, and gonorrhea to a sight-destroying eye infection, sterility, stricture, crippling arthritis, or serious prostate, bladder, kidney and other troubles! Furthermore, syphilis is an outstanding cause of dead, deformed and feeble-minded babies, while gonorrhea often condemns women to mutilating operations that make having children impossible!

Obtain proof of cure!

Thus you can see how vitally important it is to have reliable medical treatment, followed by dependable tests of cure. For only in this way can you be sure that you are completely well! Such treatment and tests can be had from any competent private doctor, or you can get them inexpensively at the Public Health Institute.

The physicians of the Public Health Institute are unusually thorough in their tests of cure. No patient is given a clean bill of health until repeated laboratory tests and physical examinations have been made. Hence any person discharged as cured by the Institute can be sure that he or she is no longer infectious!

The Public Health Institute has been specializing in gonorrhea and syphilis for almost 20 years. During that time it has given over 5,000,000 examinations and treatments—your assurance of experienced medical attention!

No one refused aid!

Because the Public Health Institute was organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, it is able to provide reliable venereal disease treatment at charges to fit the smallest income. The cost of a physical examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including blood tests, urinalysis and gonorrheal smears, is surprisingly moderate, while individual treatments are available at fees so low that any employed person can readily pay them.

Nor does the Public Health Institute stop there in its efforts to make dependable venereal disease treatment available to the entire community. Even persons who are temporarily short of money can make arrangements to be cared for!

Fight Wild Mustard Pest

June 4, 1939.

THERE is a lot of wild mustard on the farm this year. Yellow blossoms of the plants have been thick in meadows for more than a month. There are a few scattered plants in some of the fields of small grains and in pastures. It is worst in the clover and alfalfa meadows.

Wild mustard has been spreading rapidly at the Du Page county farm in recent years. It has become one of the most common weeds on the place. Workers are trying to figure out how best to control it. About the only sure way they have found to get rid of it is to pull each plant before seeds form. This can be done when there are only a few plants, but it becomes quite a task when they are spread all over large fields.

Try Mowing Before Seeding.

The men have tried mowing the plants before the seeds mature. This can be done successfully in pastures, but not in meadows or grain fields. The mustard plants usually go to seed before the meadows or small grains are ready to cut.

Pasturing with sheep helps to keep the pest under control. Recently when ewes and lambs were turned into some lanes and driveways to clean up grass and weeds they ate the wild mustard plants to the ground. Only a few mustard plants came up in fields last spring that had been pastured with sheep the previous fall.

There are two kinds of wild mustard at the farm—the ordinary annual variety and a perennial commonly called winter cress or yellow rocket. They are similar in appearance, but the winter cress blooms earlier in the spring, usually about the middle of April. The annual starts blooming in May.

May Have Come from Europe.

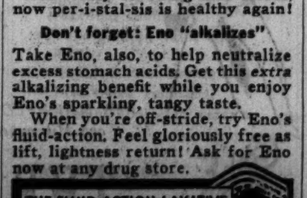
Leaves of winter cress often are used as a winter and spring salad. The plant is widely cultivated for this purpose in Europe. Seeds of this plant are thought to have come originally from Europe as an impurity in clover seed. It has spread over most of central and southwestern states.

Seeds of all kinds of wild mustard have been scattered about the country in improperly cleaned clover and alfalfa seeds, since they are similar in size and weight.

Mustard spreads rapidly when allowed to form seeds. Although the seeds are fairly large, a single plant may have 2,500 mature seeds. When the seeds are plowed under they may live in the soil for many years and still sprout when brought to the surface.

The plants grow large and bushy. When they grow thick in a field they seriously crowd the crop plants, competing with them for moisture and plant food. Wild mustard is classed as a noxious weed in some states.

Spraying with a solution of iron sulphate is said to be effective for destroying thick patches of mustard. The sulphate is used at the rate of 100 pounds to a barrel of water.



You've hit your inner stride

....when you regain healthy per-i-stal-sis

You plunge into work and play at top form...there's lift to your step ...when you hit your inner stride!

That inner stride starts with a rhythmic motion inside. The name for it is per-i-stal-sis. When it's healthy, the intestines contract... expand...contract...as steady as your heart beat. When it slows down, you know something's wrong. You feel constipated, heavy.

Then you can't afford to take chances. You want a thorough flushing-out, and you want it quick ...to clear the way for healthy per-i-stal-sis. That's the time for Eno!

What fluid-action does

You need extra fluid in the intestines. Eno brings it from other parts of the body. Eno gives mild stimulation. Clogged wastes are effectively cleared away by Eno's stimulation...by its fluid-action.

How easy to swing into stride, now per-i-stal-sis is healthy again!

Don't forget: Eno "alkalizes"

Take Eno, also, to help neutralize excess stomach acids. Get this extra alkalizing benefit while you enjoy Eno's sparkling, tangy taste.

When you're off-stride, try Eno's fluid-action. Feel gloriously free as lift, lightness return! Ask for Eno now at any drug store.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We do hate to see a small child with her hair dressed in too adult a fashion, and our pet peeve of all is the very "set" looking finger wave. But the right kind of a permanent wave can do a great deal to make the growing girl a little more attractive.

We recently saw a couple of 13 year olds transformed by the simple trick of having an end permanent. The hair doesn't look waved, but it does have a soft curliness that is softening to the young face. And the "body" that a permanent gives the limp hair ends makes the hair much easier to take care of and keeps it looking presentable for weeks.

Some of the nicest hairdresses for school girls are the long bobs with no wave at all on the crown. If a fringe is becoming the front hair can be softly waved as well as the ends in back.

The old idea that a permanent will injure a child's hair is a mistaken one. The hair is usually healthy and the present day methods of waving do not take much toll of natural oil.

Roussel Piano Concerto Given 1st Time in U. S.

Walter Steindel, well known for his leadership of the Chicago Singverein and for his conducting of many summer concerts in Grant park, was in charge of yesterday's Illinois Symphony orchestra concert at the Great Northern theater. The program included one novelty, Albert Roussel's piano concerto, heard for the first time in America, with Florence Henline playing the solo part. Richard Wagner's Symphony in C Major was revived after a silence of twenty-eight years. Other items on the program were such staples as Wagner's "A Faust Overture," Saint-Saëns' "The Spinning Wheel of Omphale," and Henry Hadley's "Herod" overture.

The Roussel concerto has waited twelve years for an American performance. It is in three movements, of which the first and last are in the strongly syncopated, vigorously rhythmic, dissonant style with which we have become acquainted in other works written by the French composer toward the end of his life.

The middle movement, in slow tempo, while also dissonant in harmony, becomes almost romantic in the long, emotionalized melodic lines developed both by the piano and by such solo instruments as the English horn and the trumpet. While the concerto is not one of Roussel's most imposing works, it was worth doing, and deserves to be heard again.

Miss Henline had a clear conception of the sense of the music, and a good technical basis upon which to build her interpretation. In big moments, however, she lacked the physical strength to project what seemed to be her intention. Mr. Steindel I felt to be less at home in Roussel's idiom, tending to treat the composer's crisply unyielding rhythmic figures with an undue degree of sententious liberty.

Feeling much more at home, Mr. Steindel gave an excellent account of the funny little Wagner symphony, written when the composer was only 19 and fully in the shadow of Beethoven's genius. Whatever interest the work has must, however, be conceded to be purely historical and not of much stimulus to the casual concertgoer.

Joseph Cole, Negro baritone from Detroit, sang in the Auditorium Recital hall. In the two years since I last heard him his voice has broadened out gratifyingly and taken on a great deal of tonal beauty it did not have before. He is now on the high road to success, for he has evidently found a good teacher, who is in process of opening his tone and focussing it, and of providing a good groundwork for what will some day become highly satisfying artistry.

The singing of Walter Sobania in Kimball hall showed him to be not ready for public appearance. His production is throaty; his high notes are below the pitch; he descends from his upper tones by drooping from them; and, all in all, the psychological effect is doleful. With as good vocal material at hand as Mr. Sobania has, but cannot use, why does not his teacher keep him in the studio until he is ready to venture out with credit?

For Housework and Gardening

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Your housework and gardening will be more pleasant this summer if you have comfortable clothes to wear for the task at hand. True, there are attractive slacks and overall ensembles for the feminine gardener, but most of us have neither the figure nor the talent to get out in such outfits! So we designed a simple, yet dressy, frock that flatters and is dainty.

It's wonderfully simple to make. The front and back each is one separate piece, and the side seams and shoulders are all that need be joined. The neckline is a simple collarless affair that may be cut to suit your fancy. It and the brief kimono sleeves and twin pockets may be trimmed with rickrack braid, and an applique may be used at the neckline and on the pockets, too. It is easy to make with embroidery pattern No. E-700, available for 10 cents extra.

There is a belt which comes from around the back and slips through notches to tie in a graceful bow at the front.

All types of silk [washable, of course], linens, and cottons will make up well. Floral prints are especially wise choices.

Style No. 2768 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Juarez" is a great movie, greatly played.

So far as acting goes, it's virtually anybody's picture. Muni, in the title rôle, was never finer—which is being pretty fine! Brian Aherne—perhaps it IS his picture—certainly it puts him in line for an Academy award—gives an unforgettable portrait of the ill starred Maximilian.

Bette Davis, well no one COULD have played the unhappy Carlotta more appealingly than she does, but I have liked her better in other rôles. As for John Garfield as the loyal Mexican general, Diaz; Joseph Calleia as the traitor, Uradi, and everybody else in the cast—superb!

This photoplay, eighth of the Warner Brothers' historical presentations, combines pageantry, politics, personalities in a deep hued tapestry, thrown against the lurid background of Europe and Mexico of the '60s.

Then Napoleon III. sent Maximilian of Hapsburg, who believed himself to be the choice of the Mexican people [fraudulently forced to vote for him] to make Mexico an empire. But in name only. In reality Napoleon meant it to be a vassal state of France.

The royal dupe, a king at heart and in appearance as well as of royal lineage—a "golden god" of a man—comes to Mexico with his slim, dark, adoring wife, Carlotta, bent on making his new "empire" a place of peace and happiness. He discovers that the hearts of the people are with their deposed Indian president, Benito Juarez, who, with his cabinet, has fled north, but who still issues orders and carries on relentless guerrilla warfare against French troops sent over by Napoleon to protect the person and throne of Maximilian.

The emperor and his beautiful but sterile wife endeavor ceaselessly to win the love and trust of the Mexicans, finally adopting a child of the people, who, they promise, one day shall govern them.

But Juarez retains his power over the subjects.

Tempestuously the war rages until scores are settled with the life of Maximilian and the sanity of Carlotta and the blood of thousands has watered Mexican soil.

"Juarez" is an awfully long picture, but it's also a mighty engrossing and highly intelligent offering.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Hollywood, Cal., June 4.—As a result of his magnificent portrayal in "Young Mr. Lincoln," Henry Fonda is the No. 1 candidate for the lead in "Grapes of Wrath." What about Lew Ayres for the younger brother? . . . Viking jitterbugs: Sonja Henie and Lee Bowman. . . . Madge Evans will become Mrs. Sidney Kingsley this month, but she will not play the lead in Kingsley's "The Outward Room. She says it might strain honeymoon relations too severely if the success of her hubby's play depended upon her. . . . Kay Francis showing Hollywood to Louis Bromfield. . . . Bob Riskin washes up his deal with Goldwyn next month. . . . Jean Parker who denied this column's note that she and her hubby were parting, admits now that she fibbed. . . . That was the Fairbanks girl with Reggie Gardiner. . . . Fannie Brice's daughter Frances and Jerry Wald a twosome. . . . Merle Oberon assured Hollywood pals that she definitly would not wed Alex Korda [they were hitched Saturday]. . . . The Wayne Morris baby will be a December arrival.

Biggest box office grossers of the year will be three horse operas: "Dodge City," "Union Pacific," and "Jesse James," which give you the lowdown on movie fan preferences. Business throughout the country continues to be wretched, and the $82,000 gate for the Nova-Baer fight was another straw in the wind as to conditions. The Louis-Roper fight out here grossed $6,000 more than the New York heavyweight brawl. . . . Mary Lou Dix, the Pittsburgh pretty with Robert Riskin at the races. . . . Mary Healy and Edgar Bergen still at it. . . . Mervyn Le Roy, with "Wizard of Oz" sliced down to 2,000 feet, reports that Bert Lahr and Judy Garland do a pretty good job of stealing the flicker. M.-G.-M., which has been pleading with Mervyn to direct some pictures in addition to his production duties, will get an affirmative answer. Le Roy will direct at least one a year. . . . The Harry Dornans [of the Jack Haley clan] will call it a Day, which is too darned bad.

Paul Muni is urging Warner's to let John Garfield do the Lon Chaney rôle in "Hunchback of Notre Dame." Luther Adler and Richard Whorf are being tested currently. . . . Spencer Tracy has lost interest in his polo ponies; he feels that with so much distress in the land movie stars ought to cross such luxuries off the list . . . Marcel Lamaze is angling for Eddy Duchin's band to follow Helen Morgan. . . . . Bette Davis and George Brent cooing.

Aside to Fredric March: Town buzzing with reports that Sir Stork is heading to your house. . . . Looks like old times to see Peggy Fears and A. C. Blumenthal beaming at each other. . . . Connie Bennett and Gilbert Roland chopping up a tango. . . . Clark Gable and Carole Lombard plan to adopt a baby boy. . . . Jimmy Roosevelt and the motion picture relief fund will ask the movie producers to contribute $100,000 per year to help relieve the permanent relief cases within the industry. . . . The Donald Novis stork will come in on the July beam. . . . "Man of Conquest" has sharpened demand for Richard Dix. . . . He may get the lead in Zanuck's "Frontier Marshal." . . . It appears now that Randy Scott, slated for the lead, will be tied up too long at Columbia. . . . Eddie Cantor's week at Loew's State will test the Broadway slump, as he figures to do above $40,000. . . . That gorgeous bathing suited blonde in the Fox fashion newsreel is Vera Devine of the Paradise choir. As a result of her newsreel appearances, three studios are interested in her. . . . Ken Murray and Andrea Leeds back at the old woo-woo stand.

Rochester announced his wedding thusly to Jack Benny: "The queen finally capitulated, Mr. B." . . . Mary Rogers with Eddie Grainger. . . . Alma Lloyd, daughter of the famous director, tells pals that her heart is in the east, which is bad news to locals. . . . Alice Brady will come pretty close again to the academy supporting award as a result of her courtroom projection in "Young Mr. Lincoln." . . . No actress of our generation can do so much with her voice as The Brady. She really tears you apart.

Only actor left in Hollywood who knows how to make a good, old fashioned entrance is lanky John Carradine. He has a second hand Deusenberg landau, glittering with chromium, and his chauffeur drives up to a theater, brakes shrieking. Out steps Carradine, immaculate in topper and tails, an ebony stick balanced gracefully in his right hand, and a gorgeous cape across his shoulders. Flinging back the cape gracefully, and leaning on the cane, Carradine poses for the photographers with a look of well bred boredom on his kisser. What this old world needs is color: He's got it.

Margaret Wycherly a Perfect Performer in "The 13th Chair"

BY CECIL SMITH.

Laying aside for the moment all impulse to assess the present audience value of "The Thirteenth Chair," it is an unalloyed pleasure to welcome Margaret Wycherly back to the Chicago stage after an absence of nine years. For Miss Wycherly is a performer in whose quietly perfect craft it is possible to take a special joy.

As Rosalie La Grange, the medium who is unfortunate enough to be the central figure of a seance in which a murder occurs, she takes her part for granted as one deserving of her best attention. Employing a flawless Irish brogue, she plays the medium simply and candidly, with many a ray of humor and with a quiet command that keeps her audience intent upon every word. Here at the beginning of summer Miss Wycherly offers us one of the year's most spotless performances and one of its most individual characterizations.

I wish it were possible to lapse into some sort of trance and place "The Thirteenth Chair" itself upon a plane of interest comparable to Miss Wycherly's special contribution to it. But the play is twenty-three years old. Now twenty-three years is no great span in the history of drama, but it is a long while in the development of the modern American stage, and it is life, death, and burial to all but the hardiest of spook dramas. In 1916, when "The Thirteenth Chair" was first produced, the Washington Square players were just beginning to think about forming the Theater Guild. The pulse of the American theater beat much slower. Audiences were willing to attend to plays that were thinner and more obvious than those we demand today.

"The Thirteenth Chair" was a smash in 1916. Today it is not dead, but it is clearly ailing. Only the tolerant will overlook its crawling pace, its bumbling dialog, and its poverty of incident. Those who saw such pieces as "The Bat," "Subway Express," and "The Last Warning" will not be greatly chilled. And the movies are constantly doing much better still.

Without quite such a plum of a rôle as he had in "Petticoat Fever," Donald Brian manages to be ingratiating without having a chance to become significant. Leo Curley is good as the eternal inspector. The author intended the other characters to be sticks.

Still I think "The Thirteenth Chair" is worth seeing, at its modest admission price. For Margaret Wycherly is not with us often, and she is too outstanding to miss.

Tonight John Barrymore, recovered from his illness, resumes his performance in "My Dear Children" at the Selwyn theater, and "One for the Money," a musical revue fresh from New York, opens an engagement at the Harris.

Plan Women Voters' Program at Board Meeting Wednesday

Illinois' part in the League of Women Voters' national expansion program will be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank P. Hixon in Lake Forest. The league this summer will launch a drive for funds and members on a nation-wide scale.

The board also will consider a mandate from the recent state convention to choose from among five projects a program for emphasis in the state during the year ahead. These projects include a petition for the city manager form of government, jury schools, government personnel, budgets and taxation, and a new constitution for Illinois. Mrs. George G. Bogert, state president, will conduct the meeting.

De Diego's Departure.

Julio de Diego, Spanish born artist who has been living and painting in Chicago since 1927, has been scanning the steamship lists, seeking word of a little freighter skippered by a friend he knew in Spain. The vessel is expected to make a port on the eastern seaboard soon and to take on a cargo for the South seas. When she weighs anchor, De Diego and his artist wife, Maxine, will be aboard. The Samoan palms, mountains, and lush tropical villages that beckoned Paul Gauguin when he fled to a new life now beckon to De Diego.

* *

Some two hundred paintings, De Diego's lifetime collection of work, done here in Chicago and in his Paris studio, will fall under the hammer Wednesday evening at the Artists' union gallery at 205 East Superior street. Cash from the auction will be the grub stake of the De Diegos for the trip to the Samoan islands. As an officer on leave from the Spanish army in 1919, De Diego directed the first six reel motion picture ever produced in Spain. He also played in Spanish pictures. After receiving a scholarship from the University of Madrid, from which he was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree, De Diego came to America. He is represented in the permanent collections of the Art institute of Chicago and of the Calcografia Nacional of Madrid. Speaking of the auction of his paintings and his imminent departure, the dark skinned, green eyed painter expressed himself as being "weary of the meaningless gestures of western civilization."

Room of Recent Accessions.

Speaking of art and artists, three pieces of modern sculpture are included in the showing in the room of recent accessions near the front door of the Chicago Art institute. One of them is the head of Katharine Cornell, by Guitou Knoop, which we saw last half finished in the New York studio where Miss Cornell came to pose for the French sculptress. Another piece is the door showing scenes from the life of St. Francis, by Alfo Faggi, a gift of Mrs. Frank R. Lillie, and the third a bronze head by Stuart Benson, American.

* *

Not yet on display anywhere, but a piece of sculpture to which much interest is attached, is the head Maude Phelps Hutchins recently did of Miss Gertrude Lawrence.

Busy, Thrilling Season Planned by Yacht Clubs

BY JUDITH CASS.

A SURVEY of yachting activities for the summer indicates that the sailing widow will be only slightly less numerous than the golfing widow, and that the former will have a much gayer time. Watching a golfing husband enjoy his favorite sport is somewhat tiring and hard on the feet, but what fun and excitement there is—and comfort and relaxation, too—following sailing races in a speedy motor boat.

Women are not permitted on most golf courses over week-ends, but there is no ban on women at the yacht clubs at any time. Some serve as crew for their husbands in the races, and many do their fair share to keep the yachts in shining order.

The Chicago Yacht club has started a vigorous campaign to entertain its sailing and nonsailing wives and to provide a happy club life even for nonsailing couples. Up at Lake Geneva the yacht club is starting a school for its junior associates, which will open about June 15, when most of the summer families and their children will be at the lake.

Herbert Taylor Named Lake Geneva Instructor.

Herbert Taylor, a yachtsman of considerable reputation at Lake Geneva and a summer resident at the Elgin club on the lake for many years, has been engaged as the sailing and swimming instructor. There will be two classes—one for beginners, the other for advanced pupils, Harold R. Hough, commodore of the Lake Geneva Yacht club, has announced.

Lake Geneva will be the setting for the annual "Cub" regatta sponsored by the Inland Lakes Yachting association. The dates have been set for July 26, 27, and 28. On Aug. 2, 3, and 4 an invitational regatta for class C boats will be held at Delavan lake.

The Mendota Yacht club is sponsoring an invitational regatta for class E boats on Aug. 15, 16, and 17. The annual Inland Lakes Yachting association regatta will be held at Lake Minnetonka Aug. 21 to 25, with headquarters at Wayzata, Minn.

The new sailing rules as issued by the association were adopted recently by the Lake Geneva Yacht club, to be effective July 4. The delay will give the members an opportunity to make the required changes in boats and sails.

Yachtsmen from Wisconsin to Attend Frostbite Ball.

Members of the Milwaukee, Racine, Lake Geneva, and other yacht clubs are making plans to attend a Frostbite ball at the Chicago Yacht club's Monroe street station next Saturday night. Proceeds from the party will go toward a new "crash" boat, a motor boat that goes to the rescue of any Frostbiter who is upset in a race. Frostbiters are those hardy sailors who race dinghys in the early spring and late fall as long as the lake is not frozen over.

The station, at the foot of Monroe street, was opened at noon on Saturday with the firing of a cannon and the hoisting of the colors. The station has a new outdoor dance floor, on which next Saturday's party will be held, weather permitting. Commodore Karl Nibecker of the club and Mrs. Nibecker are giving a buffet supper party on their Diesel yacht, the Reality, immediately before the ball.

The party will be an informal one, with sailing clothes in order. Many guests will taxi down from the Belmont harbor clubhouse in dingnys. There will be a buffet supper for new members on Thursday night in the Belmont clubhouse.

A new tumlaren owner in the Belmont harbor is Richard Whitney, who recently moved to Chicago with his wife and daughter. A tumlaren is a

Shoppers Choosing Black Sheer Outwit the Heat and Humidity

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Heat waves and humidity hold no terror for the smart shopper who knows the cool comfort of a black sheer. Designed expressly for town wear or for summer dress parade occasions, the current showings are record breakers.

Such filmy stuff as fine, slightly stiffened organza is tucked horizontally in one black beauty. The dress is one of the bell skirted affairs with the flare of the skirt accentuating the neat, small waistline. Short, moderately puffed sleeves and a transparent yoke make it dress parade. A jaunty short bolero, also of the tucked black, makes it a suave costume.

Self-ribbed net makes some swanky street outfits. The long coat and matching dress of fluttery cool chiffon are other good street outfits. Plaited skirts make the best of the softly tailored suits; the fitted jackets have either short or long sleeves.

Marquisette is a summer time success because it will not cling to the flesh. Black marquisette is used for simple one piece dresses and for ensembles. Try pale beige costume accessories with these summer blacks if you crave a new contrast—the newest pale beige tint called bamboo beige, the exact shade of the bamboo furniture. Gloves, piqué bows, belts, hats, and bags will be found in this delicate shade. As an alternate for dead white, it is this season's most subtle success.

Silk shantung is a new summer black to use if you're not sold on black linen dresses. This shantung is thin, has a fascinating dull texture, and is surprisingly cool. Added to all that, it is opaque and a petticoat or slip is not required. Neat, slim sheaths of this shantung or the more feminine models with tiered skirts are new and different. Worn as is or cooled with whiffs of white organdy, they're sensational finds as a basic dress for a well planned summer wardrobe.

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape to Texas. Jeff meets Joan Raleigh, lost in the vastness of her feudal estate, and assists her home. He meets her brothers, Bill and Phil, and Phil's wife, Mary Lou. When they learn Jeff went to college with their cousin, Raeburn, he is invited to be their guest. An old feud against the Raleighs is being renewed under the leadership of Butler Lane, suspected of poisoning their aunt, his wife, and forging her will. Banderas, routed from Mexico, has joined Lane. Jeff offers to try to make peace with the better element and, with Jim Williams, calls at the ranch of Carl Nielsen. En route they are pursued and fired on by Banderas and his men, who follow them to the ranch. Jeff manages to disarm them. Nielsen is shocked by the outlaws. The feud has prevented a romance between beautiful Olga Nielsen and Bill Raleigh. Joan and Phil disappear—kidnaped in their own plane and made the prisoners of Banderas. Phil tries to buy their escape from the bandit. Jeff, Raeburn Raleigh and Jim Williams kidnap Lane Butler from his hotel and force him to arrange for the release of Joan and Phil. Meanwhile Banderas agrees to ransom terms with Phil. One of the gangsters becomes suspicious.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

A DANGEROUS ENEMY.

Whitey was the first to speak. "Okay, General," he said, from the corner of his mouth, voice dead and cold. "That'll be near enough. Speak your piece from there." Not for a fraction of a second did his unwinking gaze lift from the huge outlaw looking down at him.

Pancho stopped, his face contorted into a grin meant to show friendliness. He did not know how plainly it was written on his dark, evil countenance that the smile was false as the devil. His left hand swept out in a gesture, the right one did not shift.

"I'm a tough hombre, Whitey," he boasted. "Down across the line they call me The Wolf. I've killed twenty men for less than what you've said to me."

"Yeah, I've heard you talk plenty." There was an ironic jeer on the thin lips of the boyish gunman's pallid face. "Had an army with you, the way other folks tell it."

Anger beat up into the swarthy face of Banderas. "Take care, you fool," he cried. "I came here to say I'd forget what you did and said."

The little gangster did not bat an eye. Already he was steeped in sin, guilty of many crimes from murder down, but he had the great virtue of courage. There was no fear in him.

"That's nice," he answered in his clipped sardonic tone. "And what am I supposed to do about it?"

The Mexican swallowed his rage. "It's a wide world," he continued. "Room for us both. I'm going to let you go. Me, I'm heading back to Mexico. Tired of playing Lane's game. I'm Pancho Banderas, general of the revolutionary army. My men need me. So I'll say adios."

"Yeah? That's fine." A derisive scepticism showed in the hard, colorless face of Whitey. His wary eyes and alert brain were searching for the catch back of this palaver.

Pancho stole a step closer, apparently unconsciously. "Unless you'd like to hit the trail with me," he invited.

"I wouldn't." Suddenly Whitey's voice rasped out, hard as a file: "What's in that right hand? Get it up."

"I swear, by the bones of my mother——"

The right hand of the bandit rose to take the oath, and as it did so a concealed hunting knife slid down to his fingers. The long arm swung back and forward and the weapon flew straight as an arrow to the white throat of Lane's gunman. There was a spurt of blood and the crash of a bullet from an automatic pistol flung wildly into the sand. In the gangster's throat was a dreadful gurgling sob as he fired again and collapsed. Before his head reached the ground Pancho had snatched out a revolver and sent two shots into the slender body.

Joan covered her face and let out a low whimper. Her brother did not move, except to put a hand on her knee. He knew that any sign of alarm, any sudden gesture to draw the attention of the killer, might lead the ruffian to pour the remaining bullets into him. For momentarily the face of Pancho was that of an insane man. The ravenous passion in it was scarcely human.

Banderas glared down at his victim, the gun still pointed at the motionless body. Slowly the madness died out of his face. He grinned triumphantly. "So, my friend, I teach you who is cock-a-doodle-doo. You would stand up to Pancho, you poor fool, whose kind come twenty to the dozen." He kicked the lifeless body and lifted his head to a great roar of laughter.

In the midst of it his mouth closed. His glance had picked up the Raleighs. He stared at them, almost with surprise to see them there, so absorbed had he been in his victory.

"Ah, my dear guests!" The little red eyes became pinpoints of malicious pleasure. "I give you a treat. You see the great Pancho punish the scum who annoyed him. It is good. I protect you against his insolence. I fear, señor, that I am a dangerous enemy. Not so?"

Phil knew the man was more dangerous now than he had been at any time. He had broken through the restraints imposed on him by civilization. Having just gratified the lust to kill, he might do it again at any time.

"He should have known better than to anger you, General," Phil said quietly, his voice easy and strong.

The killer looked at him suspiciously. "Yes. It is a lesson others would do well to learn, señor."

Raleigh laughed. "It is one I have learned, General."

The other two Mexicans had jumped to their feet, startled and frightened at the swift tragic ending of the difference between Pancho and Whitey.

"Come here, Juan——Francisco," the bandit ordered.

They came reluctantly, with dragging feet, because they dared not refuse. Stark terror showed in their faces.

"Saddle the horses, Juan, and bring them here. You, Francisco, will pack the food. If you try to escape I will kill you."

When the men had left to carry out their orders Phil spoke, his voice cool and even.

"You have broken with Lane, General. That is good. You and I can now come to terms. Within a few hours you can be on the way back to your command in one of our cars, carrying enough money to buy an estate or to pay the soldiers their arrears."

"That is true," Banderas boasted. He swept his arm to the south. "They think, down there, that Pancho is through. I will show them. When I call the oppressed people to arms again they will rally round me as before. I shall lead them to Mexico City and overthrow the tyrant."

"With this ransom money you may do it, General."

"You talk of this money," Pancho cried. "But when do I get it? Where is it? How do I know you will not lie to me and betray me?"

"Listen, General. I think I know a way to get the money that will be safe for you. We will ride to the bank at Raleigh and get what money is there. If there is not enough I shall phone to San Antonio and have more sent down by plane at once. I can promise you twenty-five thousand—no more, in such a hurry. The three of us will wait there in the bank together. If I play you false you can shoot me down."

"Both of you," the outlaw corrected. "And I will not sit in the bank but outside in one of your cars with the lovely señorita by my side."

"My sister is not in this," Phil said doggedly. "This business is between you and me."

Joan spoke for the first time. "I will sit with him in the car, Phil. That way he will know you do not mean to break faith. It will not be for long. The plane will be at Raleigh in an hour and a half from the time you phone San Antonio. If I am beside him he will not fear any attack."

The two Mexicans returned with the saddled horses and the pack animal. Pancho dismissed them.

"Ve te! Get out. Be off with you and take the pack horse along with you."

The astonished men stared at him, then scrambled onto their mounts and hurriedly departed.

Banderas and his prisoners turned into the brush and began their long ride to Raleigh.

Dessert waffles differ from plain ones only slightly. Usually they contain more sugar, and frequently they are made with cake flour, for a more cakelike texture. Crushed fruit or whipped cream accompanies them more frequently than does sirup.

Orange Pecan Dessert Waffles.

[Four to six.]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1½ teaspoon grated orange rind
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
6 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup chopped pecans

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift several times. Add orange rind to egg yolks, which have been beaten until thick and yellow. Combine with milk and flour mixture and beat until smooth, but no longer. Add melted butter. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and chopped nuts. Bake in a hot waffle iron. Serve waffles with orange sauce, whipped cream, or with butter and orange marmalade.

Rich Pecan Waffles with Strawberry Sauce.

[Six.]

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sifted confectioners' sugar
3 eggs, beaten separately
2 cups milk
½ cup butter, melted
1 cup finely chopped pecans

Sift flour, measure, and resift with baking powder, sugar, and salt. Beat egg yolks and add milk. Add to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Add melted butter, beating in with a rotary beater. Lastly, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and nuts. Bake in hot waffle iron and serve with crushed strawberry sauce.

CRUSHED STRAWBERRY SAUCE: Blend ⅓ cup melted butter, 2 cups crushed strawberries, and 1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar. This sauce takes the place of butter and sirup.

Raspberry Sour Cream Waffles.

[Five.]

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs, separated
2 cups thick sour cream
1 cup fresh raspberries

Sift flour, add soda, salt, and sugar, and resift several times. Beat egg yolks and add to sour cream. Add to flour mixture, beating until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, and whole fresh berries. Bake in hot waffle iron, and serve with sweetened whipped cream, topped with a few more berries as garnish.

Spice Cake Waffles.

[Four.]

1½ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, baking powder, spices, and salt together several times. Cream butter and brown sugar together thoroughly. Add beaten egg yolks and mix well. Alternately add flour mixture and milk. Fold in egg whites, beaten until stiff, and add vanilla. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with ice cream, whipped cream, or fruit sauce.

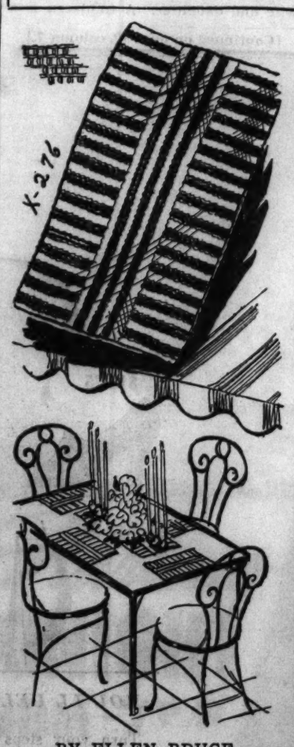
Stripes Are Used Effectively for a Luncheon Set



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Stripes of the horizontal and vertical variety may be combined in a most effective way for crocheted luncheon sets. Mexican colors, which are so popular at the present time, may be used to harmonize with fiesta luncheon dishes. These doilies are made in strips, then joined, and the stitch is of the easiest sort. One complete set may be made for little more than a dollar.

For instructions in crocheting the luncheon set in horizontal and vertical stripes, No. X-276, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Sermons Begin Closing Events at 3 Colleges

Three baccalaureate services yesterday started a week of commencement exercises and activities for colleges and universities in the metropolitan area.

At Orchestra hall graduates of Armour Institute of Technology listened to the sermon of Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, retiring minister of Central church, Orchestra hall. The Rev. J. W. R. Maguire, former president of St. Viator's college, Bourbonnais, Ill., preached the baccalaureate sermon at Rosary college, River Forest. Bishop Francis C. Kelley of the Catholic diocese of Oklahoma then conferred degrees on ninety-one graduates.

The Rev. Ernest F. Tittle of the First Methodist church, Evanston, delivered the sermon for graduates of Garrett Biblical institute at Northwestern university. Tomorrow afternoon the young theologians will hear the commencement address of Dr. Ralph Sockman of New York City.

Alumni of the University of Chicago will meet today for their annual reunion and six day alumni school. The first sessions, devoted to religion, will consider such subjects as historical schisms in Christianity, movements toward church unity, Broadway's religion, the new Catholic pontiff, and Hitler's battle with Christian religions.

The speakers will include the Rev. Prof. William W. Sweet, Profs. John T. McNeill, Davis Edwards, Winfred E. Garrison, Charles W. Gilkey, and Edwin Aubrey, and Dr. Shailer Mathews, dean emeritus of the divinity school. Tomorrow other speakers will discuss science.

Five hundred fifty-two degrees were conferred yesterday by the Rev. John F. O'Hara, president, upon graduates of the University of Notre Dame at the ninety-fifth commencement exercises at Notre Dame, Ind.

Miss Josephine Bronson, Detroit educator, received the 1939 Laetare medal, awarded annually for outstanding contributions in the field of education. William Henry Harrison, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, made the commencement address. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

Indiana university, Bloomington, Ind., will graduate its largest class, with a membership of 1,353, this evening. The Rev. Edgar DeWitt Jones of Detroit, Mich., delivered the baccalaureate address last evening.

Baccalaureate services were held yesterday, opening the eightieth commencement exercises of the Illinois State Normal university, Normal, and the Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington.

Dr. Clyde E. Wildman, president of DePauw university, spoke before 312 graduates of Illinois Normal. Today they will hear Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan of the National Education association deliver the commencement address.

Dr. William T. Smith of Burlington, Ia., made the baccalaureate address at Illinois Wesleyan. The commencement address tomorrow will be given by Dr. James Francis Cooke of Philadelphia, Pa. Degrees will be conferred on 116 graduates.

President Walter Dill Scott will deliver the commencement address to Northwestern university's 1,850 graduating students Saturday at 5 p. m. in Dyche stadium, climaxing two days of campus activities.

Thousands of returning alumni will take part in the parade of classes Saturday morning and will attend the ground breaking exercises for the new gymnasium. Alumni of the professional schools on the Chicago campus will hold their celebrations tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Four hundred degrees and certificates will be conferred Friday at commencement exercises of the colleges of medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy of the University of Illinois. The exercises will be held in the Chicago Civic Opera house. Alumni gatherings of the three Chicago units will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

At Urbana the final week of graduation activities begins today with the senior ball. Next Saturday will be Alumni day. On Sunday afternoon the Right Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., will preach the baccalaureate sermon. The 68th annual commencement will be held next Monday, Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard conferring degrees on 2,300 graduates, the largest graduation class in the school's history. The commencement address will be made by Joseph C. Blair, dean of the college of agriculture.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

For a long time I have been preaching on the iniquities of weak overcalls and, gratifying enough, I believe that the average player has tightened up in this department and only rarely sticks out his neck, even at the lower levels. Occasionally, however, I still meet an oldtimer who never has been able to get the overcalling urge out of his system and on such occasions it does not surprise me to witness such a debacle as in the following hand:

East, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

♣ J 10

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	1 spade	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

South, an old auction player, probably proceeded on the fixed theory that a mere one bid could not be jumped on by the opponents or, if it were, that he always would be able to collect enough tricks to make it a paying sacrifice. How wrong he was! Even though he found an ace in the dummy, the penalty he paid was not only disproportionate but humiliating as well, and was hardly conducive to cordial relations with his partner.

West opened the singleton heart and, when dummy ducked, East forced declarer's ace with the nine spot. Declarer went into quite a huddle trying to figure out a propitious line of play, and I can't say that I blame him. [I would not know just how to proceed with a mess such as this one, but fortunately I do not often find myself in such contracts.] Probably with the reflection that "a trick was a trick," declarer led the club jack and, when West covered with the queen, won with the ace. Perhaps he had the thought of voiding his own hand of clubs and hoping that the opponents would continue the suit, thereby letting him get in some of his anæmic trumps, but if this were his idea he was doomed to disappointment. On a club return from dummy East signaled with the diamond eight and West, after capturing the ten spot, shifted to the diamond jack. Declarer hoped for three rounds of diamonds, hence did not cover with dummy's queen, but, on a diamond continuation by West, East hopped up with the king and cashed the king and queen of hearts. West discarded his last diamond and one club and now, when East laid down the diamond ace, declarer was in a pitiful spot. He chose to discard his last heart—not that it mattered very much. East now played another diamond and declarer desperately ruffed with the spade nine. [Had he ruffed with a lower spade West could have overruffed with the eight.] West overruffed with the spade jack and exited with a club. East ruffed with the queen, while declarer impotently had to underruff. The spade king was cashed and now East could lead any card in his hand. West had the A-8 of trumps over declarer's 10-7 and the last two tricks inevitably had to go to the defenders. Thus, declarer had made precisely two tricks—the two aces—on his atrocious overcall and, even though it had been at the one level, he had to pay a 900 point penalty. Considering that the opponents could have done no more than take a game, worth about 400 points, this was paying rather a high price.

Albert O. Snites' Daughter to Be Christened June 24.

When Wallace E. Pierce arrives from Washington, D. C., for the christening of his granddaughter, Elizabeth Osborne Snite, on June 24, he will have interesting stories to tell about meeting King George and Queen Elizabeth. As a member of congress, he will be presented to their majesties in the capitol rotunda Friday morning.

Mrs. Albert Osborne Snite, the baby's mother, just has returned from a visit with her father. He is a member from the 31st district of New York and took the place of Congressman Bertrand H. Snell, the minority leader, who retired last year. Tiny Elizabeth, who was named for her mother and father, was born on March 10. The christening will take place in the Snites' Highland Park home at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Kenilworth Garden Club Sponsors Talk by D. C. Rich.

Daniel C. Rich, director of fine arts at the Art institute, will speak on "The Painter Looks at Flowers" at 11 o'clock this morning at the Indian Hill club. His appearance is being sponsored by the Kenilworth Garden club. An al fresco luncheon will follow the talk, which will be Mr. Rich's last one in the Chicago area before he goes west to give a series of lectures on the San Francisco fair.

During the afternoon the gardens of Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball, Mrs. Hugh A. Foresman, and Mrs. Mark W. Cresap will be open to those attending the luncheon. Mrs. Ball is president of the club. Mr. Rich's lecture will be illustrated with slides, some of them colored.

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Chicago Junior league will be held at the Saddle and Cycle club today. The business meeting will start at 10:30 o'clock. Plans for the league's all day open house at the Drake next Oct. 14 will be discussed and William McCreary, staff member of the theater department of Northwestern university, will speak. He is to direct the league's children's theater next fall.

Mothers of students at the Francis W. Parker school are giving a tea and lecture this afternoon at the school to which the mothers of past students have been invited especially. Miss Clara Lake will give an illustrated lecture on "Two Kings—A Duce—and a Pair of Windsors."

Ogontz alumnæ will meet for luncheon at 1 o'clock today at the Ambassador East. Mrs. Richard Johnston Jr. is president of the alumnæ The luncheon will be the organization's annual meeting.

WEDDINGS

James Patton McCormick, son of Mrs. James Patton McCormick of Winnetka, and Miss Jane Williams Hume, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Robert Ernest Hume of New York, were married at 4 o'clock last Saturday afternoon in the James Memorial chapel of the Union Theological seminary, with the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick officiating, assisted by the bride's father. Alan McCormick was his brother's best man. Mr. McCormick is a member of the faculty of Wayne university, in Detroit, Mich.

Dr. and Mrs. Herman Martin Sondel have sent out invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Shirley Ann, who will become the bride of Joseph Davis Krueger at 4 o'clock on June 18. The ceremony will be performed in the Joseph Bond chapel of the University of Chicago.

Immigrant League to Meet as Foreign-born Graduate

The Immigrants' Protective league will hold its annual meeting concurrently Thursday with the graduation exercises of the adult classes for Chicago's foreign born. The meeting will be held in the theater of the Field museum. Marshall Edward Dimock of Washington, chairman of the commission on immigration and administration of the department of labor, will speak on "The Government and the Foreign Born." Mrs. Kenneth F. CUBS DEFEAT PHILLIES, 9-4; SOX BREAK EVEN

AMERICANS BEAT BRITISH, 11-7, IN FIRST POLO MATCH

HITCHCOCK AND PHIPPS SCORE 4 GOALS EACH

18,000 Thrilled by Iglehart's Riding.

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—The United States today turned back the hard riding challenging polo team of Great Britain, 11 to 7, in the opening match of the international cup series on the soggy turf of the Meadowbrook club in Westbury.

The American four, paced by the veteran Tommy Hitchcock Jr. and Stewart Iglehart, jumped away to a two goal lead in the first chukker and was never headed, although it found in the British a more stubborn foe than had been expected. The Britons, outdriven and at times outridden, fought back gamely after that first American offensive and at half time were behind only 6 to 5. Through the next three periods the Americans ran their advantage up to 10 to 5, but still the British refused to concede defeat and scored twice in a furious final onslaught in the eighth chukker.

Iglehart Thrills Throng.

While Hitchcock, who has been helping whip the British since 1921, and Michael Phipps each scored four goals to lead the Americans, it was the brilliant play of Iglehart that won the admiration of the crowd of 18,000. Iglehart, though a ten goal man, had not been included in the American lineup until yesterday, when Cecil Smith withdrew because of injuries received in practice. He played superbly today both on attack and defense.

Time after time he turned the play with seemingly impossible shots as the British threatened the American goal. Early in the game he outrode both Bob Skene, the young Australian making his international debut, and Aidan Roark to make a save with the ball less than a foot from the goal line. He scored only once, but that was largely because he was so busy setting up shots for Phipps and Hitchcock or dropping back to defend the goal as Winston Guest, the back, moved up to force the attack. Guest, a seven goal man, scored twice.

The Boys Work Together.

The American victory was a team victory made possible by almost perfect coördination of the four members of the team. The British, though they showed flashes of individual brilliance, seemed to lack this fine element of team play. Eric Tyrell-Martin at back, stood out, and showed to as good advantage as any player on the field, although he was not so powerful as the American hitters. Gerald Balding, No. 3, seemed hampered by the wet turf, made heavy by an early morning rain, but he gave occasional flashes of brilliant polo.

Roark was thrown in the second period and narrowly escaped injury. He was trying to clear his goal when Phipps, riding furiously, crashed into the Briton's mount. Both men and ponies went down. Phipps jumped up at once, but Roark fell again after rising and taking a couple of steps. After a ten minute interval, he was able to continue but his shoulder was still quite sore after the match and the shaking up undoubtedly hampered him throughout.

Penalties Are Numerous.

Eleven fouls were called against the hard riding Americans, which, with three safeties, gave the British fourteen free shots at the goal. Balding, however, made only four of them good. The Americans had only three free shots and Hitchcock made two of the three good, one from sixty yards and one from forty yards out.

Iglehart and Hitchcock sent the United States away to its early lead, the former driving between the goal posts from a difficult angle and Tommy on a pass from Phipps, both within two minutes. The game was scoreless then until late in the second period when Balding, after missing four free shots, finally counted for the British on a free shot from the sixty yard marker.

Britons Fight Back.

Hitchcock scored on a beautiful shot from under his pony's neck early in the third period, but Great Britain came right back with two quick goals to tie the score. Balding scored from the sixty yard line on Hitchcock's foul and Skene followed it up with a drive after he and Roark had carried the ball almost the length of the field. The Americans went right out in front again on free shots by Hitchcock and Guest.

The invaders scored twice and the Americans once in the fourth chukker to make the score 6 to 5 at half-time. Iglehart set up a goal for Phipps with a beautiful 60 yard drive. A few seconds later Balding cashed in on a free shot from the 30 yard marker and then after he had missed one from the 40, Skene came through to send a high ball through from the 30.

Play was close in the fifth chukker with the only goal coming near the end when Guest picked up Iglehart's drive from off the side boards for the

Two Hour Program Listed for Blade and Paddle Regatta

Water sports enthusiasts, and their legion rapidly is growing, will get their biggest spectator treat of the summer Sunday afternoon when the first annual Blade and Paddle regatta, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in conjunction with the Lincoln Park Boat club and the Chicago park district, is held on the Chicago river.

A conviction that water sports have become so popular that they warant a variety program on a large scale resulted in the decision to hold the regatta. The idea was enthusiastically accepted by the city's various boat clubs.

No Admission Charge.

There will be something doing every minute of the two hour show, beginning at 2 o'clock. The seven-eighths of a mile course has been laid out from the new lock at the mouth of the Chicago river to the Michigan avenue bridge. Spectators will be able to line up along both sides of the course. There will be no admission charges. The list of events and starting times:

Cruising class canoe race starting from outer bridge, 2 p. m.
Canoe parade starting from outer bridge, 2:05 p. m.
Racing class kayak race starting from outer bridge, 2:20 p. m.
Kayak parade starting from outer bridge, 2:25 p. m.
Racing class canoe race starting from lock, 2:40 p. m.
Interscholastic junior crew race starting from lock, 2:50 p. m.
Four-oared shell race starting from lock, 3 p. m.
Sea Scout cutter race starting from outer bridge, 3:10 p. m.
War canoe race starting from outer bridge, 3:20 p. m.
Single-oared shell race starting from lock, 3:30 p. m.
Interscholastic senior crew race starting from lock, 3:40 p. m.
Return parade [all small craft], Michigan avenue bridge to outer harbor.

Winner Will Receive Trophy.

Claiming major interest are the senior and junior eight-oared shell races among youngsters from Lane Tech Lake View, Waller, and Amundsen High schools. The winner will be presented with the Chicago Tribune trophy, which must be won three times for permanent possession.

In slightly more than a year's time the prep oarsmen have made rapid strides. Officials of the Lincoln Park Boat club interested athletic coaches at Lane Tech and Lake View in the sport in the spring of 1938 and crews were formed that year, Lane winning both the senior and junior titles.

This spring two more schools were recruited, Waller and Amundsen. Lane's two crews have dominated the racing and the Techmen have a total of 22 points in previous races, leading second place Waller by 12 points and virtually clinching the Captain's cup offered by Capt. Walter Hollatz of the Lincoln Park Boat club.

Likewise the men who will engage in the kayak and canoe races and the youngsters entered in the Sea Scout cutter events are making their craft spick and span for the chance to show their skill before thousands of spectators.

CHICAGO DRIVER SERIOUSLY HURT IN RACE CRASH

Ralph Fons of Chicago suffered a brain concussion and a fractured collar bone yesterday in a collision with Cyclone Ross, another Chicago driver, during the running of the automobile race program at the Hammond Speedway. The accident occurred during the ten lap consolation event. Both drivers were taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond, but Ross was later released.

Steve Trushen of Gary won the forty lap feature race, taking the lead on the 36th lap and having a five length margin on Mike Salay of South Bend at the finish. Slim Rutherford of Whiting was third and Herb Manges of Detroit fourth. The winning time was 21 minutes 35 seconds. Other results:

FIRST ELIMINATION [10 laps]—Won by Steve Trushen, Gary; Bayliss Leveret, Los Angeles, second; Jimmy Miller, Los Angeles, third. Time—5:15.

SECOND ELIMINATION [10 laps]—Won by Mike Salay, South Bend; Herb Manges, Detroit, second; Walter Trevelyan, Chicago, third. Time—5:19.

THIRD ELIMINATION [10 laps]—Won by Sunny Howard, Chicago; Slim Rutherford, Whiting, second; Bob Bauer, Chicago, third. Time—5:56.

CONSOLATION [10 laps]—Won by Ted Tetterton, Chicago; Frank Jones, Chicago, second; Don Mac, Chicago, third. Time—6:21.

COOPER WINS, WOOD IS 2D IN GOODALL GOLF

Veteran Comes Forward as Open Threat.

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Harry Cooper barely survived a severe attack of jitters today to win the second annual Goodall round-robin golf tournament with a final score of plus 31 and a record of having lost only two of his fourteen matches. He went over par only twice in seven rounds.

The veteran from Eastern Point, Conn., who in winning moved into the front rank of favorites for this week's national open championship, won by two points from Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y. By the margin of two rimmed putts he escaped being sent into a playoff with Wood.

A Tight Squeeze.

Coming to the eighteenth green, with a gallery of more than 1,000 trailing him, Cooper found himself fifteen feet from the pin, with Ben Hogan and Jimmy Thomson less than ten feet away. Wood already was in with his plus 29 score and Hogan and Thomson combined were 5 up on Cooper.

That meant that Harry either had to halve the hole with both men or win it from one to finish on top. He lined up his putt and rolled the ball inches shy of the cup. His par 4 was safe. Then Thomson and Hogan rammed their balls right to the cup, only to have them skip around the back edge and out again by inches.

The victory, worth $1,000 and a handsome trophy, was Cooper's first major triumph since the 1938 New Orleans open.

Wood Finishes Brilliantly.

Wood put on a brilliant finish to take second money of $750.

Sam Snead, winner of last year's inaugural Goodall meet in Cincinnati, again came up strong on the final day. A morning 70 and afternoon 69 boosted his score by 19 points and brought him into third place at plus 24. After him came Denny Shute, plus, 21; Ralph Guldahl, plus 19; Jimmy Hines, plus 11; Tony Penna, plus 9; Runyan, plus 1; Hogan, minus 4; Johnny Revolta, minus 11; Thomson and Dick Metz, minus 12; Dutra, minus 33; Walter Hagen, minus 36, and Horton Smith, minus 38.

EDDIE COLLINS, NOTRE DAME END IN 1928-'29, DIES

Tucson, Ariz., June 4.—(AP)—Eddie Collins, 33 years old, left end on Knute Rockne's Notre Dame football teams in 1928 and 1929, died in a sanatorium today after a nine year fight against tuberculosis. His health broke in 1930, a few months after he became assistant coach at the University of Washington.

The body will be sent tomorrow to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Collins, in Oak Park, Ill. His father is an executive of the National Carloading corporation, Chicago.

HOWIE WEISS, winner of the Tribune trophy last fall as the most valuable player to his team in the Big Ten conference, will leave for a tour of Europe immediately after receiving his degree at the University of Wisconsin June 19. . . . Badger fans already are boosting Weiss for the starting full back position in the All-Star game against the New York Giants Aug. 30. . . . Gunnar Barlund, who meets Tony Musto at the Stadium Thursday night, is the heavyweight champion of Finland, because he is the only big fellow competing professionally in his homeland. . . . Justa Lindgren, Bob Zuppke's line coach at Illinois, will start his thirty-seventh season in that capacity next fall. . . . He never has missed a spring or fall football practice. . . . Radio executives and advertising sponsors are beginning to worry over the problems that will develop from program conflicts if night baseball becomes popular in the major leagues. . . . Mike Jacobs is attempting to lure Jimmy McLarnin out of retirement for a bout with Henry Armstrong next September. . . . Why not Johnny Coulon or Bat Nelson? . . . They are actively engaged in comebacks and have several weeks' start over McLarnin in training. . . . Yardsticks say Bill is mistaken, but Bob Lewis, traveling secretary, gives him No. 1 just the same.

Claims of a Washington sports editor, made a month ago, that Washington newspapers are the only ones in the country who do not swing on ball clubs for the expense of their baseball reporters on the road, still are getting rebuttals. . . . In Chicago there are three papers which do not chisel the ball clubs. . . . There is one in New York which does not and there are exceptions in St. Louis and other cities as well. . . . Charley Bachman gladly would eliminate spring football practice at Michigan State if he were permitted to open fall drills two weeks earlier. . . . Gus Suhr, Pirates' first baseman, rents the space for his Millbrae, Cal., sports shop from Tony Lazzeri. . . . It may or may not be significant that the Cubs-Dodgers night game in Brooklyn last Thursday drew twice as many customers as the Nova-Baer fight at Yankee stadium.

The Bachelor.
[In answer to T. E. B.]

When returning to his room,
His deserted, lonely tomb,
He must open cans to get something to eat.
He's not sure that life's worthwhile
When there's no one there to smile
And no pipe and slippers waiting at his seat.

I can hear him loudly cursing
With finesse and no rehearsing
When he has to sew a button on his shirt.
There is no one who'll stand by
With an overseeing eye
If he's sick in bed or happens to get hurt.

When his business takes a drop
And he feels that he's a flop
There is no one there to spur him on to fame.
With no children of his own
He can never have a home
Or be able to perpetuate his name.

From the lines of T. E. B.,
It is clear that he must be
Just a married man who wishes he'd been spurned,
But there's always guys like me
Who treat married life with glee
Since we're single and we simply haven't learned. —Wallace.

SPEEDY SNYDER GETS LESSON IN DRIVING MIDGETS

Jimmy Snyder, Chicago driver who finished second in the 500 mile Indianapolis event, last night was beaten by Tony Willman of Milwaukee in the forty lap feature of the opening outdoor midget auto race program at the Riverview speedway.

Willman also won the second twelve lap handicap heat and came back in the fifteen lap semi-final to give Snyder another beating. Snyder's lone victory came in the third qualifying heat. Other winners were Marshall Lewis, Cowboy O'Rourke, and Pete Roncevich.

RUSSELL SAVES CUBS' VICTORY AS LEE WILTS IN 4TH

Second Game Is Called in Fourth Inning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 4.—The Cubs beat the Phillies, 9 to 4, this afternoon in what had been advertised as a double-header. They were leading, 2 to 0, behind Dizzy Dean when the second game was called in the fourth on account of the Pennsylvania Sunday closing law.

Nothing that happened in the second game goes into the record books. The ethics involved in the maneuvering, however, should go down in the memory books of Philadelphia's chumps if not on a police blotter.

Fortunately a crowd of only 5,203 was tricked by the almost unbelievable stalling by the Philly management.

Cubs Are Innocent Parties.

The Cubs were the innocent parties to the hoax in which morning rains, afternoon sunshine, radio confusion, front office scheming, turnstile bait, Dean, and the Pennsylvania blue laws were interwoven.

The first game was started at 3:38 o'clock. It could have been started at 2 o'clock.

The second game was started at 6:18 o'clock, after an intermission of more than 20 minutes. The play was halted at one minute before 7 o'clock, as per the statutes.

Bill Lee in the first game made his fourth try for his sixth victory, but temperament kept him from sticking long enough to be credited, though the Cubs gave him a 6 to 0 lead in their first three innings. Jack Russell was the winning pitcher. He relieved Lee in the fourth shortly after Hugh Mulcahy was removed for Walter Beck, finished the game for the Phils.

Lee Develops a Complex.

Lee, who has lost six games, appears to have developed some sort of prima donna complex which causes him to blow up whenever he is accorded anything less than perfect support afield.

The Cubs loosed thirteen hits in the legal game. They made enough runs to win in the first three innings, but added three in the ninth.

Although it was apparent that the second game could not go through the requisite time to become legal, the Cubs kept faith with the public

LYONS WHIPS A'S, 14-9; DIETRICH IS BEATEN, 11-6

Bejma Pounds Out Two Home Runs.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox and Athletics got themselves mixed up in one of those share the loot double-headers yesterday and there was plenty of loot. Fifty-nine base hits were splashed around Comiskey's acres, and nine errors helped to add to the confusion of 17,000 spectators. But both the hits and the fielding blunders were about equally divided, the Sox drawing their biggest portion in the first game, which they won, 14 to 9. Connie Mack's boys won, 11 to 6, in the second.

Thirty-eight year old Ted Lyons might have been a hero in the first battle if heroics on his part had been necessary. His mates made his fifth straight triumph a simple affair by thumping Henry Pippen for eight runs in the opening inning. Given this sort of comfort, Lyons took his labors lightly but never lightly enough to allow his foes to get even close to his lead, which expanded in almost every inning, as the result of twenty safeties off Pippen and Leroy [Tarzan] Parmelee.

Dietrich Leaves Early.

The Sox were pitched out of the second decision almost as quickly as they had clinched the first. Bill Dietrich took up where Lyons left off, but the bespectacled hurler soon was forced to seek a more peaceful spot. The A's erased him in less than three innings, an effort netting them a total of seven runs. Then Vic Frasier and Johnny Rigney were slightly bruised, the Sox meanwhile being unable to make any headway against Nelson Potter, who didn't actually totter until the ninth, when Ollie Bejma hit his second homer of the day and his fourth of the season. The second Bejma homer helped in a three run splurge, but three runs weren't important.

FIRST GAME

The eight run spree enjoyed by the Sox in the opening inning of the first game began with a single by Bejma, who went to third on Kuhel's single. Bejma scored while Walker was being thrown out by Ambler. Radcliff bounced a hit past Pippen and Kuhel counted when Appling singled to right. Then the A's experienced some sort of a spasm. Ambler dropped Kreevich's pop up and Gantenbein threw Owen's roller into the dugout. The two blunders scored Radcliff and Appling, leaving Kreevich on third and Owen on second.

The fun continued with a single dribbled past Ambler by Tresh, Kreevich scoring. After Lyons had been erased on a fly to Johnson, Bejma whistled a triple into the right field corner. This hit sent Owen and Tresh across the plate. Kuhel singled past Gantenbein and Bejma went home with the eighth run of the inning. There was great relief when Walker popped to Nagel for the third out.

Teddy Gets a Jolt.

Thinking his eight run lead entitled him to relax, Lyons experimented with some softball pitching in the second and the Macks gave him a real surprise package in the shape of six hits, four runs scoring. Johnson, Hayes, Chapman, and Nagel singled before anybody was retired, two scoring. After two were out Moses and Ambler also singled, adding the two other runs.

Lyons was bumped a little more in the third, Hayes tripling to right and scoring on Nagel's fly. Bejma snatched back this run in the Sox third by depositing his third homer of the season in the left field pavilion. In the fourth Appling tripled and scored on Owen's single, and Lyons' single scored another in the fifth, making the count 11 to 5. The next outbreak was on the part of the Macks in the sixth. They collected a run on singles by Pippen and Ambler. The Sox also scored one in the same inning on singles furnished by Kreevich, Tresh, and Lyons. This stretched the count to 12 to 6.

Gerry Keeps Running.

The Sox completed their scoring in the seventh against Parmelee. Walker put on one of his sprinting acts. He doubled to left, stole third, and went home on a wild pitch. Appling also scored on his own single and a two bagger by Kreevich. The A's three runs in the ninth were pushed home by McNamara, who doubled with the bases filled.

SECOND GAME

The only good feature of Dietrich's pitching in the first inning of the second struggle was a pair of strikeouts. But Bill also yielded three hits and one pass and committed one error. Gantenbein opened with a single and Moses pushed him to third by doubling. Ambler fanned and Etten grounded to Kuhel for what should have been the second out, but Dietrich, who covered the base, dropped the throw, Gantenbein scoring on the play. Later Moses and

MAGIC KEY SEEKS 4TH VICTORY AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Three Allowance Races Scheduled Today.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Lincoln Fields will start the week with three allowance events on today's eight race program. One of these will bring out Magic Key, the Milky Way farm's good 3 year old which performed impressively last Thursday while scoring his third victory in the fourth effort of his career.

As the week's races are run off the owners of stake horses will be pointing for the $2,500 La Salle handicap, a gallop of a mile and three-sixteenths for 3 year olds and up, which will be run Saturday. This will be the longest distance the stake horses have been asked to go during the meeting to date.

These Are Doing All Right.

The horses which have distinguished themselves during the first nine days of the Chicago district racing season include Friedberg and Axton's Manie O'Hara, which beat a field of fillies and mares in the Kankakee handicap on May 27 and came back again last Saturday to score her second stake victory of the meeting against rivals of both sexes in the Steger handicap. The other stake winners to date are Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Drury Lane, a 2 year old filly which never has been out of the money in the six starts of her career; J. W. Parrish's Dellor, W. F. Morgan's Rapid Way, Mrs. Kirby Ramsay's Sassy Mate, and Garrett Watts' Silverette.

The longest shot to score so far is King June, owned by H. S. Swift. This 4 year old gelding, which hadn't won since 1937, came in at 100 to 1 odds Saturday, paying off at $202.40, $99 and $25.60.

Yarberry Leads Riders.

Warren Yarberry is leading the jockeys with ten winners. He took first place by bringing in Drury Lane and Lucy on Saturday while Ernest Hanke, who had nine winners to his credit, was unable to score with any of his five mounts.

The Woolford Farm stable, which had started the meeting with three winners in the first two days, cut down on its entries and was able to get only a second place with Quenemo on Memorial day and a third place with Finella on Saturday for its week's showing.

Mrs. Edith Denemark's stable put over its third winner of the meeting when King Cotton got home first in an allowance event on Saturday. Finance and Prairie Dog had scored during the previous week.

One Winner for Nash.

The Shandon farm stable, owned by Pat and Dick Nash, has sent only one winner to the post—Yankee Lad. Burning Star and Syracuse have been able to land no better than third places in the meeting to date.

Trainer Bill Causey continued to do well with Leo Beyda's horses during the last week, sending out both Maleman and Bachelor's Bower to win on Thursday. Maleman also earned second money last Monday. Of the nine horses this stable has sent to the post, all but Ginocchio and Joji T. have earned at least a second place.

American Polo Team Defeats British, 11-7

United States' seventh point. The British were held scoreless again in the sixth as the Americans boosted their total to 9 on goals from Hitchcock and Phipps. Tommy scored from a bad angle and Mike scored after the ball had been set up by Iglehart's beautiful mallet work.

The British led the attack during the early part of the seventh and then Balding missed three free shots from the 60 yard marker, but the defenders scored the only goal. Hitchcock took the ball from Iglehart at midfield, carried in within the 20 yard line, from where Phipps drove it through.

The British finally found the range in the final chukker, counting twice only to have the Americans come through near the end to make the final score 11 to 7. Balding and Martin counted for the British while Phipps took the ball from Hitchcock for the Americans' goal.

Hitchcock Praises Losers.

Hitchcock, captain of the American team, paid tribute to the British after the bitterly contested match.

"We had a real battle on our hands all the way," he said, "and I think the British put on a great fight. I wouldn't care to pick any man out on our side. I'd prefer to consider it a team victory, which I think it was."

The Britons had no alibis to offer.

"They were just too tough for us," said Roark as he returned to the dressing room carrying his sore left arm carefully.

The second match will be played on Sunday, June 18. The international cup goes to the team winning two matches. American teams have not been defeated by the British teams since 1914.

The lineup:

RUFFING BEATS TIGERS.

Detroit, Mich., June 4.—(AP)—A finger injury prevented big Charley Ruffing from pitching the full route, but he got credit for his eighth victory of the season today as the New York Yankees beat the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 4, before a crowd of 44,190.

Ruffing, who yielded six hits, was hurt while catching a line drive from the bat of Barney McCosky in the fifth inning. He walked from the hill after George Tebbetts led off with a single in the Tiger eighth and Johnny Murphy finished.

Hubbell Fails as Reds Defeat Giants, 4 to 1

New York, June 4.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds routed Carl Hubbell in the first inning today and gave Paul Derringer spectacular support afield, to defeat the New York Giants, 4 to 1.

A walk to Billy Werber and singles by Lonnie Frey and Ival Goodman scored a run and caused Hubbell's finish in three plays, giving the veteran southpaw screwball specialist his fourth defeat against one victory.

Bill Lohrman yielded only seven hits after taking over, but Frank McCormick's infield out added another run in the first and Werber hit a homer with Billy Myers on base in the second to complete Cincinnati's scoring.

DODGERS, PIRATES SPLIT.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 4.—(AP)—The Dodgers divided a double-header with Pittsburgh today by defeating the Pirates 14 to 1 in the second game after losing the opener, 7 to 3.

Johnny Rizzo decided the first game in Pittsburgh's favor by hitting a home run with two on in the eighth inning and the Pirates added three more for good measure in the ninth, forcing Luke Hamlin to call for relief. The nightcap was as remarkable as the score. The Dodgers got nineteen hits, nine of them doubles, as every man in the Brooklyn lineup got at least one hit and one run.

ST. SUSANNA NINE WINS 12 INNING C. Y. O. GAME, 6-5

St. Susanna's twelve inning 6 to 5 victory over Holy Rosary [Slovak] featured play yesterday in the Catholic Youth Organization Baseball league. Tom Lech went the route for St. Susanna, yielding twelve hits and fanning fourteen. His mound opponent, Ed Bednarczyk, struck out sixteen and was touched for thirteen hits.

St. Hyacinth, former C. Y. O. champion, kept its record clear by defeating St. Viator, 4 to 1. St. Adrian, another ex-title holder, also won, beating St. Barnabas, 8 to 3, while the present champion, St. Roman, whipped St. Paul, 8 to 6.

In a junior contest Transfiguration scored a 16 to 3 triumph over Sacred Heart [19].

Sox Divide Double-header with Macks

Etten counted on Johnson's double to left.

Dietrich's four run third, which he didn't finish, began with a single by Moses. Ambler sacrificed, Etten walked, and Johnson singled to score Moses. Brucker doubled to right, Etten scoring. An intentional pass to Chapman loaded the bases. Nagel poked a dribbler in front of the plate but it eluded Dietrich for a hit, Johnson scoring. This was where Frasier came to the rescue and he accomplished two force plays, on the first of which Brucker scored.

Both Sides Score.

The Mackmen registered again in the fourth and the Sox broke into the run column in the same inning. The A's got their run because Moses and Etten nicked Frazier for singles. The Sox put over their two run incident because of the fielding inefficiency of Gantenbein. Walker led off with a single and Gantenbein dropped Radcliff's popup. Appling walked, filling the bags. Kreevich grounded to Nagel, who threw to second, but Gantenbein dropped the ball, allowing Radcliff to follow Walker across the plate.

Two hits off Rigney in the fifth did no damage, but in the sixth luck deserted him. Brucker doubled with two out and scored when Walker, after racing in almost to the infield, was unable to reach Chapman's short fly.

The Sox collected their lone run in this inning on Appling's triple and a balk by Potter, who, after starting his windup, decided to reach for the resin bag.

The Parade Goes On.

In the eighth Rigney walked Ambler and Etten doubled. Ambler scored and Etten went to third on Johnson's long fly. Brucker flied to Walker, whose throw to the plate nailed Etten, but Silvestri dropped the ball as he tagged the runner.

The Sox had a little harmless fun in the ninth, after the first two batters had been retired. Steinbacher batted for Smith and Potter handed him a pass. Bejma sent his second homer of the afternoon into the left field seats. Kuhel walked and was nudged around to the plate on singles by Walker and Radcliff. Appling ended the drawn out party with a liner into Gantenbein's hands.

CAPT. M. J. GRADY DIES; ON POLICE FORCE 27 YEARS

Veteran, 52, Ill for Week of Heart Ailment.

Capt. Michael J. Grady of the Kensington station, for years a prominent figure in the police department, died last night in the Mercy hospital, where he had been ill for the last week of a heart ailment and anemia.

Capt. Michael Grady.

His death had been expected and with one exception members of his family were at his bedside when the end came. The exception was a son, the Rev. Thomas Grady, a student in Rome. Father Grady lost a race with death even as he started. He sailed yesterday for New York, hoping to see his father alive. He will not arrive home for a week.

Capt. Grady was injured in an automobile accident last December. It is believed that the injuries contributed to his death.

Joined Force in 1912.

Capt. Grady was 52 years old. He joined the department in 1912 and was rapidly promoted because of his ability as a detective. He served as deputy chief of detectives from 1927 to 1929. He received numerous creditable mentions. In 1922 he received the Carter H. Harrison medal for bravery.

In 1921 Capt. Grady and his squad fought a gun battle with three bandits, killing two and capturing the third. During his career Capt. Grady engaged in more than half a dozen gun fights with thieves or hoodlums.

Acquitted in Liquor Case.

He was tried in the federal court in 1924 in connection with the removal of a million dollars' worth of liquor from a warehouse and was found not guilty by a jury. At one time he served in the state's attorney's office as a detective under Maclay Hoyne. He had been in command of the Kensington station for the last seven years.

Surviving Capt. Grady are his widow Rose, a daughter, Eileen; two sons, George and the Rev. Thomas, and his mother, Mrs. Anne O'Grady. A brother, Thomas J. O'Grady, a former alderman and former state representative, died two years ago. The family name is O'Grady, but Capt. Grady used the shortened form. The Grady home is at 7925 Laflin street.

JOSEPH KNIGHT FUNERAL RITES ARE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Joseph C. Knight will be conducted at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the undertaking chapel at 214 South Western avenue. Mr. Knight, who lived at 2429 Arthington street, died Saturday. He was head of an insurance company bearing his name from 1911 until last August, when illness compelled him to retire.

He was born in Chicago in 1874, the son of Robert Knight, who settled here in 1841. While active in the insurance business he earned admittance to the Illinois bar in 1929. During the world war he was a dollar-a-year man for the United States shipping board.

Surviving Mr. Knight are his wife, Helma; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Doyle, and a brother, Robert, who has been deputy city building commissioner for the last twenty-six years. Funeral services will be under auspices of the Covenant lodge, No. 526, A. F. & A. M. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Elba Wandrack, 80 years old, died yesterday in her home, 123 West South street, Woodstock. She was the widow of Charles Wandrack, a former sheriff of McHenry county. Surviving are a son, Joseph, and a daughter, Laura, Woodstock public librarian. Funeral services will be conducted in the residence at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

RITES TOMORROW FOR P. J. BARLOW, A FIREMAN HERO

Funeral services for Lieut. Patrick J. Barlow, retired fire department hero, will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in Holy Cross church, 65th street and Maryland avenue. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Lieut. Barlow, who was 70 years old, and lived at 6419 Ingleside avenue, died Saturday in St. Bernard's hospital after a long illness. He retired from the fire department in 1929 after thirty years' service. His last years were spent as co-captain of the fire boat Joseph Medill. Lieut. Barlow fought in the stockyards fire of 1910 and other conflagrations for which he won three bravery citations. He also was cited for saving a baby from a runaway horse. He is survived by a daughter, Ruth, and a son, Austin. His wife, Katherine, who is dead, was a daughter of George Austin, who helped frame Illinois' present constitution. Lieut. Barlow was a native of County Galway, Ireland.

Lieut. Col. Hubert Hornsby Is Dead at the Age of 79

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. Hubert Hornsby, retired, 79 years old, confidential adviser to Secretary of War Newton D. Baker during the world war and chief inspector of army hospitals, died today of pneumonia. A native of St. Louis, Col. Hornsby was one-time superintendent of Michael Reese hospital in Chicago and the University of Virginia hospital. He was the first appointee to the medical reserve corps, established by President Taft in 1911.

BEDRIDDEN INVALID KILLS SELF.

William Helfers, 46 years old, who had been bedridden for nearly two years, shot and killed himself in his home at 2150 Cullom avenue.

GIRL ARRESTED AFTER POLICE NAB TWO EX-CONVICTS

Two convicts on parole from the state of Washington were seized as bandit suspects by Hudson avenue police last night. The pair confessed four holdups shortly after their arrest, but are suspected of many more. A girl suspect was also arrested.

The prisoners are Melvin Harlan Hanson, 28 years old, and Bert Babler, 32. Both were paroled from the Washington state prison at Walla Walla last Dec. 23 after they had served five years of a five to ten year robbery sentence. Hanson came to Chicago in January. Three weeks ago he wrote to Babler, who was in Monroe, Wis., and invited him to Chicago to join him in robbery, police said.

Hanson and Babler were traced yesterday to a hotel at 2845 Madison street. Detectives Frank Scaglione, Frank Slattery, Rudolph Boedecker, Thaddeus Wnek, and John Currin went there and nabbed Hanson in his room after breaking down the door. Then they waited for Babler and seized him when he appeared a few hours later.

Later the detectives seized Miss Lucille Arlett, 28 years old, 2348 North Clark street. According to Hanson she furnished the revolver which he and Babler used in their holdups. She was to share in their loot for the use of the gun, Hanson charged. Miss Arlett denied this. She asserted Hanson took the revolver from her room without her knowledge. He returned it yesterday. Police confiscated it in her room.

ALUMNI TO SEEK $100,000 FUND FOR DE LA SALLE HIGH

A campaign to raise a $100,000 golden jubilee fund for De La Salle High school will be launched tonight at an alumni dinner in the Morrison hotel.

The school, first Catholic high school for boys on the south side, was founded fifty years ago on May 9, 1889. It started with an enrollment of 100 and now has a student body of 800. One hundred and sixty were in yesterday's graduating class.

The $100,000 fund will be used to meet mortgage obligations and replenish scholarship funds, according to Peter B. Carey, president of the alumni association and past president of the Chicago Board of Trade. Martin H. Kennelly, head of Werner Bros.-Kennelly company and of the Consumers' company, is general chairman of the campaign.

The high school teaching staff is composed of Brothers of the Christian Schools, an order founded in France in 1681 by St. John Baptist de La Salle.

FARMER INCOME FOR 1938 DROPS TO 9.2 BILLIONS

U. S. Crop Subsidies Up to 482 Million.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics estimated today that American farmers had a gross income in 1938 of $9,220,000,000 from farm production and government subsidies.

This compared with $10,350,000,000 estimated for 1937, $5,562,000,000 for 1932—the lowest for what the bureau called the "depression" period—and $12,791,000,000 for 1929.

The 1938 income included $7,538,000,000 cash from farm marketings, $482,000,000 from government benefit payments, and $1,200,000,000 worth of products retained for farm consumption.

The bureau said the greater portion of the decline in gross income from 1937 to 1938 was due to a decrease in receipts from crops, particularly from grains, fruits, vegetables, and cotton. The gross income from all crops declined 18 per cent while that from live stock and live stock products dropped less than 9 per cent.

U. S. Payments Up 31 Per Cent.

Government benefit payments, on the other hand, were 31 per cent larger in 1938.

In two states—Iowa and South Dakota—the gross income was about 5 per cent higher in 1938 than in 1937, due largely to expanded live stock feeding operations. Largest declines were reported for Kansas, California, Texas, Colorado, Maine, and Florida.

The gross income from major commodities for 1937 and 1938, respectively, included:

Corn, $248,914,00 and $291,315,000; wheat, $617,547,000 and $443,554,000; oats, $68,126,000 and $41,608,000; cotton lint, $770,377,000 and $575,741,000; cotton seed, $113,399,000 and $91,494,000; tobacco, $318,305,000 and $294,063,000; potatoes, $235,259,000 and $173,310,000.

Truck crops, $360,204,000 and $318,176,000; citrus fruits, $138,755,000 and $81,349,000; apples, $143,170,000 and $102,756,000; farm gardens, $199,471,000 and $185,489,000; cattle, $1,237,422,000 and $1,165,079,000.

Hogs Yield Less.

Hogs, $1,161,157,000 and $1,072,800,000; sheep, $194,956,000 and $163,055,000; chickens, $380,407,000 and $357,958,000; milk, $1,960,922,000 and $1,778,813,000; wool, $117,270,000 and $71,378,000, and eggs, $651,496,000 and $608,015,000.

The gross income by states for 1937 and 1938, respectively, included:

Illinois, $585,809,000 and $544,162,000; New Jersey, $104,316,000 and $100,242,000; Pennsylvania, $333,770,000 and $305,097,000; Ohio, $421,079,000 and $365,143,000; Indiana, $340,278,000 and $310,462,000; Kentucky, $236,822,000 and $216,838,000.

Michigan, $288,178,000 and $249,684,000; Wisconsin, $368,734,000 and $326,171,000; Minnesota, $412,700,000 and $373,569,000; Iowa, $601,374,000 and $636,448,000; Missouri, $317,620,000 and $288,715,000; North Dakota, $139,046,000 and $116,214,000; South Dakota, $115,533,000 and $123,437,000.

236 Million for Nebraska.

Nebraska, $287,187,000 and $236,573,000; Kansas, $354,097,000 and $271,962,000 Oklahoma, $234,944,000 and $216,348,000; Texas, $714,277,000 and $593,818,000; Montana, $99,363,000 and $87,222,000; Idaho, $110,684,000 and $89,553,000; Wyoming, $53,398,000 and $47,123,000; Colorado, $157,032,000 and $126,967,000; New Mexico, $60,302,000 and $54,482,000; Arizona, $61,371,000 and $60,712,000.

Utah, $51,711,000 and $48,175,000; Nevada, $14,344,000 and $12,253,000; Washington, $179,896,000 and $147,393,000; Oregon, $131,786,000 and $109,239,000; California, $702,166,000 and $540,803,000; Delaware, $21,531,000 and $20,084,000; West Virginia, $71,050,000 and $64,787,000.

Coal Retailers' National Sessions Open Tomorrow

More than 5,000 retail coal dealers from all parts of the United States are expected to arrive in Chicago today for the fifth annual convention of the American Retail Coal association. The convention will open tomorrow at the Hotel Sherman and continue through Thursday. Speakers at tomorrow's sessions will include Marc G. Bluth, secretary of the Stoker Manufacturers' association; Frank Hoke, president of the Holcomb & Hoke Manufacturing company of Indianapolis, and C. T. Burg, salesmanager of the Iron Fireman Manufacturing company of Cleveland.

Steel Demand Is Expected to Remain Quiet

The demand for steel has quickened slightly, the magazine Steel said yesterday, but several factors will prevent consumption during the next thirty days from matching the recent trend of steelmaking. Production rose 4 points last week, to 52 per cent of capacity.

Reasons given by the publication for its forecast of lagging consumption were:

1. Automobile builders will require only small steel tonnages for a number of weeks.

2. Some farm equipment plants have scheduled shutdowns later this month until after July 4.

3. Railroad needs are likely to continue restricted for the near future.

4. Requirements of some other consumers usually moderate seasonally at this period.

Backlogs Support Production.

Steelmaking will receive strong support, however, from mill backlogs of sheets and strips acquired a few weeks ago. Possibility of heavy operations of sheet and strip mills during the next few months is seen in stated intentions of some producers to clear books of their low priced business as soon as possible.

Daily average pig iron production in May was down 19.5 per cent from April, but was 37.2 per cent larger than a year ago. At the end of May 107 blast furnaces were active, against 102 on April 30.

Heavy Steel Markets Favorable.

Recent developments in heavy steel markets are favorable. Structural shapes and concrete reënforcing bars are more active. Railroad equipment markets are enlivened slightly by an inquiry from the Western Maryland for 1,110 freight cars.

Steel scrap is stronger in a number of districts. The magazine's price composite remained unchanged at $14 a ton. The finished steel composite held at $55.70 a ton.

BOND AVERAGE.

Investors' Guide: Recently you sent me a list of the stocks used in compiling the Associated Press daily average. Now can you tell me what bonds are used in the "AP" industrial average? Only ten are used in the industrial group, but I would be very much interested in knowing which particular ones they are. —D. J. L.

Answer: The ten industrial bonds used in the daily Associated Press average are the following:

Beth'hem St'l 4¼s '60 | Penn Dixie 6s '41
Container Corp. 6s '46 | Rem'ton Rand 4½s '56
Houston Oil 5½s '40 | Rev.Cop.&Br. 4½s '56
Illinois Steel 4½s '40 | Safeway Strs. 4s '47
Internat. Paper 5s '47 | United Drugs 5s '53

TEN CENTS A RIDE.

Investors' Guide: Can you tell me something about the Pullman company? I'd like to know how many sleeping cars they operate, how many miles these cars travel, the average amount of money they get from each passenger, and any other statistics you have available along this line. I know of this company's earnings from year to year, but have never seen their operations reduced to statistics for each car and passenger carried. —C. J.

Answer: The average passenger on a Pullman car last year paid out $3.50 for his reservation, rode 532 miles, and the company earned 10 cents on his trip. The average passenger traveled 438 miles a day in one of the 5,124 Pullman cars operated during 1938. Each car carried an average load of 10.10 passengers and it traveled 159,722 miles during the year. The company realized an average profit of 80 cents a car per day.

"HOT AIR" RAILROAD.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate any information you could give me on the Chicago, New York Electric Air Line Railroad company. It was incorporated under the laws of Maine. Stock in this company was purchased by my mother in 1909. She remembered the stock after all these years and now thinks she may get some money from it.—C. E. S.

Answer: Chicago, New York Electric Air Line Railroad company was formed around the turn of the century to construct and operate between Chicago and New York an overhead electric railroad system. Plans of the company called for trains traveling at a speed of 75 miles an hour betwen the two points. The proposition at that time was widely described as a "dream." It was referred to as the "hot air line." A receiver was appointed in 1907 on the application of dissatisfied stockholders. Since then the company has been a dead issue. The stock has no value.

NATION EXPORTS BIGGER SHARE OF ITS 1938 OUTPUT

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—The department of commerce reported today that about 9 per cent of the nation's domestic production of movable goods was exported in 1938, the largest proportion since 1930.

Among the principal factors influencing foreign trade of the United States last year, the report said, were an exportable surplus of farm products, good business conditions in some foreign countries, and armament programs.

"While it is not possible to isolate and to measure the influence of reciprocal trade agreements on the trade apart from that of other economic factors, the trade agreements operated throughout the year as a force tending to foster the foreign trade of the United States," the study added.

Exports from the United States in 1938 were valued at $3,094,000,000, compared with $3,349,000,000 in 1937. General imports were valued at $1,961,000,000 in 1938 and at $3,084,000,000 in 1937.

AMERICAN LARD EXPORTS LARGER THAN YEAR AGO

A sharp increase in American lard exports in the first four months of 1939 was reported yesterday by the Institute of American Meat Packers. It said the gain was mostly a result of larger purchases by Great Britain and South American countries.

Exports of the commodity totaled 93 million pounds, compared with 68 million pounds in the first four months of 1938, the institute said.

The announcement credited the increase to "attractive prices, removal of the 10 per cent duty on American lard imported into the United Kingdom under the British-American trade agreement, and expanding markets in Central and South America."

BUSINESS BITS

D. W. Tomlinson, research pilot and aeronautical engineer, has been appointed chief engineer of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., Paul E. Richter, executive vice president of T. W. A., announced yesterday.

D. W. Tomlinson.

Tomlinson, who will supervise research development and engineering activities of the air line, is widely known in the aviation industry for his experiments in high altitude flying.

The National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning association will open its three day midyear convention at the Stevens hotel today. Heating and air conditioning experts from all parts of the nation will attend.

B. M. Horter has been appointed general sales manager of Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Milwaukee manufacturer of motor control apparatus.

RAINS RELIEVE DROUTH FEARS IN WHEAT BELT

But Need Is Seen for More Moisture.

Heavy rains fell last week over most of the grain producing area of the country, further relieving apprehension of drouth damage to growing crops.

However, despite the downpours, which reached cloudburst proportions in some sections west of the Mississippi river, precipitation during the April-May period was less than normal. Chicago experts say that there is a shortage of subsoil moisture over such a wide area this year that most grain crops will need unusually favorable weather conditions for the remainder of the season.

Official returns from Iowa indicate that the average rainfall from April 1 to May 30 was 4.9 inches, or 2 inches less than the normal amount.

Watch Weather in Northwest.

The interest of wheat traders is rapidly shifting from weather conditions in the southwest to the northwest as a possible clew to the trend of the market. The Dakotas, Minnesota and Montana received sufficient rain recently to prevent deterioration in the crops of small grains, but additional moisture is said to be needed if the current outlook is to be maintained.

Harvesting of the winter wheat crop has made fair progress in parts of Texas and Oklahoma and some cutting has been done in south central Kansas. About 25,000 bushels of new winter wheat was received last week at interior terminal markets in the southwest. The grain showed a high test weight per bushel. Cutting of spring wheat is not expected to get under way in the advanced sections of the belt until early in July.

Range of Grain Prices.

The range of prices last week on the Chicago Board of Trade follows:

New Treasury Notes to Bear Rate of ¾ Pct.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau yesterday announced the offering of five year ¾ per cent treasury notes in exchange for $426,554,600 of 1⅞ per cent treasury notes which will mature next Sept. 15.

The exchange will be made par for par. Accrued interest on the notes exchanged will be paid to June 15. No cash subscriptions will be received.

The new notes, designated series A, 1944, will be dated June 15, 1939, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of ¾ per cent a year, payable semi-annually. They will not be subject to redemption before the 1944 maturity date.

No Other June Financing.

Maturing notes not exchanged for the new offering will be paid in cash on Sept. 15.

The $426,554,600 exchange offering will constitute the only June financing to be undertaken by the treasury, Secretary Morgenthau said when he first announced the issue. The treasury has a $2,200,000,000 working balance. This, with $400,000,000 more expected from income tax payments this month, will meet treasury needs until the next financing date, Sept. 15, Morgenthau indicated.

Other Agencies May Borrow.

He declined to say whether the treasury will need new money in September.

"The United States treasury itself," said Morgenthau, "won't be in the market again before September, but that doesn't mean some of the many other agencies may not want some money between now and then. But as far as the treasury is concerned, we can't use any new money between now and September."

JONES REPORTED SLATED TO HEAD LENDING AGENCY

Vast New U. S. Unit Takes Shape July 1.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was represented in congressional circles today as having made up his mind to appoint Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, as administrator of the new consolidated federal lending agency which will come into existence July 1. The agency will embrace the financial corporations to be grouped under the President's first government reorganization order. Several senators predicted quick senate confirmation of Jones if the nomination is made.

Jesse Jones.

The new agency will bring together under one directing head the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Electric Home and Farm authority, RFC Mortgage company, Disaster Loan corporation, Federal National Mortgage association, Federal Home Loan bank board, Home Owners Loan corporation, Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation, Federal Housing administration, and the Export-Import bank.

As head of this agency Jones thus would have general direction of a proposed program of loans to small businesses, if the Mead bill, now pending in the senate banking committee, were adopted by congress.

As a supplementary proposal Ernest G. Draper of the federal reserve board sketched to the committee last week a plan for changes in the federal reserve regulations to liberally small business loans.

Committee members expect to hear more details of this plan when Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the reserve board testifies tomorrow.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

The Committee of The Chicago Community Trust:

We have made an examination of the statements as to principal of the several funds created, and held by Trustees, for The Chicago Community Trust as of December 31, 1938, and of the statements of income for the year ended that date.

In connection therewith, we examined or tested the accounting records of the various funds and obtained information and explanations from the various Trustees and employes of the Trust, but we did not make a detailed audit of the transactions.

The amounts of securities and cash at December 31, 1938, were evidenced by certifications of the various Trustees. Interest and dividend income of the various funds, as shown by records of the various Trustees, were tested against published statistics, and disbursements for charitable purposes made by the Trustees were found to be in agreement with the Swift disaster overtook two automobile race drivers in the consolation event at the Hammond speedway yesterday. Their machines crashed at the south turn, their wheels locked for an instant, then the cars broke away. Ralph Fons was thrown out of his racer while Cyclone Ross' machine skidded across the track (picture No. 1). As Fons lay prostrate (No. 2) the Ross car turned completely over and came to rest, battered but upright (No. 3), with Ross sprawled across seat.
